BESIDE THE STILE. We both walked slowly o'er the yellow grass Beneath the sunset sky;
And then he climbed the stile I did not pass, And there we said good-by. He paused one moment—I leaned on the stile,
And faced the hazy lane;
But neither of us spoke until we beth
Just said good by again.

And I went homeward to our quaint old farm, And he went on his way ; And he has never crossed that field again, From that time to this day. I wonder if he ever gives a thought As I start sometimes, dreaming that I hear A footstep in the wind.

If he had said but one regretful word, Or I had shed a tear, He would not go alone about the world, Nor I sit lonely here. Alas! our hearts were full of angry pild And love was choked in strife;

And so the stile, beyond the yellow grass Stands straight across our life.
