HUNTINGDON, PA.

THE OLD MAID'S WISH.

Oh, woe no wedding wreath for me,

But make good, strong eyes for me.

Conventional joys are all too light;

In these could I take no delight.

An easy chair, a book to read,

And stretched beneath me blue and green.

But set the kettle on for tea.

Let foolish girls delight in beaux,

Mustache and black, and broadcloth clothes.

Bright boots, of patent leather give,

And stretched beneath me blue and green.

One fig Priscilla would not give

For any "faller" that doth live.

Then woe no wedding wreath for me,

But put the kettle on for tea.

Then let the servant girl prepare

A supper good with needle care,

And steep the aromatic leaves

From China brought, (as she believes)

Then shall my laugh with triumph tell,

And when I hear the supper bell,

I'll cry, "No wedding wreath for me,

But come and take a cup of tea."

The Removal of General Sheridan.

Correspondence Between the President and General Grant.

President Johnson to General Grant.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C. August 17, 1867.—Dear Sir:—

Before you issue instructions to carry into effect the enclosed order, I would be pleased to hear any suggestions you may deem necessary respecting the assignment to which the order refers.

Truly yours,
ANDREW JOHNSON.

Gen. U. S. Grant, Secretary of War at interim.

The Order of Removal.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C. August 17, 1867.—Major-General George H. Thomas is hereby assigned to the command of the Fifth Military District, created by the act of Congress passed on the second day of March, 1867.

Major-General P. H. Sheridan is hereby assigned to the command of the Missouri.

Major-General Winfield S. Hancock is hereby assigned to the command of the Department of the Cumberland.

The Secretary of War at interim will give the necessary instructions to carry this order into effect.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

General Grant to President Johnson.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, D. C. Aug.
17, 1867.—His Excellency Andrew Johnson, President of the United States

"Sir:—I am in receipt of your order of this date, directing the assignment of Gen. G. H. Thomas to the command of the Fifth Military District, General Sheridan to the Department of the Missouri, and General Hancock to the Department of the Cumberland; also your note of this date (enclosing those instructions), saying, "Before you issue instructions to carry into effect the enclosed order, I would be pleased to hear any suggestions you may deem necessary respecting the assignments to which the order refers."

I am pleased to avail myself of this invitation to urge, earnestly and urgently in the name of a patriotic people who have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of loyal lives, and thousands of millions of treasure to preserve the integrity and union of this country—that this order be not insisted on. It is unmistakably the expressed wish of the country that General Sheridan should not be removed from his present command. This is a republic where the will of the people is the law of the land.
I beg that their voice may be heard."

General Sheridan has performed his civil duties faithfully and intelligently.
His removal will only be regarded as an effort to defeat the laws of Congress. It will be interpreted by the unreconstructed element in the South as a triumph. It will embolden them to renewed opposition to the will of the loyal masses, believing that they have the Executive with them.

The services of General Thomas in batling for the Union entitle him to some consideration. He has repeatedly entered his protest against being assigned to either of the five military districts, and especially to being assigned to relieve General Sheridan.

General Hancock ought not to be removed from where he is. His department is a complicated one, which will take a new commander some time to become acquainted with. There are military reasons, and, above all, patriotic reasons, why this order should not be insisted on.

I beg to refer to a letter, marked private, which I wrote to the President who first consulted on the subject of the change in the War Department.
It bears upon the subject of this removal, and I had hoped would have prevented it.

I have the honor to be, with great respect, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT, General United States Army, and Secretary of War at interim.

President Johnson to General Grant.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C. August 19, 1867.—General:—I have received your communication of the 17th inst., and thank you for the promptness with which you have submitted your views respecting the assignment directed in my order of that date. When I stated, in my unofficial note of the 17th, that I would be pleased to hear any suggestions you might deem necessary upon the subject, it was not my intention to ask from you a formal report, but rather to invite a verbal statement of any reason affecting the public interest, which, in your opinion, would render the order inexpedient. Inasmuch, however, as you have embodied your suggestions in a written communication, it is proper that I should make some reply.

On earnestly urge that the order be not insisted on, remarking that "it is unmistakably the expressed wish of the country that General Sheridan should not be removed from his present command." While I am cognizant of the efforts that have been made to retain General Sheridan in command of the Fifth Military District, I am not aware that the question has ever been submitted to the people themselves for determination. It certainly would be unjust to the army to assume that, in the opinion of the nation, he alone is capable of commanding the States of Louisiana and Texas, and that, were he for any cause removed, no other general in the military service of the United States would be competent to fill his place. General Thomas, whom I have designated his successor, is well known to the country. Having won high and honorable distinction in the field, he has since in the execution of the responsible duties of a department commander, exhibited great ability, sound discretion, and sterling patriotism. He has not failed, under the most trying circumstances, to enforce the laws, to preserve peace and order, to encourage the restoration of civil obedience, and to promote, as far as possible, a spirit of reconciliation. His administration of the Department of the Cumberland will certainly compare most favorably with that of General Sheridan in the Fifth Military District.
There are no reasons to be advanced in his favor, and no reasons to be advanced against him, which would en-tagonize him to the position of the General Sheridan's management. He has rendered himself exceedingly obnoxious by the manner in which he has exercised even the powers conferred by Congress, and still more so by a resort to authority not granted by law nor necessary to his faithful and efficient execution. His rule has, in fact, been one of absolute tyranny, without reference to the principles of our Government or the nature of our free institutions. The state of affairs which has resulted from the course he has pursued has seriously interfered with a harmonious, satisfactory and speedy execution of the acts of Congress, and is alone sufficient to justify a change in his removal, and still more so by a resort to authority not granted by law
nor necessary to his faithful and efficient execution. His rule has, in fact,
