We are often surprised at the readiness with which some people are "gulled" or imposed upon by itinerant tree peddlers and we have in mind several instances where considerable sums of money have been paid for trees and shrubs, a considerable portion of which failed to live, as might have been expected, and others turned out quite different kinds from what they had been represented to be and from what were wanted by the purchasers. It is never safe to buy of such tramps. Go to the regular nursery-men and buy the best, cost what they will.
The Geneva, N. Y., horticultural society, in warning farmers against patronizing such peddlers, says: For several years past various gangs of men have canvassed different portions of the country with samples of fruits in glass jars, and large numbers of people have become victims of their fraudulent practices .-These men do not grow the stock themselves, but have it packed in different parts of the country wherever they can buy the cheapest trees .-One of the gangs which had been operating during the past season in Central New York and New England is now engaged in packing in this place. The fruit shown by them in their glass jars is seldom of the variety represented by them, but consists of the largest specimens they can obtain-is named arbitrarially to suit the purpose even when it is real, but it is often of wax, and being in liquid the deception is not perceived by the purchaser. Again, the stock is packed in a way well calculated to screen it from observa-tion, being baled the entire length in rye straw, and is shipped hundreds of miles without being boxed to protect it and without moss sufficient to keep the roots moist. Three days of such treatment cannot fail to injure the hardiest tree, while this stock is often necessarily on the road for weeks. That this fraud may be en- REPORT FROM A PRACTICAL tirely successful customers are warned by the imposters not to open their trees, as exposure would injure them. And the victim is thus usually home before he discovers the fraud. In this manner the most worthless stock is packed, and often by a method known as "shingling," the bales are made to appear several feet longer than the trees really are. They pay no attention in packing to have the varieties labeled correctly, but mix different fruit and different varieties of the same this promiscuously and label from this mixture to suit the orders, regardless of the selection of the customers. The prices obtained by these parties are simply fabulous, and often are for plants that do not exist. For instance, they sell a strawberry plant which they call "the Alpine-tree strawberry" (a "thing" unknown to nursery-men) at an enormous price, and deliver a plant of some common variety. Every artifice of the practicle swindler is em-UNEQUALED MIDDLED ON LINE OF THE PROPERTY OF T ployed by these men. are dry and worthless.

M. Pety, a French veterinary surgeon, draws attention to the liability of horses and cattle suffering from indigestion from the consumption of forage in a humid or musty state. It is from over-feeding this complaint is ordinarily produced, or to the too rapid transition from dry to unlimited green food. Another very common cause is, the putting of animals to work immediately after their feed. The giving of chaff BOOTS and the refuse of the threshing machine is also another principal source, as well as excessively cold water; and above all, allowing the animal to drink out of marshes. A animal to drink out of marshes. A little salt or a handful of meal is excellent in the drinks. Old animals ought never to be given too much food at once, and it should be ever mixed with a little straw. When the horse shows symptoms of indigestion, restlessness, suddenly regular attention paid to the manufacture of customer work, and orders solicited. Satisfaction guaranteed in all orders to all orders of customer work, and orders solicited. ought never to be given too much gestion, restlessness, suddenly refusing food, resting on one leg, then | guaranteed in all orders. on another, the head drooping and seeking the left flank, its excrements either hard or liquid, etc., an DRUGS, DRUGS, DRUGS. excitant, as three ounces of kitchen salt or a glass of gin in a bottle of water will afford relief, or an infusion of chamomile or sage. In case pain exists, two spoonsful of laudanum will prove excellent. Of course, soap injection, friction and fumigations are not to be overlooked. Bleeding in case of grain indigestion becomes mortal.

THE USE OF CURRY COMBS.

Most farmers (or many, and we would like to say all) keep curry-combs, cards, brushes and the like in the horse-barn, and use them daily, but how many cows throughout the country ever had a card or a brush applied to their sides? The dairy cows come out of the stables in the spring looking more filthy than the swine in the gutter. Does it pay to keep the cattle clean? Ask any intelligent man if it pays to use the brush on his horses, and then ask FOR him to point out the reason why it does not pay equally as well to give the cows the same attention and care. - Our Dumb Animals.

THE MEDICINE THAT CURES

demand, Vegetine may be many cuttured to be medicine of the age.

For Scrofula in the blood, Vegetine is an infallible remedy, and no person need suffer from tumors, ulcers, and all diseases arising from impure blood, if Vegetine is used according to directions. There is not a case of Scrofula in existence that Vegetings will not cure, provided, however, the vital functions have not lost their power of action, all that may be said to the contrary not withstanding.

was taking various remedies for my oloced without any substantial benefit.

I then went to a prominent physician in Boston, who, during his treatment of six months, lanced the tumor eight times, which cost me nearly $400. This left me with a rough, aggravated sore, without at all diminishing the size of the tumor, and in a sickly feeble condition. I consulted another physician in Natick, who, after considerable time, succeeded in healing the sore without reducing the size. At this point I commenced to use Vegb-TIKE, through the earnest persuasion of a friend-22 After I had taken this medicine about one week I experienced wonderful sensations. My whole body seemed to be undergoing a radical change, until finally, the tumor broke and discharged frightful quantities. From this time it decreased in size until the bunch disappeared, but my neck still bears the ugly scars of the sore and lance. I am now heatily and strong and able to work every day.

I will also mention that I have been an acute sufferer from inflammatory reunantism ever since I can remember, until commencing the use of Vzuetine, when almost immediately all thermatic pains ceased. The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give lucidity and forcet to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufacturers. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.
