A Modern Infernal Machine.

An instrument of warfare has recontly been invented by an American prove more destructive than any weap | before the treaty was made. It is on heretofore known. The apparatus hardly necessary to add that the conconsists of a row of twelve guns of 0.76 | vention has no chances of being ratibore and about forty inches long, fied. mounted on a carriage six feet wide, to be hauled by one horse. The barrels are divergent, so that at three hundred yards distant the twelve bullets sweep a line of about thirty feet and are fixed at equal distances from each other, except in the middle where there is a space of ten inches, into which is placed a telescope, and an arrangement for adjusting the guns in taking aim. This contrivance, it is asserted, enables the operator to send a built through the buil's eye, at sixteen hundred yards into times out of ten. The tubes, or barrels are loaded at the breech, and are connected by a rod attached to a crank, one turn of which opens and shuts all the breech pieces and loads the gun. They are made ready for firing by another turn of the crank. The bullet, it is stated, can be fired a distance of two thousand yards with accuracy. At a recent trial, forty-seven out of the sixty shots fired are reported to have struck a target four feet high at the distance of fifteen hundred vards. The invention weighs five hundred pounds, and is intended to be hauled by one borse and worked by two men, one to drive and the other to operate. The loading of the appa ratus is so arranged that it can be detached in a moment; when the other part of the machine becomes perfectly uscless. The cost of the entire instrument, with the horse, is reported to be $1,000. The mitrailleuse, or grape shot showerer, the deadly weapon which has attracted so much attention in France from Louis Napoleon, appears o resemble the above American invention.
