Laws Relating to Newspaper Subscriptions and Arrearages.

The following is the law relating to newspapers an 1. Substribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered wishing to continue their sul outcais, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrearinges are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills, and order-ed them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former di-rection, they are held responsible.

The Courts have decided that "refusing to take periodi-cals from the office, or removing and teaving them un-and teacher the office, or removing and teaving them un-called for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, is held in law to be a subscriber.

If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice to the publisher, at the end of their time, if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it on, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrears, is sent to the publisher.

A Love Tale.

BY A. BIGGE PHULE. That Brooklyn City love affair, Astounds the yankee nation; Creating, o'er this goodly land A number one sensation

They teach us from the sacred desk, Fraternal love to cherish; As also, love to God's own son, Without which all must perish

And if it is the will of God, That each should love his brother: Impartial love presents the claim Of sister and of mother. What matter if the love partake

A little of the carnal; The incense of the holy one Will scent the loathsome charnel But love must every heart pervade,-Discrimination totters;

Outliving far her usefulness. Dismaying virtue's daughters No wonder that throughout the land, The people are astounded; For who on earth e'er heard of love So hopelessly confounded.

They Mrs. Tilton first accuse Of loving Mr. Beecher; That is, for stepping o'er the line 'Twixt pupils and their teacher.

The saintly priest of sixty-five Falls dead in love with Lizzie; When she, upon his reverend knee, Declares she feels quite dizzy. Another lady, who revered The man of classic diction; His form within a blanket wrapt, Which proved a firm restriction.

Affection's fountain, he who sang The "Aimer Aimer" sonnet; Neath free love's car his body flung, And hung his harp upon it.

And when his love for Vic grew cool, This beauty's throne, discerner, Fell prostrate at the pretty feet Of youthful Bessie Turner.

But Moulton's love the climax caps, It reaches Julie to level: 'Tis general, but Tracy thinks It issues from the devil.

Thus Beecher's love, and Tilton's love, By taking strange directions, Have caused all parties to indulge In heathen-like reflections But Moulton's love embraces all-
