BY DENNIS O'RAFFERTY.

The infant year but nine days ould, Yet gray wid frasty brazes; Assumed an air so mighty cowld. Me thoughts e'en now it frazes. I hurried down the frozen bill Where shtood me cheerless shanty The fire-place wid wood to fill,

Right glad that wood was plenty. But as the sperrit in the tube So swiftly sank from vision; The sperrits of this poet rude Approached the same condition. In vain we piled the fuel high.

No hate its glow imparted; We sat around the chimney nigh Not broke but frozen-hearted Me mate was frozen in the pan.

Me coffee-pot froze over; lee tearlets down me fatures ran As big as heads of clover. Wid all me clothes upon me back, Me head wrapped in a blanket; Had I possessed some swate cognac I fear I should have dhrank it.

I thried to warm meself by flights Of swate immagination; To stand upon Mount Hecla's height, A longed-for situation. But though it sills the author's sheet.

And elevates the poet; 'Tis not so good for frazing feet,-I've thried it and I know it It froze me nose, likewise me toes, This heavy dose o' shiver; It penetrated all me clothes Clane through beyant me liver

A wasking icicle I am. So dapely did it chill me; But shure, me friends, it's glad I am, Because it didn't kill me.

J. R. DURBORROW, Esq .- Dear Sir :- I hope you will allow me space in your most excel-lent paper to let your readers know what is doing in the Clearfield county Coal regions, or doing in the Clearheld county Coal regions, or especially the Morrisdale Coal Company, composed of the following gentleman: R. B. Wigton, of Philadelphia, Col. Wm. Dorris, of your ancient borough, and D. W. Holt, esq., of Philipsburg, Center county. The mines are the ones suited for the positions they now hold, there being a large number of men under their supervision. The Company at pres ent is shipping about four hundred and fifty tons per day. On the 9th of February five hundred tons were shipped. At the present time Morrisdale Mines are making the largest shipments of any Company on the mountain. The present demand is so great that some of the miners work on night turns. The office and books of the Company are under the charge of W. H. Lingenfelter and son, who are well qualified to attend to the numerous books under their care. Their large store, stocked with a well selected lot of goods, is doing a thriving business, and they are selling goods at panic prices. This store is one of the lagrest in the county. It is under the care of S. E. Hedding, an experienced hand and one well calculated for the business. He is from Hancock, Md., and is assisted by O. S. The Country Gentleman .- No farmer should ttempt to conduct his agricultural labors merely on his own knowledge or experience, but should always avail himself of the experience of others by reading the reports of their doings. This course will enable him virtually to commence his operations where thers end, and thus secure great advantages. After his local paper, every farmer needs a good agricultural paper, and we know of none that commends itself more 'highly to the confidence of this important class of industrial aborers than the Country Gentleman.
