The Muses' Bower.

The Old Year and the New.

An old man totters on the road
Bow'd down with age and eare;
His locks are white and float about
Like snow-flakes in the air—
The clouds are gath 'ring darkly round,
The night seems setting fast,
The winds send forth a moaning sound,
The owlets flutter past.

The old man halfs along the road,
If sees the gathering gloom—
No hope has he—no power to stay
His fast-approaching doom,
He sees the children pass him by,
And sadly turns his face;
He knows too well that he must die,
The New Year takes his place.

He hears the children clap their hands And shout aloud for glee, And shout aloud for gice,
He marks them hasten on their way.
The glad New Year to see.
And then he hears the midnight chime
Ring out his fun'ral knell;
His life faules fast—ho reefs at last,
The New Year breaks the spell.

A little child nows leads the way
His step is light and bold,
His hair is bright and floats about
Like threads of burnish'd gold;
The clouds are passing swift away,
The morn seems soft and clear;
The night has pass'd—the sun's bright ray

The night has pass'd—the sun's Brings in the glad New Year.

Farewell, Old Year! your work is done,
A new one fills your place;
The darkest night will pass away
The morning dawn apace!
We cannot bring the dead to life,
Nor wasted hours recall;
But in the coming year we may,
Perhaps, atone for all.

Love at Home.

Wherever brawls disturb the street,
There should be peace at home,
Where sisters dwell and brothers meet,
Quarrels should never come.

Birds in their little nests agree, And 'tis a shameful sight, When children of one family Fall out and chide and fight.

An old bachelor geologist was boasting that every rock was as familiar to him as the alphabet. A lady who was present declared that she knew one of which he was wholly ignorant.

"You don't say—just name it madam?"
cried Caleb, quite self-possessed. "It is rock the cradle, sir," replied the lady. A FASHIONABLE lady covered with jew-

Let men be taught to know there is as much religion in the good, robust, rejoicing, enthusiastic singing of God's praise, as the sedate and doleful style that is usually considered the most devotional; let them know that the earnest prayer need not be advantage in considered to the most devotion feel that "It is addy. Inow that the earnest prayer need not be a drawling jeremiad; let them feel that good gospol preaching may be a sprightly delivery of pleasing truths, more than a winning recitation of inanites; let them believe that Christianity is a live thing, A FASHIONABLE lady covered wan jer-elry, and having on the smallest bonnet and shawl, complained of the cold, and asked a Quaker what she should do to get warm. "I really don't know," said the warm. "I really don't know," said the

"Sambo, why am dat nigger down dar in de hole of de boat like a chicken in de egg?" "I gibs um up." "Because he couldn't get out, if it wasn't for de hatch."

There is a good reason why a little man should never marry a bouncing wid; ow. He might be called "the widows mite."

For Mothers.—Send your little dren to bed happy. Whatever cares press, give it a warm good-night kiss as it goes to tespillow. The memory of this, in the stormy years that may be in store for the little one, will be like Bethlehem's star to the bewildered shepherds. "My father and mother loved me." Nothing can take away that blessed heart-balm. Lips parehed with the world's fever will become dewy again at the thrill of youthful memories. The slave of the "Ring."—A bride. again at the thrill of youthful memories. Kiss your little child before it goes to sleep.
