The wits of Persia, to whom nothing is sacred, are telling a good story about the Shah of Persia. It appears that the Shah rather pooh poohed a that the Shah rather pooh poohed a that the Shah rather pooh poohed a that the Shah rather pool poohed a the fact, the San Jose "Mercury" adds:

The wits of Persia, to whom nothing ing to the saddle, dragging her for the distance of half a mile, and horribly mangling her body. After announcing that the same time. (The excessive near is affecting his reason. He must wind up soon.) How singular it is the folked don't keep cool! What is winter for except to allow people to get cool, but with the improvidence of the race they won't keep it. I am like all the rost. no means hearty. When the line was of completed, the Stah was at his palace of Soultanieh. Prince Ali Kouli indicted the first despatch. It was thus:

"The molons are ripe at Kaschan."
