

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Feb. 2, 1870

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Meeting. M. British Lodge, No. 230, A. Y. M., meets second Monday evening of each month, in Brown's building...

Churches. Baptist Church—Washington Street. Rev. J. W. Phipps, Pastor. Methodist Episcopal—Hill Street. Rev. A. H. Boyle, Pastor...

On the Wing. Lucy Stone likes boys to vinegar—the more "mother" in them the sharper they are.

Religious revivals are in progress in nearly all of the towns, in adjoining counties.

Rubini is again on his travels and has succeeded the editor of the Mountain City Times.

Jordan, junior editor of the Bedford Inquirer, has taken unto himself a wife. We hope he will find that Jordan a smooth road to travel.

The juveniles have got ahead of the season and the cry of "fan dubs," "knuckles," and other marble-games can be heard on our streets.

Belmonts spent three thousand dollars for a "Wet" pavement, and more money is wanted to clear it of dirt and rubbish.

The business men of Johnstown are going into advertising with a rush, and per consequence, splendid stores and elegant mansions are going up.

We have on hand a number of copies of the trial of Bohner and Bordenburg, which we will dispose of at five cents a copy in wrappers.

Courting is an irregular activity transitive verb, indicative mood, present tense, third person, singular number, and agrees with all the girls—don't it?

The other day a man was found mounted on a ladder with his lips pressed to the telegraph wires. He was kissing his wife in Albany "by telegraph."

A candidate for the State Senate was a kind of poetical the other day—hear him: "Six hundred miles or more I traveled before, but never more so than I travel now."

A young man told us one evening last week that he came in our back door by his hand accidentally fell into an apple barrel and one of the best stuck to his fingers: "Just so!"

Hopner, who stole Dr. Shadle's horses, and broke jail during the Fair, was arrested in Lancaster last week, and is now safely secured in our jail for trial.

The editor of the Bloody Run Press is sick—sick, and wants his paying subscribers to remember him in their prayers—delinquents orisons he thinks are of little avail.

A woman, dead drunk, with her arm broken and a ring, was found on the streets of Johnstown recently. To what deep degree of degradation is that borough coming?

Lewistown is to have a musical convention for the purpose of improvement in vocal sacred music, to commence on Tuesday, Feb. 1st, and to continue four days.

Bonsburg and Hollidaysburg both claim to have the champion checker player in their respective villages.—We put in our claims for an A. No. 1 player, who, we think, would have no objections to trying either of them.

A little fellow happening to see a piece of ice being carried by another boy, on a street of our town last week asked him where he got it. Even the boys seem to think winter has gone back on them.

The Foundling Mystery.

Columbia to Huntingdon, Greeting!

A few weeks ago we published an account of a foundling having been left in possession of Dr. E. J. and Nannie Greene of this place, on Saturday evening, the 15th ult. The Columbia Herald of last week, throws the following light on the subject, and to a great extent solves the mystery. It now remains to be discovered who the woman was that brought the child here:

From an event which recently transpired in our town, we think we can throw some light upon the origin of that baby, and give a clue at least, as to:

Who was her father? Who was her mother? Some time in November last, a well-dressed individual, bearing the external semblance of a gentleman, came to Columbia in company with a young woman from Harrisburg. He made inquiries for a boarding-house, and was directed to the residence of a highly respectable gentleman named "C" at the corner of Second and Locust streets in this place.

There he succeeded in obtaining board and lodging for the lady with him, when he introduced as his wife—Mrs. Wilson. She was a small, delicate, and quite intellectual looking person, seemingly about sixteen or seventeen years of age. Mr. Wilson, as he called himself, made proper arrangements for her room and other necessities, before leaving for Harrisburg. In answer to the question "why he did not obtain boarding there," he replied, "Oh, I wanted her away from the atmosphere of the capital."

