

Meetings. The North Lodge, No. 200, A. F. M., meets second Monday evening of each month, in Brown's building...

The Valentine business is brisk hereaway. A man named Funk was arrested at Altoona for robbing a store at Blair Furnace.

The Episcopalians of Bellefonte intend building a church to cost $30,000. The State Temperance convention will be held at Harrisburg next Monday.

Hollidaysburg is the only town about this latitude that enjoyed cold weather this month. We want a local correspondent from every part of the county.

The "combination" has succeeded in fighting up a brick business at Enterprise Headquarters. Jacob Hoffman has sold his bakery at Mt. Union to Messrs. Lupfer & Co., of Perry Co., for $17,500.

The owners of Mt. Union Furnace intend building dwellings in that place for the use of their employees. A 300,500 freight car passed Millin in the year 1898, of which 240,487 were loaded and 150,013 empty.

The audiences of Johnstown, we think, are more given to stamping with their feet than to stamp-giving. The Harrisburg Gift Enterprises are becoming known far and near.

The merchant who does a general credit business, to save himself some of his good customers pay what the loss with his bad ones. A fire broke out in the Catholic Church of Lewistown recently, but was soon extinguished.

Our Lewistown and other exchanges are full of public-sale advertisements. The store of Patterson & Weight, at Yellow Springs, Blair county, was burned on Tuesday morning, the 9th inst. Insurance $6,000.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE. LETTER FROM DUPLY.

DUDLEY, PA., Feb. 9, 1899. Messrs. Editors:—This is a very interesting town, on the H. & B. T. Railroad, and a great deal of business is transacted in it for its size, wealth and population.

Another fire occurred at Altoona last week which destroyed the Vindicator printing office and a grocery store. Caused, as usual, by an incendiary. If Huntingdon has a fire more than once a week, we have a night-watch on every square. Has Altoona any?

The work of widening the Pennsylvania canal, we understand, has commenced. If Huntingdon is made the head of steamboat navigation, we can confidently anticipate it will be, then Huntingdon will be to Pennsylvania what Albany is to New York; and as Huntingdon is more central than Harrisburg there is no reason why it shouldn't be the Capital of the Commonwealth.

We have received a copy of the Owingville (Ky.) Inquirer, published by S. K. Bangs and W. H. Bobbit, the latter of whom not many years ago was an apprentice in this office. They get up an spicy paper, and are very tastefully and neatly printed.

The Romance of Cavalry Life; or, Kipling's great raid to Richmond to release our Prisoners. The tragic and comic phases of army life. A lecture by Rev. Edward P. Roo, will be delivered in the Court House, Huntingdon, on Thursday evening, February 18, 1899, for the benefit of The Grand Army of the Republic.

Opinions of the lecture by those who have heard it—"Your lecture of Kipling's raid abounds in vivid pictures of military life, some most thrilling, and some very amusing, and give the blood and color which are generally, I must say always wanting to all the histories of the war which I have seen. I hope some day to see it in print."

Late U. S. Minister to France and former Editor of N. Y. Evening Sun. "As I took part in the expedition described in Rev. E. P. Roo's lecture, I am familiar with the facts mentioned in his narrative, and can recommend it as an accurate and faithful description." Late Maj. Gen. U. S. V. Tickets, fifty cents.

Services at the McConnelltowns. A young man named M. J. Houck, having entered Samuel Rupert's Grocery Store, in McConnelltown, Saturday evening, 13th inst., a quarrel arose between him and David Rupert, a brother of the proprietor. Rupert says that he went there with the intention of beating or killing Rupert, and knocked Rupert down, and Rupert having a knife in his hand with which he had been whittling, used it in his defense and cut Houck seriously in several places.
