It is strange to see with what carelessness some invalids attend to their health. They will procure a box of Plantation Ritters, which ought to be used up in a month or ters, which ought to be used up in a month or six weeks, and upon inquiry it is found that they have used only two or three bottles. Some days they have used it according to the directions, and others have not touched it. The whole trial has been irregular, and of course a less favorable result has come from their use.