In the course of a few weeks (in December) the lady became a mother, a nurse was provided by her sweet-tempered Benedict, and things generally went on swimmingly. Mr. Wilson was in constant delight, Mr. Wilson could find his felicity over the hymenial nest like a turtle dove of the most amiable kind, and declared, "you honor," that he had never seen so fine a baby—no, never! Of course he played the happy father to perfection, and led everybody to believe that he was the very pink, not to say carnation of good humors! In all his intercourse with the inmates of the house, he spoke of the lady as his wife—his dear Mrs. Wilson, etc., etc.

Subsequently, his visits, which had heretofore been quite regular, began to grow more infrequent, and Mrs. Wilson to show signs of anxiety and care. From this and other circumstances, Mrs. C——, the landlady, was led to suspect that there was an immense debt in this harmless looking man, and she set about the work of uncovering the mystery.

She instituted inquiries, and learned, to her great astonishment and indignation, that Mr. Wilson was indeed not Mr. Wilson, and Mrs. Wilson, a quite different individual.—In short, Mr. Wilson proved to be a certain emulpy in the Department at Harrisburg, and his victim, a child in years, a Miss——, of the same city. Of course the proprietress of the house made out a clearance for the party, and the "hubby" absconding, the lady was freed to leave with her baby. This she did on Friday, the 14th inst., leaving Columbia in the evening train for Harrisburg. At Middletown she was met by Mr. Wilson, who conveyed her to Harrisburg from that point.

It is a noticeable fact, that previously to leaving Columbia she bought a new willow chair, which, when she left, she carried with her, entirely empty. This, as we have said, an employee of the Department, at Harrisburg, having a wife, and we believe, a family living in Dauphin Co. We should like to see the authorities of D. U. pnia county take this matter in hand, and bring these offenders against all laws—human and divine—to an account.

"We Want to See." A business house in Harrisburg has a large card hanging outside the store door with "We Want to See" in large letters at the top of it, and then follows the names of dishonest customers who strayed away after they had run a bill on promise to pay. The idea is a good one, as every person passing by will want to know who is honest and who is dishonest, and the news will most likely reach the ears of those most interested and save the merchant the trouble of placing bills in the hands of proper officers for collection. We think all the merchants and shopkeepers in Huntingdon, should adopt the Harrisburg merchant's idea and keep cards out during Sunday so that the good church-going people will not be deceived by hypocrites—dishonest and religion went mix.

Choice Selections. Mrs. Anna T. Randall, so favorably known in this community as a reader, has compiled with great care a large number of choice selections from the poets and prose writers, which she has had printed in book form, and now offers it to the public. The book is entitled "Reading and Diction," and its prominent features are Principles, Gestures, Methods of Teaching, Selections in which forty nine American and thirty seven English authors are represented, of whom short but comprehensive sketches are given.—The book should be in every family and would be found to be of great service in the school room.

Robbery.—On Saturday last, while Mr. Geo. W. Warfel was busily engaged about his store at the express office, he removed his coat, containing a pocket-book with about $50.00 in money and a check for $20.00 in it, which was taken from the coat by some one who was evidently aware of the manner in which Mr. Warfel carried his money. The pocket-book was returned on Wednesday, the thief having placed it behind the door of his store, minus the $50.00 in greenbacks, but with the check and other papers untouched.—Phillipsburg Journal.

Summers & Bell's of this place continue to manufacture the celebrated Castilian Liniment for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and Root Candy, for Cough, Cold and Pulmonary Affections. These remedies are getting into universal practice, upon their merits, and we would advise every body afflicted with cold or Rheumatism in this equinoctial weather, to try the above.

Almanacs for 1870 for sale at Lewis' Book Store. Either German or English.

Sales and Sale Bills.

The season for public sales of personal property is now coming on. To those of our readers in Huntingdon county who intend having sales, we would say—do not fail to advertise them in the Globe. It is the very best way of making the sale generally known with the least cost or trouble.

The Globe circulates in every township, borough, village or hamlet in its columns is of more value than the printing of five thousand handbills. It goes to the houses of people and just hits those most likely to be buyers.

