HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, May 20, 1868.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } Editors.

OUR CANDIDATES: FOR PRESIDENT, U. S. GRANT. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, A. G. CURTIN.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL, GEN. JOHN F. HARTMAN. FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL, GEN. JACOB M. CAMPBELL.

There was a stirring time in the Methodist General Conference at Chicago, over the resolutions denouncing the President, on Wednesday last.

There was a stirring time in the Methodist General Conference at Chicago, over the resolutions denouncing the President, on Wednesday last.

Chief Justice Chase was called upon in Washington by a Committee of the Citizens Conservative Association of Pennsylvania, who tendered him the nomination of President of the United States.

THE CONVENTION.—The Republican National Convention meets in Chicago on Wednesday, to-day, the 20th. Grant will be nominated for President, but who the successful candidate for the Vice Presidency will be, it is impossible just now to guess.

The "organ" editors don't want us to be recognized as members of the Grant and Curtin party. This is cool impudence on their part, especially as facts show that we coaxed them into the support of Grant, and whipped them into the support of Curtin.

In another column we give Saturday's proceedings of the High Court of Impeachment. On the 11th Article, proposed by Mr. Stevens, the President was declared "Not Guilty."

Our neighbors of the Journal & American went fishing last week without bait. They nominated Mr. Merrill and Mr. Scott for Congress.

THE VERDICT.

"NOT GUILTY."

Washington, May 16, 1868. At 12 m. the Chief Justice assumed the Chair, and called the court to order.

The following is the vote on the adoption of an order to take the vote on the eleventh article first: Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Cameron, Catiel, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbett, Cragin, Drake, Edwards, Ferry, Freligh, Fry, Harlan, Howard, Howe, Morgan, Morrill, (Mo.) Morrill, (Vt.) Morton, Nye, Patterson, (N. H.) Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Wade, Williams, Wilson, and Yates.

Yeas—Messrs. Bayard, Buckalew, Davis, Dixon, Donliffe, Fessenden, Fowler, Henderson, Hendricks, Johnson, McCree, Norton, Patterson, (Tenn.) Ross, Sausbury, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers, and Willey—19.

Senator Johnson inquired whether the order of Senator Williams was debatable. The Chief Justice replied that it was not. Senator Johnson said that he would like to make a motion on it.

Senator Wade voted for the first time, and voted in the affirmative. Senator Grimes was not then present. The question was then taken on adopting the order, and it was carried by the same vote—yeas 34, nays 19.

Senator Anthony responded Guilty, and so the vote went on until all the Senators had responded, the vote standing 35 to 19, as follows: VOTING GUILTY.

Some of the leading New York Democrats are giving out the Democratic platform to be presented at their National Convention on the 4th of July. According to their story, the planks are these: The first is a declaration against human slavery; the second, a declaration that the Confederate debt is void; third, that the National debt is to be paid exactly as prescribed by law; fourth, for qualified manhood suffrage, to be controlled by the States.

General Grant's Opinions. New York, May 13.—Among the letters read before the Anti-Slavery Society this morning was one from C. B. Moss, dated Washington, May 13, which says: "General Grant is working hard with his friends to secure conviction. He says Johnson's acquittal will result in the defeat of the Union."

THE ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

"NOT GUILTY."

Much has been said about the separate articles of impeachment presented, and in order to avoid our readers' curiosity of their import we reproduce them to-day, so that whenever the result of the vote is known they can at once refer to them. The following is a synopsis of the articles: Article I declares that the President issued an order for the removal of Stanton from the office of Secretary of War, the Senate then being in session, intending thereby to violate the Tenure of Office act.

Article II charges that the President, then being no vacancy in the War Office, authorized General Thomas, in writing, to act as Secretary ad interim, the Senate then being in session, and with intent to violate the Tenure act and the Constitution.

Article III is like the second, except that it alleges that the President appointed the Secretary of War with intent to violate the Tenure act and the Constitution.

Article IV alleges that the President conspired with Thomas and other officers to violate the property in the War Department, by acting as Secretary of War, thereby violating the conspiracy act of July, 1861, and the Constitution.

Article V charges that the President conspired with Thomas and others to prevent the execution of the Tenure act, and that in pursuance of this conspiracy, he and they attempted to hinder Stanton, by unlawful means, from acting as Secretary of War.

Article VI alleges that the conspirators intended by force to get possession of the War Office, by the aid of the department, contrary to the Conspiracy act of July, 1861, and with the purpose of thus violating the Tenure act.

Article VII is very much like Article VI, merely adding that the conspiracy to get possession of the property in the War Office was formed with intent to violate the Tenure act, omitting all allegations as to the act of July, 1861.

Article VIII declares that the appointment of Thomas was made with intent to violate the Tenure act, and that in pursuance of this intent, he and they attempted to hinder Stanton, by unlawful means, from acting as Secretary of War.
