FOR GOVERNOR: JOHN W. GEARY.

FOR JUDGE SUPREME COURT: HENRY W. WILLIAMS.

No PAPER NEXT WEEK.—According to the usual custom among the craft, during holidays, no paper will be issued from this office next week.

Gen. John W. Geary Renominated. We place at our mast head the ticket nominated by the Union Republican State Convention which met in Philadelphia last week—a synopsis of the proceedings of which we give in to-day's Globe.

The Government have got hold of the leaders of an extensive gang of counterfeiters, whose ramifications extend through New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Indiana.

The Legislature of Massachusetts has just adjourned after a session of one hundred and seventy days—the longest on record, and five days longer than the session of last year.

Virginia will ratify her new Constitution, and elect Representatives in Congress, with State officers and a Legislature, on Monday next; when the President will immediately invite Mississippi and Texas to do likewise in September or October.

On ascending the platform he made the following address: Gentlemen of the Convention, you meet now to perform another important duty, not only to this party and country, but to the great Republic of the world.

On the 12th inst., stated that his situation was extremely precarious. A couple of weeks ago a wren built her nest in the draw-head of one of the cars in the morning passenger train east from Reading to Allentown.

Mr. Borio resigned the Secretaryship of the Navy on Friday last, and Hon. G. M. Robeson, of Camden, New Jersey, was immediately appointed in his place.

Wonderful Exhibit.—The N. Y. Tribune of last Saturday, contains seventy-six (or thirty-eight double) columns of figures, embracing seventeen thousand nine hundred and nineteen names of citizens of New York city and county, paying tax on incomes which range from $1. up to $3,019,218, for the year 1868.

Now that our State ticket is in the field, we urge upon Republicans the necessity of organizing at once for the campaign. We will have a hard struggle in this contest, and it is our duty to organize thoroughly before the demoralized ranks of the opposition are closed up.

Union Republican State Convention. The delegates to the Union Republican National Convention met at Concord Hall at half-past ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, and were called to order by Hon. G. M. Robeson, Chairman of the Executive Committee.

The hall was divided near the center with a railing. The delegates occupied chairs within the railing, and spectators were seated in the center aisle. Mr. Geary, in calling the delegates to order, said: Gentlemen of the Convention!—Before it is devoted upon me the duty incident to the position assigned me, I allow me one word of congratulation on the auspices under which we meet.

One year ago the people of this country were entering one of the most vital political contests of their history. It was to be the last, the closing scene of the bloody drama of eight years, in which great principles were to be settled forever in the institutions of our country.

and principles, is entitled to the gratitude of the Republican party. Speeches eulogistic of Mr. Geary were made by Messrs. R. M. Evans, Cessna, O'Gheron and others. The resolution was unanimously adopted with cheers.

Mr. Geary in a brief address thanked the convention for the compliment paid him. The Committee on Permanent Organization reported, Messrs. James L. Graham, of Allegheny county, permanent chairman. The report was unanimously adopted.

The Committee on Credentials then reported. The Convention proceeded to make general nominations for Governor. General John W. Geary, of Cumberland county; General Henry White, of Dauphin county; General Geo. M. Meade, of Philadelphia; Hon. Thos. M. Marshall, of Allegheny county; General James S. Negley, of Allegheny county; General Harry White, of Indiana county; Hon. Geo. B. Lawrence, of Washington county.

A motion being made to make the nomination of General Geary unanimous was opposed by Mr. Lauman, of Berks county. The motion of Messrs. Marshall, Negley, Lawrence and White were withdrawn, and the convention proceeded to ballot, with the following result: General John W. Geary, 122; General Geo. M. Meade, 4; General Henry White, 1.

General Geary, having received a majority of the votes cast, was declared the nominee of the Convention for Governor. A motion to make the nomination unanimous was opposed by Mr. Lauman. A vote was taken with but little dissenting voice—Mr. Lauman. Subsequently the nomination was made unanimous amid the wildest enthusiasm.

Judge Henry W. Williams, of Allegheny county, was named for Judge of the Supreme Court. The nominations were closed. Judge Williams was then declared the nominee of the Convention for Judge of the Supreme Court by acclamation. Another scene of cheering followed, and the Convention proceeded to appoint a committee of five to wait on Governor Geary at the Continental, and inform him of his nomination, and a few minutes later reported to the hall, escorted by the committee. He was received with great cheering.

On ascending the platform he made the following address: Gentlemen of the Convention, you meet now to perform another important duty, not only to this party and country, but to the great Republic of the world.

In bearing the banner you have this day carried to me, I pledge you that it shall be carried at the head of the Republican column—its movements shall always be directed to the sound of the banner, and when the conflict is over, I confidently predict the banner will be placed, as it was in 1866, in triumph upon the dome of the Capitol, without spot or blemish on its stripes, and each and every star as bright as when its first effulgence beamed on the country, and Pennsylvania will still be as true as when she signed "the sacred covenant that binds the States together in the bonds of an everlasting Union."

