Farm and Kousehold. How to Treat Horses.

No one of the domestic animals is much akin to men with reference to feeling and ambition as the horse, for when into difficult places, and when he is hurt by his harness or saddle, he shrinks almost in the same way that a man does. His nerves seem to be equally sensitive with ours, and especial pains should be taken to see that his harness sets easily and does not gall him, and during this hot weather the lightest rig should be used and every superfluous strap removed.

Let the stable be airy and clean, and when the work is done for the day, let the horse roll, if he will, and then bathe his limbs, back, and flanks. It is absolutely necessary to use a back-band, the owner ould be careful to see that it is not too short, or buckled too tight, and that the pad is soft and kept in good order. It is bsolutely disgraceful for a farmer's horse to have a sore back, because it signifies that it its owner is both careless and cruel. three or four weeks with the best of treatment are required for a cure. If, however, the case remains wholly or only in part removed, the healing scab is broken and irritated, the sore may become almost incurable and the animal become of little value. It should be a good cause for criminal prosecution if any owner permits his horse to get into this condition. The remedy for old sores is pulverized burnt alum to eat away the proud flesh, and for fresh ones, soap suds, but probably luke warm water is better. Harsh irritating applications, whether for outward or internal ills, should be avoided, for they indicate profound ignorance in him who prescribes -N. Y. Tribune.

Orchards.

On a recent trip into the country, over some 37 miles of territory, one thing was very noticeable and that was the forlorn and neglected appearance of the trees. Sod of perhaps ten or twenty years growth covered the ground, rough, scaly bark covered the trees, and water sprouts in the trees and about the roots, and rough leaves were the main characteristics. Now, orchards need as much care as cereals and they repay careful cultivation and work. Old orchards need not be pruned much, but by watching the water routs in June, and removing them then, is all that is really needful, they come out then and only leave a small hole which soon heals, while cutting one off only brings five forward. Dead limbs should be removed as soon as they become such. The rough bark should be kept off, as it is the chosen home of the codding moth. Scrape this bark off with some blunt hoe, and then apply a wash of strong lye or soap cuttings as high up as it can be put, do this each spring and the trees will be rich and glossy, and yield perfect fruit and foliage. Hogs should be kept in the orchards from the time the cider apples are gathered until the beginning of the next year's gathering; they keep the soil well stirred, eat the larvæ-of beetles, and manure the soil. Sheep are not worth half as much. Young orchards may be cultivated if care is taken to manure them well with forest soil or muck. Iron fillings at the roots are good for trees. Hogs and poultry are the benefactors of the orchards.

What Underdraining Does.

makes it porous, and therefore mellow at the touch of the plow. It makes the land work easier. It warms the ground in cool weather, and cools it in over hot weather. It is earlier in the spring, and later in the fall, in tillable condition. It assists the frosts to a great extent during the winter. Is indispensable to grow grain successfully, and grass that makes good butter and cheese. It is the cure of malaria; makes a country warmer; increases the value of land. It stands the heavy rains without harm, passing off the surplus water and retaining its fertility. It will bear stock on it earlier in the season, and sooner to know you have it. But, it must be done well, else there is a loss, often the loss of the whole labor.

Freezing will not Kill Cured Corn.

I wish in this to correct the erroneous opinion going the rounds of the press. It opinion going the rounds of the press. It is popularly supposed that a tenperature for did not degrees below zero will kill the germ of corn. This is not so, my corn was exposed to twenty-two degrees below zero CHIPPEWAS OF LAKE SUPERIOR.

The farmer delays husking his corn till a cold rain comes on, ending with a snow storm and freeze. The corn not yet thoroughly cured in the shock, is first saturated by the rain and then frozen and the germ is killed. Corn husked and thoroughly cured before cold weather comes on, may be carried to the North Pole and brought back and planted, and I will warrant it to grow. H. R. Beach, in Ohio Farme r.

Raising Calves. A correspondent of the New England Farmer says: "I allow the ealf to suck until the milk is fit to use and then toach it to drink; I give it milk warm from the cow a few times, and then a tea made from early cut hay, with one quart of new milk at a feed. When it gets a little older, I put in a handful of oat meal, increasing the quantity as it grows older. When it gets so that it eats hay, I stop giving milk, and in a few weeks stop the tea; I then give it warm water with oat meal, if yeight is a set of September 10th 1854, and third article treaty of September 10th 1854, and third article treaty of September 10th 1854, and third adollars and sixty is vice cuts. As soon as the nights become cool in the Fall, I put the calves in the barn. The first winter they are fed on good early cut hay and roots, if I have them, if not, I give them a little meal. Under this system I have large thrifty yearlings. They generally come in when they are two years old, and make the best of cows. I raise none but those from thorough-bred bulls."

Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines are considered superior to all others before the American public for the speedy and certain cure
of the diseases for which they are recommended.
Invalids, try them, and be convinced of the truth of what we assert. It is but ten months since they were first offered to the public, and to-day they are sold by first-class Druggists and Merchants in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jorsey, New York,
the Virginias, Ohio, Indiana, and the District of Columbia. Surely they are not humbugs or they would'nt be so highly commended by the intelligence of the most powerful states in all this fair land. They are classified so as to meet the most difficult diseases for which they are offered, not one medicine for all the diseases humanity is heir to.
