You talk of the mines of Australia, They're wealth in gold, without doubt,
But ah! there is gold on the farm, boys,
If only you'll shovel it out.
The mercantile life is a hazard,
The goods are first high, and then low,
Better risk the old farm a while longer,

Don't be in a hurry to go. The great busy West has inducements, And so has the busiest mart, But wealth is not made in a day, boys, Don't be in a hurry to start! The bankers and brokers are wealthy,

They take in their thousands or so,
Ah! think of the cares and the troubles,
Don't be in a hurry to go!

The farm is the eafest and surest,
The orchards are loaded to-day,
You're free as the air of the mountains,
And monarch of all you survey.
Better stay on the farm a while longer,
Though profits should come rather slow,
Remember, you've nothing to risk, boys. emember, you've nothing to risk, boys.

Don't be in a hurry to go!

Strawberry Farms. No fruit has given higher and more uniform profits, all things considered, than the strawberry. A greater return has occasionally been received by the sale of Delaware and other fine grapes; but a large outlay has been required in these instances to place the vineyard ander way. Our readers are well acquainted with the success of John Knox, of Pittsburg, and with the fact that should not be forgotten, that his suc-cess is largely owing to the excellent and thorough culture which he gives his plantations; and to the care, system, and elaborate skill used in pick ing, assorting, and packing his fruit for market. We observed a few days since, in looking over a Pittsburgh pa per containing a list of revenue taxpayers, that his revenue was marked for over $12,000 last year (1865). This is doing well for a plantation of 50 acres. In a recent conversation with him on the subject, he stated that $8,000 of this sum were raised from the sale of strawberries alone, and that but for the unusual and severe frost early in the season he would undoubtedly have received $15,000 for them. We have not known an instance where a strawberry plantation has been subjected to good management, including clean cultivation, and the prompt excision of runners, that has not afforded a handsome profit. Proximity to a good market is always desirable; but, so tempting and delicious are the best-grown strawberries, that they will manufacture a market in almost any amine a number of instances the past year, where strawberries of the best varieties have been raised by the man-agement just alluded to; and in these cases the sales have amounted to about $1,000 an acre. The cost of land, culture, superintendence, and marketing were variously from $250 to $500 per acre, leaving a net profit of $500 to $750. This net roturn may doubtless be relied on in all such cases for some years to come, it the business is mana ged with the best experience and skill and city markets are selected. The inquiry may occur, "Why do not imany rush into the business, and overdo it?" The answer is, "Many actually do enter it; but so rare is the appreciation of the best management that severally one in a bundled given place. We have had occasion to ex-that scarcely one in a hundred gives his plantation the attention it should receive, and as a consequence his receipts are moderate or less in amount.' Country Gentleman. To GROW FINE QUINCES .- Quinces a little attention. We have grown samples the first season weighing pound each, perfectly smooth and Quince trees can stand about eight feet asunder each way, thus giving four to the square rod, or six hundred and forty to the acre. The fruit com mands good prices, and probably an acre of ground could not be more profitably planted with any thing else. Quince trees need ground culture Not by digging or plowing about them, but by mulching with chips, spreading on a coat of stable manure each fall and by applications of liquid manure especially urine. There should be a few quince trees near the house, to receive the urine and other slops, which will not do an equal amount of good to any other product. This treatment will ensure such fruit as will bless both the eye and the palate.

A NEW KIND OF WELL, -A 'new method of putting down a well which readily suggests itself to every man for cleanliness and durability, has recently been tried with success. The well is readily suggests itself to every man for cleanliness and durability, has recently been tried with success. The well is dug ordinarily until sufficient water is reached, then a reservoir of loose stone and water-lime mortar, about four feet.

The well consists of large tile, commonly used for sewers, put down within six inches of the bottom, and the earth filled in; this leaves plenty of room for the pump, and the top wants closing up carefully. This kind of well-never needs cleaning because, if properly made, no dirt can ever get into it. The cost is considerably less than that of the ordinary well, and it can be put down a great deal

LIQUID GLUE The following re-ceipt, the discovery of a French chemist, is selling about the country as a socret, for various prices, from one to five dollars. It is a handy and valuable composition, as it does not gelatinize nor undergo putrefaction and fermentation and become offensive, and is always ready for use:
In a wide-mouthed bottle dissolve eight ounces of best glue in half a pint of water, by setting it in a vessel of water and heating it till dissolved. Then add slowly, constantly stirring, two and a half ounces of strong aqua-fortis (nitric acid.) Keep it well corked, and it will be ready for use.

TO THE LADIES .- Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Joff Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of tha Prince of Rebels, the Davil. Can you err in following the example of Augels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebelacts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscri-bers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire.
