Probably the most economical mode of protecting the flock is to turn them into the woods, or into a field a part of which is covered by forest trees. Here, in a hot day, they are shielded from the sun, and in a cold storm get some protection. It is better, however, when a cold storm approaches, to drive the flock up, and keep them in the barn until the weather is suitable for them to go out again.

It will be remembered that but a few years ago, thousands of sheep were killed in Northern Ohio, by a cold storm some time in June. Farmers at that time, who were thoughtful enough to care for their att flocks, saved them, and the lesson learned then should be remembered. It is not frequent that we have summer storms severe enough to kill sheep outright. unless, perhaps, it be a few old "pelters," yet that is no argument against giving them protection, for when an animal suffers from any cause, it declines in flesh, health and strength.

At this season it is particularly im portant that ewes with lambs be given all the advantage possible, for they have two lives to support, and the draft upon their system is heavy enough without being subjected to endurances which might, with care, be averted .- Ohio Farmer.

Cost and Profit.

Some person who has been comparing figures on the subject says there seems to be a prospect of an important collapse in of certain kinds of machinery. It had been discovered, for instance, that the sewing machines, whose manufacture has enriched a dozen or more collossal companies, cost but fifteen dollars each, and are sold for sixty dollars and over. Now that the patents which protected and sustained these monopolies have expired, heavy companies are being organized to manufacture sewing machines at the cheaper rate. Similarly, the farmers are finding that they are paying a large bonus to manufacturers for their farming machinery. The Illinois railroad quarrel has brought out a correspondent who has been investigating the actual cost of certain farming implements, and comparing that with the prices paid by the farmers. The result is stated

One McCormick reaper	$45	$2
One Beloit reaper	45	1
Owatomua sceder	20
Sulky Rake	20
One fanning mill	10
Four plows, each	10
Total	$200	$6
	200	-

Which gives a profit of $497, on $200 worth of machinery. As the above figures were taken from the sworn testimony of McCormick himself, as given before the congressional investigating committee, they are entitled to credence until disproved .-Ohio Farmer.

Sawdust for Stables.

A correspondent of the London Field says: I litter the horses on it to a depth of nine inches, raking off the damp and soiled surface every morning, and spreading evenly a little fresh, removing the whole four or five times a year. Its advantages appear to be many, of which I will state a few, which give it, in my estimation, its greatest superiority over straw. It is much cleaner, and more easily arranged; and, of course, much cheaper at be a when first cost, making, in the end, excellent ance p first cost, making, in the end, excellent manure. It is peculiarly beneficial to the feet, affording them a cool, porousstuffing, a substitute for the soil of earth we always find in the hoofs of a horse at grass, and presents the nearest resemblance to a horse's natural footing—the earth. We never had a diseased foot since the introduction of sawdust in the stable, now some years since. Horses bedded on sawdust are freer from dust and stains than when in ordinary litter; simply because sawdust is a better absorbent, perhaps, and testify their approval of it by frequently lying down for hours in the day. It has also the recommendation of being uneatable—an advantage which all in charge of horses with the habit of eating their litter will admit.

Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines

Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines are considered superior to all others before the American public for the speedy and certain cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Invalids, try them, and be convineed of the truth of what we assert. It is but ten months since they were first offered to the public, and to-day they are sold by first-class Druggists and Merchants in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, the Virginias, Ohio, Indiana, and the District of Columbia. Surely they are not humbugs or they would'nt be so highly commended by the intelligence of the most powerful states in all this fair land. They are classified so as to meet the most difficult diseases for which they are offered, not one medicine for all the diseases humanity is heir to.
