

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA. Wednesday morning, April 21, 1869.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, Editors.

FOR GOVERNOR, Hon. DAN'L J. MORRELL, OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

Hon. D. J. Morrell.

We this week present to the Republicans of Pennsylvania, Hon. Daniel J. Morrell, of Cambria county, as our choice for the next Governor, subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention, which meets in Philadelphia, on the twenty-third day of June next.

1st. We are tired of men who do not understand what the people of the State want.

2d. Mr. Morrell is a business man. 3d. We want a business man in the Executive chair.

4th. Mr. Morrell is one of the largest manufacturers in the State, and is intimately acquainted with the wants of business men.

5th. He is a strong tariff man. 6th. He has shown, by his course in Congress, that he is eminently fit for the position.

7th. He means business all the time, and has the ability to inaugurate measures calculated to benefit the laborer as well as the manufacturer.

8th. He is a statesman without being a politician in the general acceptance of the term.

Summer's Speech.

We have hastily looked over the great and exhaustive speech of Senator Sumner, delivered in Executive session against the ratification of the Johnson-Clarendon treaty for the settlement of claims, known as the Alabama claims treaty, and only regret that it is too lengthy for a place in our columns.

It is a masterpiece as well as a convincing argument against the treaty, and elicited the congratulations of Senators, regardless of party.

But one Senator (McCroery of Kentucky) had the foolhardiness to vote for the ratification. The Washington Chronicle, in an article reviewing the speech, relates an incident which "added to the dignity and gave a poetic tinge to the proceeding."

The large crowd of office-seekers, who have been lounging around Washington since the day of inauguration, have nearly all disappeared.

Twenty-one States have already ratified the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution.

The Last of the Twitchell Oases.

Last week Mrs. Twitchell published a batch of confessions, semi-confessions, letters, notes, entreaties, exhortations, statements, and so on, purporting to be the production of the brain of the murderer and suicide Twitchell, and written to her.
