In the summer of 1862, when a number of Concord vines that were planted in 1861, were growing rapidly, a severe storm cut up the young shoots, completely defoliating them, and breaking the tender and succulent shoots at a height of about two feet. The vines were growing rapidly, and the dormant buds in the axits of the leaves immediately pushed out laterals, which made very fair sized canes. In the following fall, when we commenced to prune, we found from three to five of these strong laterals on each cane, and accordingly shortened them in to from three to five or six buds each. On these laterals we raised as fine a crop of grapes as we ever saw, certainly much finer than we had ever before raised on the strong canes; and we have since learned to imitate hail storms by pinching the leaders of young shoots when they have grown, say two feet, forcing out the laterals, and growing our fruit on the latter, thus meeting with another illustration of the old proverb, another illustration of the old proverb, "It is an ill wind that blows nobody

After the second pinching of the fruit bearing branches, as described above, the laterals will generally start once more, and we pinch the young growth again to one leaf, thus giving each lateral two well developed leaves. The whole course should be completed about the middle of June here, and whatever grows afterward should be left. In closing, let us glance at the objects we have in view:

1. To keep the vine within proper bounds, so that it is at all times under the control of the vintner, without weakening its constitution by robbing it of a great amount of foliage.

2. Judicious thinning of the fruit at a time when no vigor has been expended in its development

3. Developing strong, healthy foliage, by foreing the growth of the laterals, and having two young, healthy leaves opposite each bunch which shade the fruit and serve as conductors of the sap to the fruit.

4. Growing vigorous canes for next year's fruiting and no more, thereby making them stronger; as every part of the vine is thus accessible to light and air, the wood will ripen better and more uni-

5. Destruction of noxious insects. As the vintaer has to look over each shoot of the vine, this is done more thoroughly and systematically than by any other means .-The Grape Culturist.

Dogs as Sheep Protectors.

I used to breed eattle, but having a natural fondness for sheep, and an opportunity to purchase a couple of Scotch colley shepherd dogs removing my fears on the score of destruction by mongrel curs, which deters so many from keeping sheep I concluded to try the experiment which has resulted so satisfactorily.

In my stock of 100 ewes I have half dozen bells, and in case of danger the sheep all run to the dogs for protection. This familiarity between the dogs and sheep, with the watchful care exercised, is one of the prettiest sights in the world. These faithful guardians of the flock are ever on the alert day and night. The rapid tinkling of the bells at once arouses the dogs; and about three weeks ago, in the middle of the night, I heard an unusual disturbance among the sheep, but was so confident that the dogs would be equal to the emergency, that I did not come down stairs. In the morning I had the satisfaction of seeing one of the worthless curs which go prowling about at night lying stone dead along the fence, with marks on him of a desperate fight. I should say, however, that I made one cross by putting my shepherd dog to a Newfoundland slut, and kept the choicest of the litter. He has proved a fine, large dog, about twice the weight of either of the shepherds, and though never interfering in what he seems to consider their especial duty, is always on hand ready for ser-

It is curious to observe how, when strange dogs cross the place, the two shepherd dogs will take a survey, and if they see much business (they are themselves great fighters), by a kind of silent understanding and arrangement the three dogs go together; and although we in this country are overrun with all kinds of dogs, here seems to be a general fear of my three dogs, and we are seldom disturbed. I recommend the purchase of one or two good shepherd dogs as the very first step toward keeping sheep .- Practicle Farmer.

Alderberry Brandy.

The following has been furnished as a good recipe for making brandy, which it is said will be found a valuable remedy in cases of dysentery and weakness, with which so many persons suffer during the months of summer: Select the ripest alderberries you can find, and after picking them from the stems, add two quarts of water to five quarts of berries, and boil well; then mash and strain through a colander. After the juice is extracted, add two quarts of water, half an ounce of the quarter at the office of delivery. add two quarts of water, half an ounce of whole cloves, half an ounce of whole allspice, two grated nutmegs, one tablespoonful of powdered ginger, one of cinnamon, and a little lemon and orange peeling. Boil all well for three hours over a slow fire, and then add five pounds of sugar. After cooling, strain through a flannel bag. Then add two quarts of the best Monongahela whisky, or good brandy, according to taste. The above will keep for years, and will be found a wholesome drink and an excellent medicine, which few will refuse to accept.

To REMOVE STINGS .- In many cases instantaneous relief from the pain can be obtained by pressing upon the place containing the sting with the tube of a small key. This extracts the sting and then a drop of sque emmonia will neutralize the acidity of the poison, and allay the smart acidity of the poison, and allay the smart of the wound. OF A POLICEMAN.

I have not enjoyed good health for several years paret have not allowed it to interfere with my labor. yery one belonging to the laboring class knows the 'lowenteneo of being obliged to labor when the bod om deblity, almost refuses to perform its daily task. There are many of my acquaintances who have taken and all unite is praise of its satisfactory effect.

Especially among the aged class of people, it imparts them the one thing most needful in old age—nights calm, sweet repose, thereby strengthening the mind, well as the body. One aged lady, who has been suffering through life from Scrofula, and has become blind frow its effects, having tried many remedies with no favorable result.

MAKE IT PUBLIC.

H. R. STEURS, ESS;

Dear Sir—I have heard from very many sources of the great success of VEGETINE in cases of Scrotula, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Catarrh and other diseases of kindred nature. I make no hesitation in saying that I know VEGETINE to be the most reliable remedy for Catarrh and General Debility.

My wife has been troubled with Catarrh for many years, at times very badly, She has thoroughly tried every supposed remedy that we could hear of, and with all this she has for several years been gradually growing worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very offensive.

worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very offensive.

She was in this condition when she commenced to take YECETINE; I could see that she was improving on the second bottle. She continued taking the VECETINE until she had used from twelve to fifteen bottles. I am now happy is informing you and the public (if you choose to make it public) that she is entirely cured, and VECETINE incomplished the cure after nothing else would.—

Mence I feel justified in saying that VECETINE is the most reliable remedy, and would advise all suffering humanity to try it, for I believe it to be a good, honest, vegetable medicine, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it. I am, &c., respectfully,

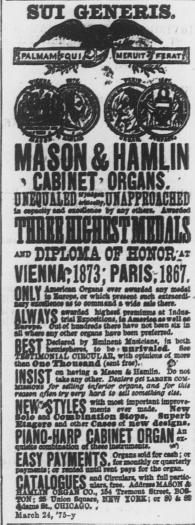

L. C. BARDELL,

HAS ENTIRELY CURED ME.

Mr. Strans:

Dear Bir—My daughter, after having a severe attack of whooping cough was left in a very feeble state of health. Being advised by a friend she tried the Vaotrine, and after using a few bottles was fully restored to health. I have been a great sufferer from Rhemmatism. I have taken several bottles of the Vaotrine for this complaint, and are happy to say it has entirely cured me. I have recommended the Vaotrine with the same good results. It is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood it is pleasant to take; and I can cheerfully recommend it.

Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a lite-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to.
