The corn crop looks well. The mosquitoes bite well this year.

Twenty million school books are annually used in this country. The mercury in the thermometer has been ranging at 88° to 100° for a few days past.

A Providence undertaker is in the habit of sending his card to all the sick persons he can hear of.

Philipsburg, a much smaller town than Huntingdon, has a street-spring. The man who sang "I breathe no more that simple life" was recommended to go into the smoking car where the air was more mixed.

There are 1,000,000 persons supported by our manufacturers in the United States, and the number actually employed is set down at 2,500,000.

Loafers do not toil, neither do they work, but they try to keep their hands and soul together without working, which is a very fine art.

A Tivoli woman weekly fagel lates her husband, and then locks herself in the parlor and sings "Nearer my God, to Thee." So says an exchange.

One of the latest notions is the birth card, resembling a wedding card, but bearing the name of the new comer, and date of the advent, with the initials of the parents.

Type-setters have difficulty some times in distinguishing an I from a J in manuscript. If writers would bring the end of the J below the line, many errors would be avoided.

An exchange notes, as the most "harrowing" sight it ever saw, the spectacle of a gentleman in a dress suit of black harrowing in a field, with a tall plug hat on.

The old-fashioned "Harvest Home" celebrations will soon be in vogue. They are the only things of the kind in many sections of the country, and the city is that of it.

The Good Templars of the West-Juniata District, will hold their next quarterly convention in Tyrone, commencing August 9th and continuing two days. An unusually interesting session is promised.

A gentleman named Holton, residing in Sinking Valley, Blair county, says the Tyrone Herald, has a cow-walk blooded Durham-which last week turned out sufficient milk to manufacture 21 pounds and 3 ounces of butter.

An aged man and cripple in Bedford county, named McLaughlin, whilst traveling in the mountains, was attacked by a black snake. He stood his ground, and finally succeeded in killing it. It measured nine feet eight inches in length and seven inches around.

A case of feminine daring is related of a Virginia belle, who, on the edge of a precipice, and defied any man of the party with whom she was riding to follow her. Not a man accepted the challenge; but a tantalizing youth stood on his head in the saddle, and dared her to do that.

In Mosquito Valley, near Williamsport a quarry of marble has been opened, which is nearly manipulated, as is black as ebony, and no clear that it reflects like a mirror. No other marble is so dense in fibre, and capable of so fine a polish as this, and the quarry in which it is taken is said to be one of the kind known to exist.

Home is said to be the best of all summer resorts. It ensures clean beds, wholesome food, the free run of the house, and the privilege to do as one pleases. If men and women could throw aside care and work for a season, and be "company" to their own families for a brief season, home would afford much greater enjoyment than all the summer resorts extant.

Miss Kate Kilduff, daughter of Dr. Kilduff, of Philadelphia, lost her life at the bathing school or Natatorium on Broad street, the other day. She went into the water white-headed and was attacked with congestion of the brain while in the water, drowning her before assistance could be rendered. The young lady was to have been married in a few days.

A mortgage given by the Pennsylvania Canal Company to J. P. Lombard, in trust for the bondholders of the above company, is being put upon record in the office of the Recorder of Deeds in Lancaster county. The same document will also be recorded in fifteen other counties in this State. The $5,000,000 are divided into bonds of $5,000 each. The mortgage is now being recorded by Mr. Snaucker, Recorder for this county.

A destructive fire occurred at Osceola, Clearfield county, on Saturday night last, in which a planing mill and two houses were consumed. The fire originated in the oil room of the mill, and spread with great rapidity. The loss is over $100,000.

Rev. George A. Peliz, President of the Penna. State S. S. Association, was present throughout the Convention; his counsel was repeatedly elicited, and his presence gave the convention a spirit of animation that would probably have otherwise been wanting, and there were few if any of those present who did not feel benefitted by the instruction his large experience in Sunday School labor enabled him to impart.

The Convention, though called at an inopportune time, and after but a few weeks' notice, was a success, and did more than could be expected from delegates and officers, many of whom were attended one of the kind, nor knew what was expected of them. The statistics, as is admitted, are incomplete, but enough is known to attest the fact that by well organized efforts the whole character of the Sunday School work in the county may be developed.

We are glad to note that the movement has been organized on this permanent basis, and indulge the hope that at each succeeding year there will be renewed zeal in the work, and an effectual removal of all the obstacles to its progress.

The proceedings of the Convention, which are very lengthy, we will give our readers in our next issue.

DEDICATION. June 30th, 1870, was a day of joy to the members of Mill Creek Evangelical Lutheran Congregation, and to many others who have "united loves" at the Old Church above Mill Creek station. The church which has stood deserted, and the ancient burying ground, where sleep many of the earlier settlers, long neglected, have been leased to the M. B. L. C. and nicely repaired, and on the 29th was solemnly dedicated to the service of the Triune God. The day was very warm, yet the congregation was large and attentive. Rev. A. L. Guss, Principal of the Cassville Orphan's School, preached the dedicatory sermon from Psalm xxvii, 4. We may truly say the discourse was an inspiring and instructive contribution towards the edification of the church.
