HUNTINGDON, PA.

AGRICULTURAL REVIEW.

The weather during the past week has been extremely favorable for field labor and such crops as are now in the ground. The great bulk of the oats crop in this region was cut during the week and much of it is housed. A fall of rain on cut oats does very little injury otherwise than to the straw, provided the shower is short lived and succeeded by a good drying atmosphere. Continuously wet weather, however, would soon destroy the grain as well as the straw. So far as our observation and researches have extended we are inclined to the opinion that the oat crop of this season, as regards both grain and straw, is better than it has been for several years past.

The weather since seeding time has been admirably adapted to the habit of the oat plant, which seems to thrive best in a cool and humid atmosphere. A bushel of the grain grown in a climate suitable to the utmost development of the plant frequently weighs over fifty pounds—such a climate as that of Nova Scotia, for instance, and also that of Prince Edward island, where most magnificent oats are raised, in weight almost rivalling Indian corn. The standard weight of oats throughout the United States is thirty two pounds to the bushel, which is somewhat too high, taken as a whole. It is only in favorable seasons that this weight is reached, and then only in part. In ordinary seasons twenty-five or thirty pounds is all that what are called good oats would weigh, while the great bulk of the crop would not average much over twenty.

The crop of early potatoes is much the best we have had for many years. It is immense. Potatoes have been bringing such exorbitant prices of late years as to induce farmers to turn their attention entirely in the direction of their culture as a source of profit and to devote a greater breadth of ground to that esculent than formerly. Under the influence of a propitious season and extended cultivation the result is seen in the enormous product of the country, which is so greatly beyond the consumptive demand that prices have fallen far below what is supposed to be a remunerative point when the high price paid for seed last spring is taken into consideration.—Those who paid two or three dollars a pound for fancy sorts, no better than those in ordinary cultivation, will, very likely, be extremely disgusted when they find at the end of the season that they have realized a loss.—The greater part of the late crop promises well, the stalks presenting a vigorous and healthy appearance. In some places the potatoes may have the rot, but the yield of the sound ones will be so bounteous this autumn as to compensate the growers in part for the low prices which must inevitably rule throughout the winter months.

Most of the buckwheat sown during last month is well above ground, and looks about as it usually does when it first appears. It is a plant of rapid growth, and its welfare depends very much upon the atmospheric contingencies. A full yield requires favorable weather throughout the whole period of its short existence. It can withstand neither extreme heat nor early frosts, both extremes being alike dangerous—the one withering the blossom, the other preventing the maturity of the grain.

The crops in Northern Illinois are good. The farmers count on twenty bushels wheat to the acre. The scab is in lightly, but not so as to occasion much alarm. As to corn fully three-quarters of it looks fair. The poor corn is in hollows and wet land. Oats are tremendous.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The black knot on plum trees can be cured by dipping a paint brush in spirits of turpentine and thoroughly saturating the knot.

A writer in the Horticulturist supplies the place of bean poles by using apple brush, which affords a shade to the vine and is a protection against high winds.

The peach is predisposed to a straggling growth, and the strength of the tree is often needlessly dissipated by its great height. The nearer to the root of the tree the main branches are made to grow the better.

A GOOD NIGHT KISS.—Always send your child to bed happy. Whatever cares may trouble your mind, give the dear child a good-night kiss as it goes to its pillow. The memory of this, in the stormy years which may be in store for the little one, will be Bethlehem's star to the bewildered shepperd and swelling up in the heart will rise the thought: "My father and mother loved me?" Lips parched with fever will become dewy at this thrill of youthful memories. Kiss your little child before it goes to sleep.

Now U. S. notes, of the denomination of one and two dollars, will be ready for circulation about the first of September.

HENRY & CO. will do more to accommodate their customers than any other House in the neighborhood. mch24-tf

A "TAIL" OF A SNAKE.—"Animals," says the lawyer, "sometimes very nearly approach reason in their cunning.

"I got interested in the study of serpents down in Arkansas, where I spent most of last year. I don't know why, but I was constantly watching them and testing their sagacity, by placing them in new situations, and surrounding them with novel expedients. Of all kinds I experimented most with rattlesnakes and copperheads.

"One afternoon I seated myself on a knoll in the woods to smoke and read—for I always had a book or newspaper with me—and had been enjoying myself for some time, when I espied a copperhead making for a hole within ten feet of where I sat. Of course I threw down my book and cigar, and proceeded to try a new experiment.—As soon as I stirred the rascal made a rush for the hole; but I caught the tail as he got nearly in, and jerked him some twenty feet backward. He threw himself into a coil in no time, and waited for me to pitch in. But I concluded to let him try his hole again.

"After a while he started for it, stopping when I stirred to coil himself up; but as I kept pretty quiet, he recovered confidence and again went in. Again I jerked him out. No sooner did he hit the ground than he made a grand rush for the hole in a straight line for my legs! But that didn't work, for I got out of the way, and gave him another flirt.

"This time he lay still awhile, appearing to reflect on the course to be taken, after a time he tried it again, though rather slowly. After getting his head a little way in, he stopped and wriggled his tail, as if on purpose for me to grab it. I did so; and quicker than a flash he drew his head out, and came within a quarter of an inch striking me in the face. However, I jerked him quite a distance, and resolved to look out the next time. Well he tried the same game again, but it wouldn't work—I was too quick for him.

"This time he lay in a coil for half an hour without stirring. At last, however, he tried it once more. He advanced within five feet of the hole very slowly, coiled again, and then, by heavens! got the start of me by one of the cutest tricks you ever heard of."

"How was it?" we all exclaimed, in one breath.

"Why," said the narrator, sinking his voice to the same acme of solemnity and looking as honest and sober as a man could look, "why he just turned his head towards my head, and went down that hole tail first."

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

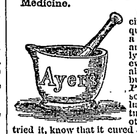
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.
