Laws Relating to Newspaper Subscriptions and Arrearages.

The following is the law relating to newspape

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the cot trary, are considered wishing to continue their suit travy, are considered wishing to continue their sub-acription,

 If subscribers order the discontinuance of their peri-odicals, the publishersmay continue to send them untit all arrearges are paid.
 If subscribers neglect or refuse io take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they pare settled their bills, and order-ed them discontinued.
 If subscribers more to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former di-rection, they are held responsible.
 Two Courts have decided that "refusing to inke period-called for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraue".
 Any person who receives a newspaper and maker use of it, where the mass ordered it or not, is held in law to be a subscribers in the manner of the note it is not and be a subscriber. If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to gi-notice to the publisher, at the end of their time, if the do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the pr Isher is authorized to send it on, and the subscrib-will be responsible until an express notice, with payme of all arrears, is scat to the publisher.
