Swayed in the silence to and fro. Day after day, with longing eye, The floweret watched the narrow sky, And fleecy clouds that floated by. And through the darkness, night by night A gleaming star would climb the height And cheer the lonely floweret's sight. Thus, watching in the heavens afar, The rising of its favorite star, A change came to the simple flower.

And softly o'er its petals white There crept a blueness, like the light Of skies upon a Summer night; Then, in its chalice, as I'm told. The bonnie bell was found to hold A tiny star that gleamed like gold; And blue bells of the Scottish land Mourning -The New York Sunday Times thus unswers a correspondent who inquires if white has ever been adopted any where as a mourning color: Every nation has its own habits and customs on the subject, and some of them are droll enough to our ideas of propriety. At the present day, the Arabian weinen on the occasion of a death stain their hands and feet with indigo, which they suffer to remain eight days. They also carefully abstain from milk during this time, on ceased to assemble on the fourth day after the funeral, and picture to thomvery little in the present; but all his knew that Hood could not eat off the Paris, but to reason, for her fashions; will not aim to follow a foolish fashion to the barren and devastated country. So he sent this word to Sherman:—'You have my permission to destroy Atlanta and march to the sea after you de-tach Schofield and to go to Tennessee. Hood will not follow you; he will march upon Nashville.' Now see! Had Sherman carried off his whole force scaward, mistaking the effect of his movement upon Hood, Nashville

> H. Thomas before the battle of Nash-"No. We considered him more than ville. Thomas has a dislike of being strangers freely. This relicence of cision has come. Grant sent word to Grant, so much made of, is partly discrimination and partly the form of an attack Hood. Thomas was not ready, old bashfulnees he had when a boy - and he went on deliberately with his

Grant's Inauguration. The inauguration will be held on the east front of the Capitol, in the imme morial place. It will be I think, a solid sort of inauguration, with less procession and fanfaronade than has been expected. Fellow citizons," said it stump orator, "we have the best country in the world, and the best government. No people on the face of the globe onthat. Time presses?
