

The Globe. HUNTINGDON, PA. Wednesday morning, July 17, 1887. LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Runaway and Accident. On Thursday afternoon last, two young men, well known to our community, named John A. Willoughby and John Maguire, the latter one of the firm of Wharton & Maguire, hardware merchants, of this place, latched up a young horse, belonging to Mr. G. B. Armitage, in a bran new buggy, for the purpose of taking a pleasure ride.

The party were, alas, doomed to a sad disappointment. They had just gone over the river bridge leading to Smithfield when the horse suddenly started off at a frightful speed. He ran into the fence a short distance from Smithfield, broke up the buggy, and upset the gentleman. Maguire was thrown on his side, and his right leg broken above the knee, besides sustaining injuries to his left hip and back.

Affectionate Verse. The Hollidaysburg Register is responsible for the following. Jealous "monsters" shouldn't read it: "At a party in this town recently, two chairs were particularly struck with the same lass. Being chilly, the fair maiden wore a large shawl. While sitting in the back part of the room, with one of the lovers above mentioned on either side, each of her admirers concluded to slip his hand under the shawl, and try what effect squeezing her hand would have. It went for it, and succeeded. "Great day," how happy he was. He squeezed, and he squeezed apparently. He felt glorious all over, and she evidently felt glorious too. After quite a joyful time spent in this way, the lady threw back her shawl, and revealed to a little crowd standing near, our two youths squeezing one another's hands most lovingly. It don't do to say "squeeze" to either of them since.

Mr. B. Frank Sloan, of Henderson township, was kicked in the face by a horse on Thursday evening, July 4th, and had his jaw broken in two places, and also his nose. He had brought the horse from water, to the stable door, when one of them kicked at the other, and Mr. Sloan received the blow, which knocked him down. He was picked up in an insensible state, the blood rapidly oozing from the wounds. Dr. Brumbaugh was sent for, with the assistance of Dr. D. P. Miller, succeeded in relieving the unfortunate man's sufferings.

Mr. William Fentiman, who was badly burnt at the recent fire in his fish again. He still suffers slight pain from the injury to his right hand.

One of those itinerant peddlers, who hold forth in the night time, and supply the bystanders with plenty of gas, was in town on Saturday night last, selling boot-blacking by the box, "one for 15, and two for a quarter."

Mr. David P. Gwin has laid a new brick pavement in front of his store. Mr. Peter C. Swopes has torn away the dilapidated porch in front of his dwelling, and has laid a new pavement. Teos and ankles have been in jeopardy long enough from uneven pavements, and we hope to see all such taken up and replaced by better ones.

Mr. Nelson Ball for a copy of the Carlisle Herald, dated Friday, July 31, 1812. It is a four column folio, and was published by Messrs. Alexander & Phillips, at $2 per annum, the present price of the Globe. It contains a portion of a speech delivered by Mr. Bayard in the United States Senate, upon his motion made on the 16th of June, to postpone the further consideration of the Bill declaring War against Great Britain, to the 31st of October. It contains some interesting views concerning our second war with England, which we may publish when we find room.

The Presbyterian Church was expected to sell on Saturday last. The bids went up to $5500, but no more being offered, the Trustees adjourned the sale, no doubt, till money is plentier. We don't think this will interfere, however, with the determination of the Trustees to erect a larger building. A suitable site is now being sought, and though several have been spoken of, none has been determined on.

The steam flour mill of J. K. McCahan & Son, West Huntingdon, has been put in complete running order. The new stones work smoothly, and the whole working machinery promises to do as good work as can be turned in any other mill in the county.
