They looked handsome-and greeted the order of size.

They looked handsome—and greeted us with a song, "Work for the Right," which was sung as children only can sing. The exercises which followed were of such a character as to call forth the admiration of every one. The "recitations" and "declamations" were of the purest thought, and had evidently been chosen for their real merit, and that the mind might profit by the mental food thus devoured. It would be impossible frust to notice the various performances in their order, but we cannot pass on without noticing the "Tableaux" which were, as all said, "Grand." These were representations that excited the pieasure of all, and showed with what zeal the school had labored to have the entertainment pleasant. "Faith, Hope and Charity," were represented in an admirable form. The three characters were arrayed in white, and grouped about a cross; two clinging to it and the third having an attitude of prayer in front of them. The appearance was truly elegant, and as the curtain rolled down the white, wheread ovel-marking on (40), by it is hear. THE daily product of weighing-machines by he renowned Fairbanks Scale Company, in ing to it and to te third saving an attitude of prayer in front of them. The appearance was truly elegant, and as the curtain rolled down the whispered exclamation of "0, isn' it beautiful?" the trang over the assembly gave evidence of success. The representation was so exquisite that it was thought it could not be equalled until the curtain rolled up on the "angel Sleeper." The scene was truly solemn, and from the silence that reigned through the audience it seemed as though they were holding their br ath least they might disturb the infant sleeper as it lay in its death like attitude, or cause the Angel, as it stood with its outstretched wings, to frown on them. At the close of the performances, which were all well done, the school was arraigned again on the stage as at the opening of the exercises.—
This, Mr. Editor, was really a tableaux which presented many intelligent countenances and waster faces. The teaches the near of course of the party faces.

Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines are considered superior to all others before the American public for the speedy and certain cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Invalids, try them, and be convinced of the triath of what we assert. It is but ten months since they were first offered to the public, and to-day they are sold by first-class Druggists and Merchants in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, the Virginias, Ohio, Indiana, and the District of Columbia. Surely they are not hombugs or they would not be shighly commended by the intelligence of the most powerful states in all this fair land. They are classified so as to meet the most difficult diseases for which they are offered, not one medicine for all the diseases humanity is heir to.
