during pleasure at less than one-half the expense of any other method.

The solution is perfectly free from objection on the score of health. Professor Bache, under date "U.S. Narval Laboratory, New York, September 14, 1864," says: "By direction of the Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, I have examined your Preserving Solution, and ments and fruits preserved by it. I have a high opinion of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of its value, and believe it can be perfectly free from objection on the score of healthfulness."

Other certificates from distinguished chemists, confirming the above, can be seen and had where the solution is sold. It is claimed:

1. That Spear's Solution preserves the flavor of all kinds of native fruits more perfectly and durably than can be done in any other way, and at much less trouble and expense;

2. That the use of the Solution ronders it unnecessary to use air tight or expensive jars or caus, and also avoids the inconvenience of hermetically scaling and keeping from the air, heat, light, etc.;

3. That the use of the Solution admits of the keeping of the fruit in vessels of any size, even in kegs or barrels if desirable;

4. That the use of the Solution allows the slitpment of idesirable;

4. That the use of the Solution allows the shipment of the fruit by salt or fresh water, in the hottest weather, without danger of loss or injury;
5. That it is invaluable in the preserving of Tomato, Peach, Pear, Apple, Quince and other Sauces, Wines and Cider; also for all kinds of Spiced Fruits; that these alone recommend it to every family, and to use it none will guarantee their approval.

ANTONY WITH CLEOPATRA. "I am dying, Egypt, dying."-SHAKSPEARE.

BY ORN. W. H. LYTLE. CHEAP, HEALTHFUL AND EFFECTUAL.

This Solution, when properly used, effectually provents fermentation or decay of Fruits, and, by the most simple and inexpensive process, every variety may be kept in a fresh and perfectly wholsome condition the year round. It is no new and uncertain experiment, but has been in practical use for the past eight years, yet has been, for the nost park, kept from the public for the purpose of ascertaining the result of a series of experiments, all of which have proved the validity of all that is now confidently claimed for it.

Fruits preserred by this Solution are as good as the best "canned" fruits, while the use of the solution avoids the trouble of sealing, costly fare or caus, keeping from the air and light, frequent examinations, and the many other troubles and annoyances well known to every housewife.

Fresh native fruits the year round have become almost a household necessity, both on account of their healthfulness and as a luxury; and by the use of this solution this great luxury is within the reach of every family, rich or poor, in the land, as all kinds of fruit may be preserved during pleasure at less than one-half the expense of any other method.

I am dying, Egypt, dying—
Ebbs the crimson life-tide fast,
And the dark Pituonian shadows
Gather on the evening blast,
Let thine arm, old Queen, support me,
Hush thy sobs and bow thine ear;
Hearkon to the great heart-secrets
Thou, and thou alone, must hear.

Though thy scarred and veteran legions
Bear their eagles high no more,
And my wrecked and sinttered galleys
Strew dark Action's fatal shore;
Though no glittering guards surround me
Prompt to do their master's will,
I must porish like a Roman—
Die the great Triumvir still.

Let not Casar's servile minions
Mock the iten thus laid low;
'Twas no foeman's hand that slow him,
'Twas his own that struck the blow.
Here, then, pillowed on thy bosom,
Ere his star fades quite away,
llim, who drunk with thy caresses,
Medis Junea words over. Madly flung a world away!

Should the base plebeian rabble
Dare assail my fame at Rome,
Where the noble spouse, Octavia,
Weeps within her widowed home—
Seek her—any the gods have toid mo,
Altars, augurs, circling wings,
That her blood, with mine commingled;
Yet shall mount the threne of kings.

And for thee, star-eyed Egyptian,
Glorious sorceress of the Nile,
Light the path to Stygian borrors
With the splenders of thy smile,
Give the Consar crowns and arches;
Let his brow the laurel twine;
I can scorn the Sonate's triumpls,
Triumphing in love like thine.

I am dying Egypt, dying! Hark! the insulting feein I am uping eggpl, uping l
Hark! the menting teeman's cry;
They are coming—quick! my falchion!
Let me frout them ere I die.
Ah! no more amid the battle
Shall my heart exulting swell;
Isla and Usils gand thee—
Cleopatral Kome! farewell!

BEAUTIES OF SHADOWS .- The shadows all day long play at silent games of beauty. Every thing is double, if it stands in light. The tree sees an unrevealed and muffled self lying darkly along the ground. The slender stems of flowers, golden rods, ways de asters, meadow daisies, and rare lilies, (rare and yet abundant in every nice, level meadow.) cast forth a dim and tremuthese spring from Apollo's golden bow of light at every step. Flying in every direction, they cross, interlacing each other in a soft net-work of dim lines. Meanwhile, the clouds drop shadowlike anchors, that reach the ground, but will not hold; every browsing crea-

Somebody-a crusty bachelor,

A stranger in London, and in fact throughout England, will be struck by the absence of anything in the shape of barbershops. There are some what like the grains of wheat; and the gelatinous matter seemed to be connected to each one as a separate covering. They were apparently separate cells, very uniform in size, being 1-120 and he cannot live unless he has the constant action of the sea npon him, so that he stops at the height of high thick, filled with glanular particles thick, filled with glanular particles. They call the gelatinous envelope and their appearance gave them at first somewhat pearance gave them at first somewhat.

in one of the churches of Philadelphia last Sunday evening. An old lady, whose failing eyes demanded an unusually large prayer book, started for church a little early. Stopping on the way to call on a friend, she laid her prayer book on the centre table.— When the bells began to chime she anatched what she supposed to be herprayer book and started for church.— Her seat was in the chancel end of the gallery. The organ ceased playing.— The minister read, "The Lord is in his holy Temple, let all the earth keep silence before him." In the effort to open her supposed prayer book, she started the spring of the music box, which she had taken instead, It began to play—in her consternation she put it on the floor. It would not stop -she put it on the seat, it sounded louder than ever. Finally she carried it out, while it played the "Washing Day," an Irish jig tune,

Rev. Mr. —, of Lawrence, Mass, is a bachelor. Noticing, early in the season, that one of his members, a married lady, was not at meeting for several Sabbaths, he called to ask the reason. As her reply was seme-MORAL BACKBONE. - Without a stiff what evasive, he surmised that she had moral backbone a sound condition of "nothing to wear," and said "you are, the mental organization is impossible.