We are prepared to print bills for vendees, at short notice, as heretofore. Our handbills are beautifully illustrated with cuts, rendering them much more attractive, without costing any more in price. Vendee advertisements can be forwarded by mail, and they will be inserted in the Globe, or handbills printed and forwarded to the parties ordered, without the necessity of their visiting Huntingdon for that purpose. Address:

LEWIS & LINDSAY, Huntingdon, Pa.

The Season. The oldest inhabitant is puzzled to call to his recollection a season similar to the present. Memory fails in cases of this kind. Each one may call to mind seasons in some respects like that which we now have—but in all respects none seem to come up to it. It is said of the winter of 1718 that on January 15, "the ice on the rivers had disappeared, and the frost was out of the ground. That for three weeks before the weather had been like spring, and peas, beans, &c., had been planted. But a week had scarcely elapsed before severe cold weather set in, and the rivers were filled with ice." Let us take heart from this. We have had thus far, an unusually mild winter—but before it closes we may have a "spell of weather" that will set back vegetation, and give us ice as much as we want. As we write the sky is clouded, and the Heavens forebode a storm of some kind that may introduce an old-fashioned winter, notwithstanding all the signs to the contrary.

A REMARKABLE YEAR.—The year 1870 will be a very eventful one to every maiden who gets married. Throughout the whole course of the year, whenever the moon waxes the nights will grow dark. Whoever is in love will think his sweetheart an angel. Whoever gets married will find out whether it is true. The drama of a young man three nights in succession, it is a sign of something if anybody jumps overboard without knowing how to swim, it is ten to one he gets drowned. If any one lends an umbrella, it is ten to one he is obliged to go home in the rain for his pains. More anon, as the "spirit" moves.

FRANKLIN OUDON.—Ben. Franklin once wrote: "He who by the plow would thrive, Must himself either hold or drive." These lines were very popular, in their day, and often now they are occasionally quoted by old fogies. But some persons has culled them by bringing out the following:

"He who by his plow would thrive, Must either bust or advertise." Ladies Dresses and Boys Clothing. Mrs. B. Annie McCabe respectfully informs the public that she has removed to the house formerly occupied by H. McManigill, on Washington street, and is prepared to make Ladies' Dresses and Boys' Clothing of all kinds. She respectfully invites a full share of patronage.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—The undersigned are prepared to do all kinds of plain and fancy sewing, at short notice. Particular attention paid to Millinery, Dress and Shirt Making. Mrs. L. A. HANER, MISS SARAH J. M'KEE, Feb. 2, 3.

Carpet Weaving. Mrs. Matilda Pleasant is prepared to weave rag carpets, and solicits patronage from a generous public. Residence Washington Street, West Huntingdon.

We are glad to notice that foreign enterprise and capital has been invited to this place, and induced to locate.—No point in the Penna. railroad is more acceptable to capitalists in manufacturing interests than Huntingdon.

Service in P. E. Church on Sunday, Feb. 6th, at 10:30. Adult baptism and Holy Communion, and Sermon by Rev. Mr. Martin. Service and sermon by Rev. Mr. Martin, at 2 P. M. All services at 6:30 P. M. All are invited to attend. A. H. BOYLE, Rector.

The past session in the Hollidaysburg Seminary has been the most successful of any since the institution began. Success, in hard times, is not a bad test.

Photographs of Bohner and Bordenburg, the murderers of the Peightal family for sale at Lewis' Book Store, and Donnel & Kline's Gallery. Price 25 cents.

Farmers needing a Grain-drill, will do well to call on Watson & Maguire and examine the Willoughby gun-spring grain drill, either with or without phospho attachment, before purchasing.

All having accounts with the undersigned will please call and settle. Feb. 2, 11. J. M. McCULLOUGH, M. D.

For Sale.—A sound colt, four years old, and a large grey mare, for sale on easy terms. For particulars apply to S. A. STRATTON, Feb. 2, 11.

Lost.—In this borough, a Jet Bar Drop, (two links). The finder will be rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

Cambridge county farmers have done all their spring plowing. The ice men may have our coldest feelings, for indeed they need them.
