A PPLETON'S JOURNAL

APPLETON'S JOURNAL.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL is a magazine of weekly issue, devoted to popular literature, science, art, education and social development.

Its characteristic feature is comprehensivenese—its contents including choice serial novels, the best attainable short stories, papers of adventure and travel, illustrated descriptions of places, sketches, with portraits of distinguished people, essays on social, literary and other topics, of popular interest; with a full survey of dorings in literature, art, science, music, the drama, and movements in education and social life.

The purpose is to farnish a periodical which will give, in addition to an ahundance of entertaining popular literature, contributed by writers of acknowledged standing, a thorough survey of the progress of thought, the advance of the arts, and the doings in all the higher branches of intellectual effort.

It should be noted that, in pursuance of this plan, the space at our disposal is far more extensive than that of the magazines issued in monthly form, at the same yearl, subscription. The fifty-two numbers of Aprantor's Journal, forming one year's issue, contain one-third more literary material than the twelve corresponding issues of the largest of the monthlies, and, of course, a much larger proportion in excess of the smaller ones. We may add that a candid examination will show that, with greater quentity, there is no inferior quality of literary production.

For those who prefer it, the Journal is put up in Moxtury Parts, and in this form its cope end variety, as compared with other magazines, become conspicuously apparent.
