TRIED FOR FORGERY.

There lived in the city of P...
A gentleman on the shady side of sixty, who had by industry and economy amassed a large competence, sustaining in all the work of his life a character of a fine family, and noted for his eccentricities and his peculiar style of dress.

It was the middle of the afternoon of a cloudy, dismal day in March, when an old man entered one of the banks in the city named, and presented a check for payment.

Walk for Land in Pennsylvania.

In 1732, Thomas Penn contracted with Teedyuscung and some others for a title to all the land in Pennsylvania to be taken off by a parallel of latitude from any point as far as the west of three men could walk in a day, between sunrise and sunset, from a certain chestnut tree, at or near Bristol, in a north-west direction.

The day was appointed and the champions notified. The people collected at what they thought the first twenty miles of the Durban road, to see them pass.

On receiving the word, Weston started off with an easy, elastic gait, which he gradually improved until he made the revolution of the ball in one minute and thirty seconds.

Barbeded, clad only in his shirt and tight velvet trousers, with shoes and leggings, Weston took along like a human comet.

James Yates, who led the way for the first thirty miles or more, was quite blind when taken out of Durban Creek, and lived but three days after.

The Sabbath.

The following testimonies and experiences, not of the clergy, but of statesmen, philosophers, and men of wide reputation in legal, medical, literary and commercial life, bearing on a subject attracting considerable attention at the present time, may be interesting to our readers.

"I have long been of the opinion that it is to the interest of the railroad and steamboat companies to suspend operations on the Sabbath, as it demoralizes the men and makes them reckless, and so is the cause of many accidents."

Business Matters.

The money you can earn yourself is much better than any you can get out of dead men's coffers.

Never get another to do for you what you can do for yourself.

Do not be frequently changing from one form of business to another, since you will lose much more in making these changes.
