

Farm and Household.

The Compost Heap. There is no garden but what during the season, furnishes more or less of waste matter in the shape of weeds, leaves, grass, etc., and no kitchen but what has valuable refuse in the shape of chamber ley, etc., and then there is no garden or grass plot but that each year may be benefited by applying well decomposed manurial substances to the soil. Let every owner of a garden, then, put this and that together, and go at once to the work of forming a compost heap. Gather some sods to form the base, then throw on from day to day, all the soap suds, chamber ley, etc., from the house, all the ashes, the weeds, clippings of grass borders, etc., and sprinkle the whole once a week with plaster paris. Add more sod when convenient as soon as the heap has become two feet high or so, turn it all over and mix it up with the spade. This course pursued during the summer would give to each and every small garden, lawn or flower bed a well decomposed manure for the coming year's growth that would more than compensate for the trouble and labor of this item so much needed and so much neglected.

The Raid of the Caterpillars. From the caterpillar region in Tennessee, we learn, that their numbers have not decreased since mention was made a few days ago of their stopping trains on the Memphis and Tennessee Railroad. The damage to crops is immense. Trees throughout the whole length of the road have been entirely stripped of their foliage, and everything green has been eaten by these pests. They accumulate in such swarms on the track that, when crushed, they have the consistency of soap, and the wheels of the locomotives, at times, slide round and round without moving the trains. It is a strange phenomenon, and can be accounted for by no one. From 30 cars the trains have been reduced to 7, and even then in some instances, they have even stopped.

Managing Setting Hens. A writer in the Prairie Farmer never sets a hen unless another is soon to set, also, by first arrangements he can give chickens first hatched to hen No. 2. As they hatch he removes them to a box fixed for the purpose, and he gives each hen from twenty to forty chicks, and finds they grow as well as broods of less number. To break a hen of the wish to set he confines her in a coop three days. Hens will not eat eggs if they have access to lime. He is of the opinion that poultry does not pay when one builds expensive houses for them or faty chicken coops, and spends his time and talent in the business. It will do for women to raise poultry.

Seed To the Acre. The following table will be found valuable, as many lack information on this point: Kind of seed. Am't per acre. Beets, lbs. 4 1/2 Beans (navy), lbs. 4 1/2 Beans, (Castor), quarts, 3 Carrots, lbs. 2 1/2 Clover (red) lbs. 10 to 12 Clover (white) lbs. 6 Irish potatoes, bush. 7 Kentucky, lbs. 10 to 12 Hungarian grass, bush. 4 1/2 Onions, lbs. 4 Turnip, lbs. 1

Watering Teams Often. Horses and oxen at work need water often. The plowman carries his jug of water, or leaves his team to rest while he goes to the house for a drink. But the team works harder than the driver, and probably needs drink as often; yet many teams are taken out early in the field, where there is no water, except in the driver's jug, and work five or six hours before they can get a drop. Is it any wonder that they are injured by drinking too much when they are led to the spring at noon or evening?

Chmeh Bug. Here is an idea put forward by an agriculturist, worth investigation by farmers: Elder C. D. Merit, of Illinois, states that he has observed this season that the bug is only bad in fields of wheat and rye that have been sown on corn ground. His idea is that the bug winters over in the corn stalks. Perhaps if the stalks were burned up clean the bug would be destroyed by the process. We suggest that farmers keep their eyes skinned, and see whether this be so or not. There may be something in it worth looking after.

Hog Cholera. A writer in the Stock Journal recommends the following as a preventative of this disease: Four of sulphur, six pounds; sulphate of iron, six ounces; cinchona, pulverized, one pound. Mix well together in a large mortar, afterward give a tablespoonful to each animal, mixed with a few spoonsful of corn meal, three times a day. Continue this for one week, keep the animals in a clean, warm, dry place, and not allow to many together.

Blote in Cattle. The Belleville, Ohio, Gazette says "blote" in cattle can be cured by pork. Cut the pork in strips of four or five inches in length, an inch wide, and half an inch thick. Tie up the animal's head, put a piece in her mouth, and in a moment or two she will swallow it, and immediately grow better.

Hide-Bound Meadows should be harrowed as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and their tops dressed with a mixture, per acre, of five bushels ashes, three or four bushels lime dust, and two bushels salt, which will increase the crop of grass fifty to one hundred per cent.

Cure For Founder in a Cow. A correspondent writes from Harrison county that the half of a salt mackerel given to a cow is a sure cure for founder.
