We Have Peace?

[From the New York Times.]

General Grant in closing his letter of acceptance, with the words, "let us its existence, and intent only upon have peace," incisively hit the very making the work complete. heart of the party controversies. The great essential controlling issue in this the election of Soymour and the result Presidential canvass is nothing else of the election of Grant is clearly disthan the choice between continued sec- corned and keenly taken to heart by tional strife and a permanent recon- the Union mon of the South. Joshus ciliation. That issue is so plain that Hill, the newly elected Union Senator our opponents themselves do not try in Georgia, who did most heroic battle to hide it. All their dealing with it, against the Cobbs and Toombses of his thus far, from the beginning, has only State before the Rebellion, and held bean to make it the more conspicuous. firmly to the old flag through all the With a fatal facility they are drawn to varying fortunes of the struggle-this it in spite of thomselves. They made clearest sighted and truest of Southern haste to put it in the boldest relief in men, in his speech at Atlanta respontheir platform, by that resolution which sive to his election, in the most emdeclared void, and of no effect, all that phatic way enforced upon his loya has been hitherto done for reconstruction, thus remitting everything to the Grant and Colfax, as the only means civil chaos in which the war left us. of saving the country from continued They returned to it in the nomination strife. From the beginning of the canof General Blair to the second place on vass all the Union leaders throughout their ticket immediately after his issue the South, in their public addresses of the most incendiary and revolution-ary letter every syllable of which is an invo-dominant issue of this Presidential eleccation of the Rebel spirit, and an insti-gation to renewed violence. The Reb-this matter ought to have a peculiar el allies of the party in the South have weight with all fair Northern minds been equally quick to recognize the actual alternative. Wade Hampton, ed by the sharpest tests, and with a still hot from the atmosphere of the they have had the best of all possible Convention, assured the people of Charleston in a public speech that the southern vote must be east without of the national enomies around them. regard to the Reconstruction laws; Nothing is wanting, nothing Northand that if that vote shall elect the ern or Southern, nothing loyal or Reb Democratic candidates they "shall be ol, nothing in the way of internal evi installed in power in spite of all the dence or of positive testimony of de bayonets that shall be brought against duction, confession, inference, or palthem;" and he proclaims his own readingss to enter the fight again, in these words, "Should South Carolina call her sons together to defend her altars, settled in any honest mind, so is all else if life and volition are left to me, none will respond more cheerfully and promptly than myself." And in like spirit Howell Cobb, at the Democratic ratification meeting in Atlanta, "challenges combat." "Enemies they were in war, enemies they continue to be in peace. In war we drow the sword and bade them defiance. In peace, we gather up the manhood of the South, and raising the banner of constitution al equality, and gathering around it the good men of the North as well as the South, we hurl into their teeth today the same defiance, and bid them come on to the struggle. We are ready for it if you are. Young men, in whose veins the red blood of youth runs so quickly, come! Come one and all, and let us snatch the old banner from the dust and give it again to the breeze and, if need be, to the god of battles, and strike one more honest blow for constitutional liberty." This is just the revolutionary rhetoric that has been employed everywhere throughout the South by editors and by stump speakers, in hailing and helping forward the Democratic nominations. The same identical means are used now to "fire the Southern heart" as were ised in 1860. The incendiary work too, is done by the same old bands at the business, with the exception of Yancy, who has been taken to his final

And it all tends to the same terrible result-reckless insubordination and bloody resistance. Though, for want | of the sinews of war, this may not, at present, take the shape of another reg. ular rebellion, yet the whole Southern atmosphere will again become impreg-nated, as it used to be, with a fixed spirit of disloyalty which will need but self into a sweeping revolution. We have already learned in our national experience that the work at low prices as any shop in the county. consequence. We have already learned in our national experience that the very suspense of such a revolutionary element in the air is an immeasurable evil. It is a standing menace, which destroys all that security which civil government is, first of all, designed to establish. It invests everything with uncertainty, making anything like safe calculation impossible in any affairs, public or private. The great crime of the Democratic party before the rebollion was its long course of demoralizing the Southern mind, year in and year out, to such a degree that at last rebellion was made possible, and it is questionable whether the rebellion it. a heavier curso than the lingering agony of doubt and apprehension which thereafter. If we have not conquered such a peace, the war will go into history as the worst of failures. It will turn out that all the incalculable blood and treasure, which it cost were worse than wasted. In the last Presidential canvass the Democratic party declared the prosecution of the war a "failure." and boldly presented that issue to the not the war shall be turned into a failure. On the other occasion the patriotism of the country roused itself, and inflicted upon the party the most stunning defeat ever known in our political history. There is the same call for just as signal an overthrow now. The course of peaceful constitutional govornment will be just as effectually pro-moted by sustaining General Grant as it was by sustaining him when at the head of his armies then. Wade Hampton and all his Rebel allies will be just as much discomfited in the one case as they were in the other.

There is one hope, and only one, for the real pacification of the country; and that hope is in such an administration as General Grant promises usan administration which shall unite fidelity to the Constitution and laws, with a spirit of justice and good will to all—an administration which shall with a spirit of justice and good will to all—an administration which shall be inspired by a calm spirit and moderate counsels, which will follow with cautious but with constantly advancing the progress of the Southern stops the progress of the Southern numerous tomention, mind—which by kindness and fairness AT LEWIS' FAM

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES .- Do you really intond to case wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff, Davis, was captured in Fashlonable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because to lay assue their pure chasto robes or white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformitles of that Princo of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels?
