Interesting Reports.

We give room in this issue to the reports of the President and Resident Engineer of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Railroad Co., believing that a perusal of the same will be a source of pleasure and benefit to our readers.

There are in this State about 60,000 colored citizens who, calculating one to six as voters, can cast 10,000 votes. It is probable, however, that not more than 7,000 or 8,000 votes will be cast.

Ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30, '70. To the Senate and House of Representatives.

It is unusual to notify the two houses of Congress by message of the ratification of a constitutional amendment. In view, however, of the vast importance of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution this day deemed a departure from the usual custom justifiable.

Message From The President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30, '70. To the Senate and House of Representatives.

It is unusual to notify the two houses of Congress by message of the ratification of a constitutional amendment. In view, however, of the vast importance of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution this day deemed a departure from the usual custom justifiable.

The following article...

The following article by the Legislature of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the constitution, namely:

Section 15. Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

And further, that it appears from official documents on file in the Department, that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed as aforesaid, has been ratified by the Legislatures of the States of North Carolina, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Maine, Louisiana, Michigan, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, New York, New Hampshire, Nevada, Vermont, Missouri, Virginia, Alabama, Kansas, Mississippi, Minnesota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Nebraska, and Texas, in all twenty-nine States. And further, that the States whose Legislatures have ratified said proposed amendment consist of three-fourths of the whole number of the States in the United States; and further, that it appears from an official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of the State of New York has since passed resolutions claiming to withdraw said ratification of said amendment, which had been made by the Legislature of that State, and of which official notice had been filed in this Department; and further, that it appears from an official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of Georgia has by resolution ratified said proposed amendment.

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of the second section of an act of Congress approved on the 20th day of April, in the year 1818, entitled "an act to provide for the publication of the laws of the United States, and for other purposes," do hereby certify that the amendment aforesaid has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 30th day of March, in the year of our Lord, 1870, and of the independence of the United States the 94th.

(Signed) HAMILTON FISH.

The Broad Top Iron Fields.

B. ANDREWS KNIGHT, Esq., President of the Broad Top Coal Fields, and their relationships to the intervening iron ore territories.

The belt of iron ores flanking the Broad Top Coal Fields on the west, and extending from Huntingdon to the State line, belongs to and can be controlled by Broad Top interests. The main portion of it is along the line of the Broad Top railroad, and will be smelted by coke from the Broad Top Field. The portion of this belt between Broad Top and the State line—about four miles of good ore—will be smelted at Broad Top. The furnaces connected with the railroad by a short branch from the west end of River Bridge, when it shall be built. A tram road, with a small locomotive, will probably be used in conveying the iron ore and limestone to the furnaces.

It is a remarkable fact that the largest developments of iron-ores flank the Broad Top Coal Field. Southward up Black Valley, the regular line of Tussey's Mountain is broken up by Bean's Cove, near the State line. Beyond this, the measures are irregular and split into terminal hills, the iron ore thinning out and uncertain.

These suggest iron-ores flanking Broad Top are again repeated in the loop curving round the valley in which the town of Bedford is situated. This belt of iron ore is rich and valuable, and has, to some extent, been secured by parties interested in Broad Top. The most valuable portion of this belt is near the town of Bedford, curving round the Dutch Corner, and throwing a double prong southward towards Cumberland. It is reasonable to infer that as the ore deposits go southward they will encounter, in a modified manner, the Bean Cove line of disturbances, declining in quantity and value.

Bedford, as a center for furnaces will be in a position from which all the ores of that belt can be reached by lateral roads. With the extension of the Broad Top railroad to Bedford, the carrying of coal for iron smelting, and the revival of the native trade of the district, will, in part, be secured to the Broad Top interests.

The third belt of iron ore, and the last in the series as it plunges under the Alleghenies, is found west of Bedford, flanking for quite a distance the proposed railroad from Bedford to Bridgeport—sixteen miles. That Broad Top should secure this connecting link, is an important consideration, in view of the rapidly growing interest in the iron ores, and the new eager pursuit of their acquisition in a region where pig metal can be manufactured at a small cost.

But there is another feature in this connection which will exert an important influence in the future operations of the Broad Top railroad. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company are now erecting a first-class Rolling Mill at Cumberland, to roll rails for their own road and its branches. This when in operation will induce an increased demand for good pig iron; and as the Mount Savage Iron Works is furnishing mainly on the carbonate iron ores of the Coal Measures, they will undoubtedly reach out for the rich fossil ore along the Bridgeport link. This connection will therefore be made if only for the supply of iron ore that it will open up, and the passenger trade to Bedford Springs. The road from Bedford to Bridgeport can be graded as cheaply as the link from Mount Dallas to Bedford.

But if this link is made as a branch of the B. & O. Railroad the operations in Cumberland coal will be ready to compete at Bedford with the Broad Top. This competition would neutralize, to some extent, the benefits to Broad Top, by the extension of a road from Mount Dallas to Bedford.

