The man you have just married has imposed upon you, I am his wife." "Oh, impossible—you rave!" and ger Trains will arrive and depart as follows: the lady sank into a chair almost faint. Of course the bridesmaids screamed. Such a succession of shricks one has rarely heard. It speedily brought the family to the door with terror-stricken faces, and with them the bridegroom, all asking with trembling lips—
"What in the world is the matter?" "Oh! Edward," cried the bride, "this person says she is your wife."
"My wife!" shouted the astonished busband; "why she's insane." The strange lady stood up calm and "Is it possible, sir, that having perpetrated this great wickedness, you will have the hardihood to deny that petrated this great wickedness, you will have the hardihood to deny that I am your lawfully wedded wife?" she asked, looking the sorely troubled Ed-"Why, confound you, woman, I never saw you before in my life!" exclaimed the astonished man.

"Oh, Edward, I'm afraid it's true! and I loved you so!" sobbed the young wife, "how could you have treated me "I tell you I haven't got any wife but you; this woman is an imposter." The strange lady uttered a low, mocking laugh. The scene was getting interesting to the last degree. The ladies were all crying, and the father of the bride looking stern and indignant. He had been for some time intently regarding ie strange lady, when the strange lady, when suddenly his eye lighted up, and an amused smile played on his lips. He took a step forward and laying his hand on the shoulder of the stranger, said:

"Come, John, this is very cleverly played, but it's time it was over," and following the impulse of his arm, the stranger was pushed into the hall.

TIFTY YEARS AGO.

In what a wondrens ago we live,
Not many seem to know;
But fow the mighty change perfoire,
Since fifty years ago;
Our ancestors did never dream,
When things moved very slow,
Of what we're doing now by steam—
Say fifty years ago.
Gentlemen's and floys Boots and Shoes then
Were made with little show,

Probably never before in the whole history o medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniforn character and power to cure the various affection of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a veliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for Incipient consumption, and the dan milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Group, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them. Although settled Consumption is thought increase, seemed sottled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear. Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchittis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses. So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.
