FOR PRESIDENT, U.S. GRANT. FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

À. G. CURTIN. The Legislature is working on the general appropriation bill, innumerable local bills, politics generally, etc.; etc. A final adjournment will take place about the close of the month. The free railroad bill has not yet pass-

THE very-general opinion with Rethrough the ballot-box. If convicted he would be incapable of ever holding office again.

nsa_Don't expect too much. Two attempts to impeach Andrew Johnson failed. The third has been successful with the auestion. But it is for the Senate to convict and throw the President out of his high office. The Senate may convict him, and it may not. Senators are jurymen and are not permitted to tell tales out of school.

Large meetings of Democrats and Conservatives have been held in Philadelphia and New York, at which resolutions were passed affirming the right of the President to remove a Cabinet officer, and denouncing impeachment as scandalous, wrongful and unconstitutional, at the same time counselling the hope to trust to free discussion and the ballot box for redress in the event of the removal of the President.

Enough States have already instructed for Grant to give him, the no-

In spite of the frantic efforts of party zealots to lash the public mind into a frenzy of passion, the people remain calm and unmoved under the impeachment of the President. There is no great degree of excitement, still less of passion or alarm, in the public mind. Even the stock market, usually most sensitive to all startling movements, is unaffected by the action of Congress, The people in all quarters and of all classes take the whole thing quietly. -New. #### Political Items.

-It is said, that all the delegates rom Philadelphia, with but one exception, are for Grant and Curtin.

-It is suggested that Andrew John son may conclude to resign his office in order to escape the disabilities imposed ntends to be a candidate for the Copperhead nomination for the Presidency it will be necessary for him to resign, ecause impeachment disqualifies the culprit from ever holding office again.

-The Iowa State Democratic Conention for the appointment of delegates to the National Convention met at Des Moines on Thursday last. It vas the largest ever held in the State. A resolution was adopted that George H. Pendleton is the first choice of the Democracy of Iowa, for President, and instructing delegates to vote as a unit.

-The Committee of Arrangements in Philadelphia have secured Concert publicans at Washington is, that Pres- Hall, on Chestnut street, above Twelfth, ident Johnson will be tried soon, and for the use of the Union Republican convicted. If the President can see in | State Convention on the 11th of March, standing a trial, conviction certain, he and the Academy of Music, on Broad may resign and appeal to the people street, for the ratification meeting on the evening of the 12th.

-Nothing affects business so injuriously as uncertainty. Ever since the contest between the President and Congress bogan commercial affairs have been unsettled, speculation has so far as the House has anything to do been mere gambling, mercantile vontures of all sorts have been rife with double the usual risks, and as a natural consequence failures have been frequent, and confidence been weakened.

-The National Republican, published in Washington, says: "Men who intond to obey the Constitution and laws themselves do not usually talk about what they will do in furnishing men and money to put down other people, until some overt act has been committed which distinctly violates the Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof."

-Three-fourths of the delegates of the State to the Republican Convention, are for Curtin for Vice President; county instructed for Curtin. Also Dolaware county has instructed for Curtin.

-Centre county instructs for Grant and Curtin.

-Berks and Green counties also declare for Grant and Curtin.

-The best legal minds in the Repubican party concede that a strict construction of the constitutional provisions for the impeachment of the President will not authorize his suspension pending the trial. A difference of opinion exists regarding his power to communicate with Congress after he has
