MAJ. GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT. STATE TREASURER : HENRY RAWLE, of Erie.

A PLEA FOR A KNAVE.

Our good-natured and humorous friend, of the Blair County Radical, received our few little rapier thrusts of last week, with a wry face, but he did the best he could, under the circumstances, to make the public believe that he had not lost his usual good temper. He is such a graceful and even-tempered knave, that we cannot help admiring his skill in this line, and we would approvingly remark that, if he continues to practice this sort of thing, for a score or two of years, he may become an expert. But he still insists that we were in favor of the admission, into the State Convention, of both sets of delegates from of being "good-natured" is such a pleasant politics and the Republican party, and much grieved indeed-that we fear that ume. He never feels, like can State Central Committee for Huntingthe generality of politicians, that a mean don county, a highly deserved compliment thing is fair in politics. His extremely has been tendered. Capt. Johnston has drive on. Cabbage is a fovorite ingredopen, bland, cheerful countenance always labored hard and incessantly for Republi- ient in their dishes; rice is the staple, smiles patronizingly upon the ways of can principles and this acknowledgement and they consume for meats and livers, "the boys." The wicked State Ring has was very timely. We should have made pluck and neck pieces-I don't know taken advantage of this, and behind their this statement in his behalf earlier, but full hands have said, sub voce, "What a neglected it, but we make it with much dried fish from China, and a great many a gosling he is !" We wept bitterly for our good-natured friend when Advocate, edited and printed by W. W. plain his strange hallucination in regard well. to the editor of this paper being controlled by others. It is very evident that he has been imposed upon as usual. In fact we might make apologies, by the hour, for his numerous very queer political freaks, all of which are familiar to us, but our Republican friends in Blair county, will understand why it is, that while Mr. King is not owned by anybody, yet by means of his extremely flexible nature, he has been raking the chestnuts out of the fire, for many months, for some extremely ugly monkeys. We regret to say that good nature makes Mr. King a very valuable auxiliary of the Democrats of Blair county and a very heavy load for the Republicans. It may be possible that to hide his hideousness at home and satisfy those whose tool he wants to be, that Mr. King has, good naturedly of course, been induced to take a great interest in our affairs. Now a few words in justice to Messrs. Brown and Musser. The article in question was written and in type before either of them knew anything about the position that would be taken by the JOURNAL in regard to the admission of both sets of labor went up to an absurd price. The bears have had a small harvest out of Pennsylvania Railroad stock, and a 259 concentrated and exhausted effort was made within the last three days to hammer it down to $45, but the market was too stiff even under a well-concerted asbound a dollar a share in a short time. Yesterday the battle was renewed by the bears, and they had it down to $481, but it rallied and the market closed strong at $498. The disastrous failure of the New York and Erie, although there was nothing in it that was unexpected, threw a damper upon railroad securities, and the bears seized upon the occasion to break Pennsylvania on the market. The wildest rumors were carefully concocted and systematically circulated as to the indefinite duration and incalculable losses of the company by reason of the railroad war with the Baltimore and Ohio. "There's millions in it"-of losses, to the Pennsylvania, was the battle cry of the bears as they pressed their opportunity, and the reports of the diminution of freights were calculated to convey the idea that the company could not pay its next dividend out of net earnings. Our reporter visited the scene of the battle on Third street, and witnessed the anxious faces of speculators as they rushed to and from broker's offices, and to and from the board, and heard the thousand and one rumors as they floated from the last inventive resources of the bull or bear, as each in turn supplied the street with all manner and on the street, with now and then a nasty as nasty can be; and a Chinese all the transactions reported as sales were butcher's stall is about the most unsavory but gambling bets between the bulls and