With the Bedford and Bridgeport division...

With the Bedford and Bridgeport division in its charge, however, it could regulate and entirely control all competition from outside parties. It seems to me that with the well-defined amount of mineral resources presented in this intervening territory, and the sure source of trade which will follow from the completion of its fulfillment, it is not difficult to induce those connected with the Broad Top interest to lose no time in securing a position to command the carrying trade of this wide field of productive industry, that will be so much in addition to the business and tonnage lying more immediately on the line of your road.

The owners of coal lands and shippers of Broad Top coal should also feel a deep interest in securing a home market for a portion of this coal, at least, thus supplementing the trade, and measurably removing the sharp competition now existing in the Eastern Coal Market.

A furnace of the size of that at Riddlesburg will consume in a year 22,000 tons of coal, 8,500 tons of limestone, and 20,000 tons of iron ore, producing 7,500 to 8,000 tons of pig iron. Twenty furnaces would require 440,000 tons of coal annually. It is now decided that at least two additional furnaces will be erected on the line of your road this season, with the probability that more will be commenced before the close of the year.

The loop of iron ore around Bedford contains four millions of tons, calculating the rich fossiliferous ore only, and the Western iron or range, three millions of tons. The ore is of the best quality, and during the last year, of the three bands of iron ore deposits flanking the Broad Top Coal Field, have exhibited the presence of almost inexhaustible quantities of iron ore. It is 20 feet 1 inch thick, and is composed of a compact mass of almost pure ore. This is the Levant iron ore—has been tested, and is now being used in the Cambria Company's furnaces at Johnstown.

The Hematite and Fossiliferous iron ores of the lower deposits, have been opened and worked at many points in the region, yielding superior ore and showing unusual thickness in the deposits. Calculations made with great care, from reliable data, show that in the three large deposits of iron ore flanking the Broad Top Coal Field on the west, estimated to a depth conveniently reached above water level, there are at least five hundred millions of tons of coal. The extension of the main line of the railroad to Bedford and a branch up Black Valley, will develop large additional quantities of iron ore. The pre-arrangement evident in the topography of the region for the concentration of the iron ores, fuel and flux, on the neutral line of gravity, along the railroad and river basin, is a fact of great importance.

Nor is this new and wide field of productive industry shadowed by a single element of doubt, for sufficient practical work has been done in it to settle the question of its value, all considerations of Coal, Coke, Iron ore and Flux. They have all been proved to be of excellent quality, and the fact exhibited that a superior pig iron can be made in this region somewhat cheaper than any other locality in the State.

The outlying and detached position of the Broad Top Coal Field, has frequently led inquiring minds to investigate the design of its isolated position, and the reasons therefor. It is explained by the bold and frequent flexures of the Juniata District. The recent developments of immense deposits of iron ore, the frequent recurrence of their outcrops as they rise and sink in these rare flexures, suggest the connecting link, and the actual evidence is: The Broad Top Mountain is a storehouse of mineral fuel, set out in the midst of a region rich in iron ores lying at the base of the Coal Mountain. The flames from one large furnace glare up into another, and the smoke arising from the desired in the deposition of the ores and fuel is understood. Other furnaces will rapidly rise up and answer this signal, until the wide valley flanking the Coal Field will glitter with the fires of furnaces dotted along its length, and the region will be an industry so long neglected and restrained.

HEROIC LAD.—On Saturday morning...

HEROIC LAD.—On Saturday morning a week ago, about twenty miles west of Altoona, on the Pacific Express going west, was rounding a curve on the mountain side at a rapid rate, a deep precipice on one side and high impending rocks on the other, a high lad was seen ahead waving his hat and tossing his little arms aloft. The train was stopped within a few feet of a mass of rock and dirt upon the track sufficient to have thrown passengers, engineer and cars over the precipice. The lad, whose name is Willie Kahne, not ten years old, had seen the fall and hastened to signal the approaching train.

The company cannot do less than provide for the education of this boy, and give him a start in life. New York is at present regaled with the story of a deputy sheriff sent from the city with four convicts to Sing Sing, the whole party being taken to the State Prison, and the police, who finally took charge of them putting them all in jail together.

The Sheriff of Richmond, Va., has levied on all the first apartments of the city, and advertises them for sale at auction, to satisfy executions in his hands in favor of parties whose liquor was destroyed in 1865, on the occasion of the city.

At Fall River, on Sunday, during the blessing of the corner stone of an unfinished Catholic church, the floor gave way and 250 persons were precipitated a distance of 12 feet into the cellar. Ten or twelve persons had limbs broken.

A Boston paper says: "I have a great hope of a wicked man; slender hope of a mean one. A wicked man may be converted and become pre-eminent saint. A mean man ought to be converted six or seven times one right after the other, to give a fair start and put him on an equality with a bold, wicked man."
