W. M. C. A. The rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association of this borough are now on the second floor of Mr. S. Smith's new building on the Main street.

The Silver Cornet Band was out in full force last Saturday evening, and entertained the citizens with some soul-stirring music.

The editor of the Cambria Freeman says he hasn't the heart to publish the list of receipts for the previous week, as they are no more. What a pity.

The dead body of a man named Thomas Boyle was found in the gutter of the street lately. He had been missing from home for nearly two weeks.

We would like to know where our exchange got the information that "scarlet fever is raging in Huntingdon." We know nothing of it, and neither do our doctors.

The Masons and Odd Fellows of Huntingdon have bought a lot in that borough and intend erecting a three-story brick for halls and store-rooms.

A man named W. L. Valentine was dragged from his horse and robbed of $450 in money within a mile of McConnellsburg, Fulton county, on the night of the 16th inst.

A Connecticut paper publishes a singular obituary of Meritt Stenford, who died at Bethany. It says, "He was as honest a man as ever lived, and had won no hat for forty years."

The Kishaqueen Valley Railroad Company have succeeded in procuring $300,000 of stock, on the commencement of which it is understood the Freedom Iron and Steel Company will complete the work to Belleville, in Midway county.

Our young friend J. L. Westbrook has taken charge of the Europa Ice Cream Garden on Church street, and it is now open to the public. Ice Cream and other refreshments constantly on hand, and for sale by the saucer or in larger quantities.

There are a number of worthless and vicious dogs in our town that had better be destroyed. We hope our butcher fathers will enforce a dog-law that will oblige owners to muzzle their currs, and save the limbs and lives of our citizens.

The room of a temperance hotel in Williamsburg, Blair county, in which liquor had been sold for over seventy years, is now occupied by a lady who is teaching a class of young ladies the art of painting. Painted noses, edify.

A temperance journal wants to know why it shouldn't become just as fashionable to ask a man into a shoe store to take a pair of shoes as it is to invite a man into a bar-room to take a drink. The change would undoubtedly be for the better.

The dead body of an infant was found in a trunk at the residence of Charles Smith, in Miller township, Perry county. The jury rendered a verdict that the death of the child was caused by want of proper care in the absence of an accoucheur or mid-wife—through the ignorance of the mother.

The best April fool joke we have heard of was the going to a store to order a pair of shoes. As they held their glasses, said Bill to Joe, "Let April fool our stomachs by both turning away." "All right," replies Joe, and both drank away without drinking. The bar-tender fainted away.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Broad Top, April 20, 1869. Dear Globe—

It is the feelings of the deepest sorrow that we have to record the sudden death of Rev. James H. Orison, which occurred at the residence of his wife, on the 15th inst., after an illness of less than forty-eight hours. Mr. Orison was born in Huntingdon, Pa., March the 22d, 1820. He was a graduate of Jefferson College, Pa., studied Theology at Princeton Seminary, New Jersey—was ordained as a Missionary under the care of the Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church. He was twice married—his first wife was Miss Agnes Campbell Kay, a native of Scotland whom he married in India, and who died only a few months after their union. In the year 1859 he returned to this country, where he was married a second time, to Miss Nannie Harris of Bellefonte, Pa., and with her, returned immediately to his field of labor in India. More than ten years after this, he returned with his wife and four children, to the work of the Gospel Ministry by the Board of Missions, which occurred at the residence of his wife on the 15th inst., after an illness of less than forty-eight hours.
