Incendiarism Arrested.

On Wednesday evening last news reached this place that the incendiaries who had caused the recent destructive fires in Altoona had been arrested.

Several young men here are arrested by H. E. Thayer, Supt. Pinkerton's National Detective Agency, Philadelphia, charged with the incendiarism which has afflicted our city.

A rumor was about last week that a mad dog was in town. Their day will surely come, and we must prepare for their speedy exit.

Every man should study the interest of his own town before he does that, through a hope of self-aggrandizement, which will interest another locality.

Six men were arrested last week for stealing a number of articles from the Broad Top Railroad Company, and from private individuals.

Decidedly cool—for a man who is not a subscriber to the local paper, to ask the editor to insert a quarter column obituary as a favor.

Something for Everybody.

An exchange says: When little children keep out of trouble and big children keep out of wickedness, and horses don't run away, and everything is quiet, editors experience considerable difficulty in finding enough material to make up an interesting column.

How is it with our readers? Did you, kind sir, or you, madam, who have read this local column week after week, ever do anything to help sustain it?

Did you ever have anything stolen? Did you ever kill anybody? Did anybody ever kill you? Were you ever drowned?

Did you ever die a shocking accidental death? Did you ever elope with anybody? Were you ever a terrible instance of youthful depravity?

Did your house ever burn up? We fear many readers of this paper will be obliged to answer all these questions in the negative.

THE LAST OF THE CLEARFIELD BANK ROBBERIES.—The St. Louis Republican of June 5 gives the following particulars of the arrest of Jeddie E. Lamoine, one of the accomplices in the Clearfield county Bank robbery.

On May 12 the First National bank of Clearfield, Penna., was entered and robbed of about $20,000. The bank was broken into during the night, the door of the safe was ripped open and the money taken out.

One of them being the notorious safe-blower, known as Jack Nelson, alias "California Jack." The third man named Jeddie E. Lamoine, made his escape, and arrived in this city on Tuesday last.

He offered no resistance. The prisoner was delivered over to Mr. Moore, who accompanied by officer Tracy, left last evening for Clearfield, Pa., where the robbery was committed.

Lamoine was arrested some time since on suspicion of having been connected with the safe robbery of the Franklin county, Mo., treasury of some $100,000, but was released.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—The subject of town enterprise should be dear to every citizen, for without a proper appreciation of this subject, what town would be worthy the name it bears?

We believe that there are just such men in our town, who would do all they could to build up a spirit of enterprise, and set the ball in motion that would roll us into greater notoriety; but they can't just see how to do it.
