Choughts for the Farmer. Rotation of Crops.

The importance of a rotation of crops is indeed a subject of vast moment to the agriculturist. De Dondelle has advanced the theory and has supported it by strong argument, that of the nutriment which all plants receive and digest, they exude an inconsumaable or unnutritive portion by their roots, and that this excrementitious matter unfits or poisons the soil for a second crop of the same kind until it is either consumed or neutralized by cultivation; this very matter, howover, proving nutritious to other or dif ferent kinds of plants.

From this he argues that one crop of grain should not be succeeded by of grain should not be succeeded by in this line of business, embracing of general assortment of the same description, wheat of TOOLS and MATERIALS used by CARPENTERS, BLACKSMITHS, CARRIAGE and WAGON MAKERS after wheat, oats after oats, &c., &c.; | Diners, &c., &c., together with a large stock of nor, reasoning from analogy, ought | Iron, Steel, Nails, Spikes, Railroad and wheat to follows oats, as they are too nearly allied in their natures, and are supposed to feed on the same pabulum both also coveting the same description of soil-that which is cool and rather heavy.

fact that the clover crop often fails when sown for a long succession upon the same soil. Fibrous rooted plants are always best followed by tap root ed ones-plants raised for their tops or grain may be best succeeded by those cultivated for their roots, and the reverse. From attention to these facts arises the incalculably profitable sys tem of "turnip husbandry" in England, by which they are enabled to raise crops of grain of the finest quality in almost if not quite double the quantity, and at the same time carrying forward the improvement of the soil to an almost indefinite extent, to which may be added the means of supporting double the amount of stock by introducing the different varieties of roots. green crops for soiling forming a link in a system by which the farmer is enabled to pay, in rent, tithes and taxes which in almost every other country would be found insupportable.

It is a change of crops we want and not a rest for the land, and I sincerely believe that we should be relieved from one-half the evils which now assail us in the shape of blight, smut, rust, mildew, rot and a dozen others, whose names would then be forgotten- a healthy crop being mostly proofagainst this host of pestilence. And such a crop usually springs from a well cultivated soil, not however made rich by the immediate application of large quantities of rich manure, for valuable as these may be in forcing on green crops to be mown for hay or fodder, I am convinced that they are of injury to the production of all kinds of grain. Nor are these remarks alone applicable to the farm or farm crop, but also quite as applicable to the garden, where a careful attention to the rules of ro- SASIFCORDS, &C., &C. tation will greatly increase the crops both in quantity and quality, as I have | MINING AND MINERS' GOODS. proven in my own case. - Ger. Telegraph.Man. An exchange says that the best gardeners in France are in the habit of cutting off the stem of the tomato plants down to the first cluster of flowers that appear thereupon. This impels the sap into the two buds next below the cluster, which soon push strongly, and produce another cluster of flowers each. When these are visible the branch to which they belong is also topped down to their level; and this done five times successively. By this is means the plants become stout dwraf bushes not over eighteen inches high. In order to prevent them from falling over, sticks or strings are placed horizontally along the rows so as to keep the plants erect. In addition to this all the laterals that have no flowers, and, after topping, all laterals whatsoever, are nipped off. In this way the ripe sap is directed into the fruit, which acquires a beauty, size and excellence unattainable by other means It will be well for our friends to try this simple and rational method the present season.

FACTS IN FRUIT CULTURE .- Dr. Trimble, of Newark, who has paid great attention to fruit culture, gives the following as his views, the result of many years experience:

1. That the most successful way to conquer the curculio is to gather the fruit as it falls and feed it to stock or destroy it, as it is by this fallen fruit FURNISHED AT MANUFACTURERS' that the curcurlio propagates its spe-

2. That the fruit of the apple tree can be protected from the apple tree GLASS, PAINTS, OIL & PUTTY, moth by wrapping around each tree two or three times a rope made of straw. The moths will harbor in this rope and can then be destroyed.

3. That the only way to kill the peach tree borer is to cut him out with a knife, not once only in a season, but to follow him up every two weeks until exterminated. After the first "going over" of an orchard this will be little or no trouble, as each tree can be attended to in two minutes.

Mr. L. Morton informs the Rural American that when his cows trouble him by holding their milk, he reaches his hand up and places the ends of his fingers on the back bone, forward of the hips, and presses down hard for a minute or so, and they will always
