The columns of the JOURNAL are open to every body who wants to vent his feelings on a local hobby, but we insist upon it that the ventilator confine himself to the local possible space. A short horse is easy carried, and, besides this, he takes up very little room.

Dick & Fitzgerald, Book Publishers, New York City, will accept our thanks for four little volumes entitled respectively, "How to Conduct a Debate," "The Fireside Magazine," "The Art of Natural Man Made Easy," "The Yankee Cook Book," and "Jack Johnson's Jokes for the Jolly."

It is said that the Kumble Farmers have so much iron on hand that our friend Lander has a mind to take the contract, for the construction of the Southern Pacific, off of the hands of the Southern Construction Company, and complete it, using none but his own iron. It may be a false report, however.

The Harrisburg Synod of the Presbyterian Church, embracing the Presbyteries of Huntington, Carlisle, Northumberland and Wellsboro, met in the Great Island Presbyterian Church, Lock Haven, Oct. 23rd at 7 o'clock, P. M., and was opened by a sermon of the retiring Moderator, Conway P. Wing, D. D.

If some of our philanthropists could only be induced to turn their attention to the heathen boys that frequent our streets, instead of the heathen of New Zealand, they might do something practical. We have heard these little savages use more horrible oaths, in five minutes, than the real savages would in a lifetime.

Henry Davis, Sr., of West Washington, raised 427 bushels of corn on two and a half acres of land, last season. Mr. Davis had prepared the ground for tobacco, and falling in having it planted in time he put it in corn, with the above result. This shows what can be done on a small piece of ground if it is well farmed.

The editor of the Times is an excellent dramatic and musical critic. He knows just what an actor should sing in order to insure harmony, and prevent the music from "grating harshly on a sensitive musical ear" (the editor's ear), and he knows to a T the size of the boot worn by "the professor." He should have said further that harmony in music depends upon regularity of sound waves, that octaves are measured by doubles, and that a boot for beating time should be either a number two, four, eight or sixteen in intermediate numbers or fractions will answer.

Our friend Fisher, local of the Bedford Gazette, visited Huntington last week, and we were really glad to meet him. He has been abusing us like a Turk, for the longest time, but then we suppose it was all in a Pickwickian sense, and we most heartily forgive him. It's all right, John. Our string is always out. Drop in whenever you come to town.

A correspondent of the Mount Union Times takes the editor to task for not standing up against a half hour prayer, where aged ladies could stand it out. If they had been as dim-sighted as the editor of the Times, it is not likely they could have stood it out either. That correspondent should take a man of his own size when he wants to poke fun.

A neat tinted paper pamphlet, entitled "The Crowning Gift of Heaven," by John W. Welch, esq., "Bard of the Mountains," will be issued from the JOURNAL Job Office this week. It is a recital of the prominent scenes in the life of our Savior in most excellent verse. Mr. Welch has fine poetical talents and should be encouraged by our people. We hope that his pamphlet will meet with ready sale.

One of the most important cases on docket for trial, this week, is the Guss-Watson slander suit. The defence has subpoenaed a large number of witnesses to sustain the charges made and to show up the Plaintiff's character.

Satan's summons in the "Vision of Judgment," was not gone unheeded. Mr. Welch was not going to surrender to the temptation to avoid further exposure.

The editor of the Mount Union Times ought to get a dictionary or else employ a competent proof reader. He writes Hallowe'en "Hollowe'en," and he raves about "soft sower" as if there were such a thing. His knowledge of English Grammar, too, is refreshing.

Witness the following from last week's Times: "I was in the city of New York, and saw the slings in capital letters would shame an eighteenth century divine."

Temp. Taylor and Will Bare, when out hunting on Friday last, came upon a nest of bears within a mile of Shade Gap. There were four bears, two old and two young ones. The said Nimrods did not stop to parley with the bears. It is reported that Will didn't stop running until he reached Shade Gap, but we regard it as a terrible lie. A party was to go from Onondia on Sunday to find the bears.

In an article, copied in the last JOURNAL, from the New York Times, giving the banks represented by Lloyd, Hamilton & Co., of New York, the Philadelphia Banking Company, of Philadelphia, Centre county, was named.