Should the people again place me upon my best exertions to promote everywhere the peace, honor and welfare of my native State, and secure all the blessing that a good government can bestow upon a free people. And it shall be my pleasure to aid the Chief Magistrate of the nation in his laudable efforts to "let us have peace," and if necessary should require it, I will aid him to preserve our national rights and national honor at all hazards and at every sacrifice. It shall be my equal pleasure to extend to all citizens I may possess to aid in procuring adequate protection for every branch of our domestic industry and productions, and to see that exact justice shall be done to the mechanic and laborer as well as to the capitalist, and, as far as possible, to make them feel that their true interests are one and inseparable.

As a candidate, it shall be my constant aim to extend, strengthen and confirm the unity and good feeling of the Republican party, and in this work I sincerely trust to receive the aid of every true Republican. For my own part I will not recognize divisions or factions in the party, but will from this time forth, look upon it only as united, harmonious, patriotic and enthusiastic in the development and execution of the great principles and measures of progress for which it was organized. I have no enemies in whose punishment I can take delight, and whatever has been said or done in the excitement of the movements preliminary to this Convention that was wrong and painful to me, is, frankly forgiven, and, as far as possible, obliterated from my memory.

The Republican party has a proud record in the past, and a glorious future before it. It is to-day more good in a shorter space of time than any other organization that ever existed, and we have reason to rejoice that it still lives and moves and has a being. Among its achievements is the abolition of slavery, and the sound to humanity and opprobrium of the nation lies dead amidst its worshippers. The rights and privileges of all men are secured in their lives, their homes, their labor and their persons. All men have equal rights and equal protection before the law, because they are men, without reference to race or color.

In the language of Abraham Lincoln, it "cares for him who has borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan, and seeks to activate and establish a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations." Each individual is animated with love for the Union and for universal liberty. Never was a Republican found guilty of firing upon the flag of his country and shooting down its brave defenders. The party has sacredly received the payment of the entire debt incurred to save the life of the nation. In a word, it has defeated the nation's enemies, saved the Union, and placed a torch of peace and freedom in the hands of the people.

Friends of the four hundred thousand and heroes who died for the country, and for a glorious republic, how can you surrender your government to the hands of those who would have destroyed it within the last six years if they could? The Union is the ark of our safety. The Republican party has proven itself the true friend of the Union. Sustain the Republican party by victory and you will thereby sustain the Union, and suffer not unrepentant rebels and their sympathizers ever to touch the hallowed sanctuaries of either State or National Government. This is the only way to preserve the former "in virtue, liberty and independence;" and to protect, defend and perpetuate the latter, let us here pledge "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

A fortnight ago, while a Mrs. Rodgers, of Phelps county, Missouri, was in the garden, with an infant four months old seated on her knee, she was attacked by a dog, which came to its assistance and fought valiantly in its defence.

gates from each county as the last committee, and they shall be appointed by the Senatorial and Representative districts, except Allegheny, which shall have eight members. The resolutions were adopted as a whole, and an adjournment was ordered. HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS, the Republican candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, is a native of Connecticut, and is about forty-seven years of age. He was educated at Yale College, which, when he had achieved distinction in the legal profession, conferred upon him the degree of "Doctor of Laws." After leaving college he removed to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where he became a student of law in the office of the late Chief Justice Lowrie. He was admitted to the bar in 1848, and became the partner of Judge Lowrie. The latter was subsequently appointed a Judge of the District Court of Allegheny county by the Governor, and in 1851 was elected Chief Justice of the State. At the same time his former pupil was elected to fill the position formerly occupied by him.

In 1861 Judge Williams was re-elected an Associate Law Judge of the District Court of Allegheny county, without any organized opposition. Previous to going upon the bench, he achieved an excellent reputation as a practitioner, and since his elevation to judicial positions he has more than maintained it. In June, 1867, he was nominated by the Republican State Convention at Williamsport for Associate Judge of the Supreme Court, and the fitness of the nomination was everywhere recognized. He was defeated, however, by Judge Sharswood, in the following October. In the latter part of 1868, Judge Strong having resigned his position on the bench of the Supreme Court, Judge Williams was appointed to fill the vacancy until January 1, 1870.

As a lawyer Judge Williams is methodical and accurate; as a Judge, fearless and upright, possessing the highest faculty of discerning at once the justice of a cause, notwithstanding the difficulties and quibbles which by it may be obscured. Since he has been on the bench of the Supreme Court he has fully proved his eminent fitness for the position, and in nominating him the Convention has given the Republican party a candidate that is in every way worthy of its support.

Although Judge Williams is modest and retiring in disposition, he is extremely sociable in his relations with the members of the bar; and he enjoys a large popularity, where he is known, with people of all classes and all shades of political complexion. He is still in the prime of life, his physical strength, health, and his capability of sustaining the severest mental labor for many years to come.

Raphael Semmes writes of Texas with rhetoric and sentimentality wonderful, as follows: "Glorious Texas! what if thou art a little too much given to the bowie knife and revolver, and what if grass widows are somewhat frequent in some of thy localities, thou art all right at heart. Liberty burns with a pure flame on thy prairies, and the day will come when thou wilt be free. When I first knew thee thou wast a Mexican province. You then became an independent State, and in ten short hours were engaged in accepting the fatal embrace of the Yankees. Bide thy time! Thou art rapidly filling up with population. Thou wilt soon become an empire in thyself, and the day is not far distant when you will in earnest again strive for freedom!"
