J. We have read in the papers, within ten days, that the president of one of our great central railways, was obliged to cease from labor and go to Europe with the slim hope of recovering his brain from fatal disease; while one of the vice presidents of the same road is in an insane asylum, and another prominent official, and the ablest of them all, is notified by his phy-

But a reduction in the number of hours for labor will lead to an extension of machine work. The additional two hours per diem will afford practical men greater opportunities to invent and develop new labor-saving appliances; so that all the inconveniences felt at first will soon vanish, and men will wonder why we ever found "Fish Culture in America," by W. ministration is eminently so in its sympathies and practice. Emancipation was unquestionably the first step towards success in the cight-hour movement, and both have grown out of the one grand principle of "clevating the toiling millions," as Sent ator Wilson so happily expresses it, and securing to them "the rights of our common humanity." That the Administration is in full sympathy with this great movement toward a higher physical and mental development, is evident from the fact that be mechanics and laborers on the government works are now employed on the eight-hour principle, and paid the same as they were formerly for ten hours work. The Presidency, Senator Wilson, is committed with the work of the Republican appirates.
