FROM WASHINGTON.

The Political Situation. Washington, June 27 .- The South the omnibus reconstruction bill says: orn delegates to the Democratic Na-"He does not doem it necessary to on- arrive in large numbers. Most of them tor into a discussion of the results of desire to spend a few days here in this bill, as it contains the same princi- conference with the leading Demorenateton it is said, if his chances kansas bill. His objections to that fail for nomination, will throw his influence in favor of Hancock. Alas, poor Chase. force." The message was very brief, and occupied about three minutes in not committed for any candidates named in connection with the Presidency.

A majority of them are fully alive to the importance of securing at least a portion of the negro vote, and with in Congress. Whereas the people of North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama and Florida to representation ing towards Chase. They assert that he is he only man thus far named in whom the negroes have any care have the control of the control o ist, and that he was among those who passed Bircol 2, 1801, and the acts go a great way towards controlling supplemental thereto, framed constitutions of State government, which are their votes.

The delegates say that the negroes pi as evidence that they cannot be got to vote the Republican ticket solidly whom they have confidence. Beyond securing the negro, the Southern deleif a real old-fashioned Democrat is to be nominated, they prefer Pendleton, though they are convinced that with him for their candidate the Democraoy would be badly beaten in the South, owing to the preponderance of the ne-will, like the delegates to the Chicago Convention, from the same section, be too ready to sell to whatever candidate has the most money. This idea however is indignantly repudiated by the delegates from the South, now here They say that the Republican delegates from the South were not genuine Southerners, but were "carpet-baggers," and this accounts for their purchasable character.

Counting the Electoral Vote. WASHINGTON, June 27 .- The Senate tled and admitted to representation on Judiciary Committee, at its meeting this further fundamental condition: to day, discussed the Edmunds bill That the first and third sub-divisions for the counting of the electoral vote of section 17 of the fifth article of the after the next Presidential election. It Constitution of said State except the provides that the States not represent-provise to the first sub-division, shall ed in Congress shall not be allowed to be null and void, and that the General send electors to the Electoral College, Assembly of said State, by solemn public act, shall declare the assent of the tial election. The chairman of the Committee was authorized to report favorably upon the bill as it stands.

The Tariff Bill. The Ways and Means Committee considered the propriety of taking action on the tariff bill prepared by the sub committee. No conclusion was reached, and the subject was postponed until for the Legislature to assemble at the period fixed, such Legislature shall convene at the end of twenty days that there is little prospect of anythat there is little prospect of anything being done with the Tariff at this session.

The Louisiana Delegation. A delegation of Louisiana mon were before the Reconstruction Committee to-day, asking that the recent election in the city of New Orleans be set aside, on the ground of the frauds who carried the election. Their argu ment was heard, but no action was taken. The Committee are considering the bill relieving the political disabilitios from a number of parties in the robel States.

Stevens' Bill to Divide Texas. There seems to be a majority of the Committee against Thad Stevens' bill to divide the State of Texas.
