Washington, May 22, 1874.

THE BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM.

Something out of the usual routine of Washington life gave variety to the attractions and conversation yesterday. It was the marriage of the President's only daughter, and it is noted that this is the third wedding that has occurred at the White Honse.

White Honse.

When Gen. Grant was called to command in person the Army of the Potomac, his family prepared to leave their Western home, and subsequently followed him to Washington. At that time Miss Nellie was a mere child. She and her three brothers, two of them mere lads, could be seen nearly every pleasant day driving in a small, double-seated, four-wheeled carriage, drawn by two ponies. Soon after this the brothers left the city to complete their education, while Nellie remained with her mother, and pursued her studies in the city. Two years ago, at the age of seventeen, she accompanied the family of Mr. Borie, ex-Secretary of the Navy, on a visit to Europe. Returning she made the acquaintance of her future husband on the passage out. It was a case of love at first sight, followed by a mutual attachment. It is known that when Mr. Sartoris first sought the consented on conditions that Mr. Sartoris would become a citizen and Mr. Sartoris would we come to see him gaze if engaged in charging an enemy's battery.

The MARRIAGE CEREMONY.

About two hundred and fifty invitations were sent out, mainly to relatives and friends of the family; and fully one-half of those invited living in distant States, their attendance was not expected. About one hundred and twenty-five persons were present. It was the wish of the parents of the bride to avoid everything like an official coloring. No member of the Diplomatic Corps was present, excepting Mr. Minister Thornton, the official representative of England.

These celebrated Bitters are pure, safe and reliable; composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs with Citrate of Iron end pure native wine, made from the native grapes of California, the ingredients are choice, strengthening, purifying and life-giving medicinal agents, forming the most healthy and pleasant stimulating tonic and strengthening Bitters for improving the appetite, giving tone and vital energy to the Blood and System. For medicinal purposes, for family use, travelers, voyagers, etc., they cannot be surpassed.

These Bitters are in an eminent degree strengtheening, purifying, diuretic, stimulating and nourishing to the whole system, giving new life and activity to every organ and part alike, without that ever recursing reaction that follows the use of most all other tonics and stimulents in the market.

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detaiting the availability of these Bitters, but will oriefly state its general effects upon the human syestem, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It requalizes the circulation of the Blood. It requalizes the blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the Body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operations of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after cating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a natid and effications stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It desiroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It promotes buoyancy of spirit and feeling. It banishes these clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which root away those distressing symptoms which root for the province in the condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.
