Frem The New York Evening Post. Mr. Pendleton supports Mr. Sey-Mr. Pendleton supports Mr. Seymour, he says, because he is in favor of taxing the bonds and against paying them; the World supports Mr. Seymour because, as it holds, he is in favor of paying, but not taxing them.— Vance of North Carolina, Wise of Vir. face a mutiny, was to coddle the muting and Teember of Georgia support ginia, and Toombs of Georgia, support tincers, and promise them that they Mr. Seymour, as a friend of the late should have what they wanted. hand, is engaged in an attempt to would be most injured by Mr. Soy-prove that no one was more vehement-mour's election to the Presidency, but

For ourse without Mr. Soymour's timely and on-ergetic measures of help, Lee would have beaten Meade at Gettysburg; system should be, so long as all men without Mr. Soymour's timely and enthat Mr. Seymour, in fact, did a great deal, and with extraordinary vigor, to put down the Rebellion.

to put down the Robellion.

We do not mean now to dispute lieved that, these things granted, all with the World on this question, though it might very justly be said that if what Mr. Seymour did injured the cause of Davis, what he said, and the manner in which he acted and spoke of the interval of the pursuit of happiness. But all that im- do that is to vote for Grant, be made the test of merit, the Republi-

There is no doubt that these people believed that Mr. Soymour, if elected, would effectively serve their purpose, which was so to ombarrass the Government as to compel it to withdraw the Union armies, and give the victory to the robel leaders. There is no doubt either that the violent speessionists were disappointed in Mr. Seymour's administration-and for the very good reason that Mr. Seymour is a man who talks, but does not act. They expected that with him in power a Albany the great State of New York would be placed in direct opposition to the General Government, and that the example of New York under Sey-mour would have a disorganizing effect in other States. So, too, in the Southern States, the election of Mr. Sey-mour caused great rejoining; the rebel newspapers encouraged their leaders to hope for "great events" in New York, favorable to the fortunes of the Confederacy; the rebel leaders plucked up fresh courage, and urged their them of the hopeful election of Sey-

To a certain extent Mr. Seymour as Governor, justified the hopes of the secessionists, North and South. He appointed such men as John A. Green and Walter S. Church, notorious sympathizers with the Rebellion, to important commands in the State militia and thus, as everybody remembers, spread alarm and uncasiness among the friends of the Union cause, and made the hearts of the secessionists beat high with hope. Moreover, his language caused a very general belief that he was opposed to and would re-sist the conscription, which had then become necessary. His whole atti-tude was one of hostility; for months he was regarded as an element of danger, both by the authorities at Washington and by the supportors of the Union everywhere; and, on the other hand, the enemies of the Union, the friends of the Rebellion, and the rebels themselves, were filled with joyous ex-pectation of what he would probably

But it is Mr. Seymour's way to sit down between two stools; to try to please both sides; to talk loudly and act mildly. When the crisis came—

| GROCERIES, CONFECTIONERS, CLAZIER & BRO., act mildly. When the crisis camewhen poor Lee marched into Pennsylvania on that foolish campaign in which he vainly looked for a rising in his favor-Governor Seymour so far disappointed the expectations of his friends, that thoy openly cursed him for "going back on them," as they phrased it. If Governor Soymour had seen the authorities at Washington flinch, he might have been encouraged to carry out the policy of opposition to the war. But finding the Government firm, he wisely succumbed. In fact, he may, perhaps, be called the victim of two circumstances, named Stanton and Dix.
But we do not think his record in the war, in itself, of surpassing importanco, or even of great consequence .-We have discussed it chiefly to show what manner of man Mr. Seymour is; a man of an unsteady purpose; a man who would keep the country in tur-moil and alarm, if he should become President; who would keep alive the hopes of factionists, as Mr. Johnson has done, by his words, and by his less important acts; and who would yet, in all probability-unless he were subject to the influence of the more reckless Blair-disappoint the factionists, just as Mr. Johuson has disappointed them.

Now we believe that no greater harm could befall the country than to have, during the next four years, a President of this temper and spirit .-What the country needs is peace, quiet, certainty, rest from political excite ment-or rather from political suspense. This it can have only under a President of agreeable temper, of a firm will, and of a simple, but assured policy: "Let us have peace," wrote Grant; and that is the best and the
