There was a funeral-like dullness pressed itself even upon the blank paper. Could it have spoken it would have cried : worth purchasing? "Shame! Shame! weak, mercenary man, upon thy perfidy!"

A vote was taken on the B. & B. Railroad, the other day, which resulted 20 for Grant to 19 for Greeley. Some one suggested that the vote of the ladies be taken, which resulted:

The Globe, while justifying its treachery, in speaking of Grant, says: "Instead of selecting the best men to advise him he has surrounded himself with the most corrup political speculators, and given out the most corruphis administration by contract to the most vens of mankind, in every State of the Union."

For the purpose of showing the Repubcans of the State, (because at home, where To the Republicans of Huntingdon ts character is known, it is entirely unneessary,) what the Democratic party has secured in the purchase of the Globe, we copy, partly, from the old files of the Jourd American, a few of the flip-flaps it has made since attaching itself to the Republican party.

As soon as the war was over the Globe began to misrepresent the soldiers, and on the 23d of August, 1865, the following card, numerously signed by veterans, appeared in the Journal and American:

peared in the Journal and American:

We, the undersigned roturned soldiers, (citizens of Huntingdon Borough, and members of the Union Republican party.) who voted at the delegate election held in said Borough on Saturday, August 12th, for Messrs. Steel and Black, in opposition to the bogus ticket of Lewis, Bricker and Co., hereby declare that the allegations published in the last issue of the Huntingdon Globe, that we "were deceived," were "sorry for what we had "one," and other unblushing and notorious falsehoods, are alike unjust to the TRUE PRIENDS OF THE SOLDIERS IN THIS BORDIERS AND WORTHY ONLY OF THE DEMAGGGUE AND POLITRON FROM WHOM THEY EMANAGE.

On the 6th of Sontambar 1065.

On the 6th of September, 1865, the Journal and American contained the following statement, by a Douglas Democrat showing the mercenary character of the

On the 14th day of July I was in Huntingdon On the 14th day of July I was in Huntinglon, and was approached by the editor of the Globo, who endeavored to convince me that the Dughes Democrats "held the halance of power in this county," and if we would demand it we could compel the Republican party to pay us for our years, and he would be d—diff it wasn't time that us Douglas Democrats were getting something; if we didn't soon, we must look out for ourselees." His whole conversation was in the same strain and he concluded by leaving me to infer that he wanted my support to send him as a delegate to the Republican State Convention. After he had finished, I told him that as to his having aided the Republican party for four years, I knew that to be untrue, as it was but two years ago tingdon county. I told him he not only did that, but more, he did not vote for Mr. Douglas. For him to claim to lead the twenty-two Democrats in this county who did vote for Mr. Douglas was as great presumption as he displayed when he headed the column of forty-troe Hantingdon borough Douglas Democrats, that marched to the polls in Huntingdon last fall to vote for Mr. Lincoln! I told him I came out of the Democratic nest before he had done feathering his pinions, and thought it the coolest impudence to demand a recompense from the party that had lifted him out of the nest he had befouled, and in which he would yet have been wallowing had it not tost its "cohesive attraction of public plunder."

Again we copy, from the same paper, under date of July 4. 1866, the following under date of July 4, 1866, the following resolution passed by a Convention of "Boys in Blue," held in this place, on Friday, the 29th day of June, 1866:
