A man named Wash. Issett was placed in the Hollidaysburg jail on the charge of committing a rape on Mrs. Lovina W. of Allegheny township.

Some of our exchanges come to us full of tales of negroes, eagles, roosters, canons, &c. A friend wonders whether they will supply the place of the child's picture book.

It is said that chignons, commonly known as waterfalls, were worn by the ladies over one hundred years ago. Adorable misses, just think of this, and imagine how your grandmothers must have looked.

We notice that several of our contemporaries express not a little sarcasm and disgust with county fairs, just what they charge ten cents a line for a local notice, when they can afford to devote half a column to cancelled for abuse.

We heard a Republican allege last week, that the cause of their defeat was in the fact that there was a heavy crop of buckwheat, which had to be taken in on election day. This excuse, (which is better than none), gave a Democratic cause to hope that about fifty members, wearing the badge usual on such occasions. On the arrival of the train at Newton Hamilton large crowds of people were waiting to participate in the funeral services.

The funeral of Dr. Charles Bower, whose death we announced last Saturday, took place on Sunday. The remains of the deceased, accompanied by his family and several personal friends, left here for Newton Hamilton at half past seven o'clock in the morning, in a car set apart for that special purpose. At Lewistown and McVeytown large delegations of Free Masons, of which order the deceased had long been a member, joined the funeral party.

The two lodges comprised about fifty members, wearing the badge usual on such occasions. On the arrival of the train at Newton Hamilton large crowds of people were waiting to participate in the funeral services. A procession was formed and proceeded to the Presbyterian church, where the religious exercises took place. In the absence of the pastor of the congregation, Rev. Mr. Hartsock, of Mount Union officiated, and preached a discourse appropriate to the occasion. At the close of these solemn exercises the remains of the deceased were exposed to public view, and fully two thousand people passed through the church to take a last look at the features of one whom they had long esteemed for his social virtues and honored for his professional skill. The burial services were then proceeded with according to the usages of the Masonic fraternity. The ceremonies were very solemn and impressive, and the thousands of spectators present seemed to be deeply affected. The family of the deceased, with the escort from this city, returned home at nine o'clock on Sunday evening.

Dr. Bower, during his residence in this city, gained very many warm personal friends, and established a reputation for skill in his profession which brought him an extensive practice. He was a kind hearted and liberal man, in whom the poor always found a friend, ready to give them medical attendance without charge for his services. The family of the deceased have the sympathies of the entire community in the affliction which has deprived them of a kind and indulgent husband and father.—Patriot & Union.

Good Roads.
With the sparsely settled country in some sections, and in the absence of regularly laid out roads, it is hardly to be supposed that the labor necessary to improve good roads can be bestowed upon them; but in older and more thickly settled sections of the country, where roads are regularly laid out, there is no possible excuse for the terrible condition the roads are often found in. There is nothing that strikes a stranger more unpleasantly than the bad roads to be met with, and it is often the one cause that makes him seek other localities where roads are better. The loss of time spent in getting out of the mire, the breaking of vehicles and harness, the often irreparable injury to the noble horses, all of which, together, would go far to build good roads in every neighborhood, besides the increased comfort that would be imparted in a trip over the country.

Port Wine.
There have been, at times, articles introduced to the public under the name of Port wine, strongly recommended for medicinal purposes, which are calculated to do more harm than good, having little else than the name to recommend them. Such, however, is not the case with the Port Grape Wine, advertised by Mr. A. Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey. We have seen the vineyard, and the wine in process of manufacture, and know it to be the pure juice of the grape.
We have also been through his cellars, which never contain less than sixty thousand gallons, and seen casks upon casks maturing. Mr. Speer does not bottle or sell any under four years of age.—Patriot & Union.

The above can be had of our druggists.
It is not true that Johnston and Watson have closed up their cheap Store at the head of Hill street, and gone up salt river. We paid a visit to their establishment yesterday, and found their store room literally jammed with new goods, of all kinds, and of the very best quality, with prices greatly reduced. Major Johnston knows how to buy cheap and sell at a living profit upon what he sells.

Death of John Moore, Esq.
We regret to announce the death of Mr. John Moore, who occurred at his residence, on Washington street, yesterday. Mr. Moore was a well known and esteemed citizen of Titusville, especially to the old residents. He was a native of Huntingdon county in this State, and passed his life mostly in Newark, Ohio, and in Pittsburgh, in the practice of the medical profession. In the summer of 1857, Dr. Moore removed to this place and married a member of the Titus family, a sister of Mrs. Joseph L. Chase, since which time Mr. Moore has occupied himself with the charge of a large property, enhanced in value by the sudden growth of this place and the oil excitement. Soon after, Mr. Moore removed with his family to Pittsburgh, and subsequently to Philadelphia. About a month since he returned to this place, intending to make his future home, and purchased a residence, with that view. His health had been failing for a year past, and ever since his return he has been confined to his house. His disease, the quick consumption, could not be arrested, and he sank rapidly, until he expired. Dr. Moore leaves a wife, two daughters and one son. The latter is in the United States Navy and at present in China. Mr. Moore lost two sons in the late war. Mr. Moore was a kind hearted gentleman of superior intelligence and probity of character. Mr. Moore was a member of Masonic fraternity, being connected with a Lodge and a Chapter in Newark, Ohio, and his remains will be conveyed to Huntingdon, in this State, under the auspices of that Order. Religious services will be held at his late residence (at precisely half past ten o'clock this (Friday) morning.—From the Titusville (Crawford co.) Herald, Oct. 18.

The remains of Bro. M. arrived here on Saturday night, and on Sunday afternoon they were interred in the Cemetery grounds with Masonic honors by the brethren of this place. The deceased was much respected in this place, which fact was attested by the large concourse of citizens who attended his funeral at their last resting place.

At the regular meeting of the Standing Stone Lodge, No. 85, I. O. of G. T., held Oct. 8th, 1887, a committee of three was appointed to report resolutions expressive of the sentiment of the Lodge, relative to the death of Joseph Gibson. The following were reported and adopted:
WHEREAS, In the disposition of his late wife Providence he has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our beloved brother Joseph Gibson, in the bloom of youth, thus reminding us that we too are passing away; therefore,
Resolved, That we the members of Standing Stone Lodge, No. 85, I. O. of G. T., bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doth all things well, being assured that our loss is our brother's eternal gain.
Also, That the relatives of the deceased have our unfeigned sympathy in the hour of their deep and heartrending affliction, and that we will invoke the sustaining Grace of God in their behalf, in this hour of their sad bereavement.
Also, That the regalia and room of the Lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days.
Also, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and that they be published in the Huntingdon and Bedford papers.
