> JOHN L. CAMPBELL Secretary of the of the United States Centennial Commission makes the following suggestion:

It seems proper that the local celebration of the fourth of July, 1876, which will be held throughout the land, should be made to contribute to a permanent historical memorial of the Centennial Celebration. In each county provisions should be made for the delivery of an address tracing the history of that particu lar community for the past century, or from the time of its settlement, and including a sketch of its growth, its resources, industries, prospects, etc. These addresses should be published in a uniform size,-that of the Congressional documents, for instance,-in order that they may be bound together by States. To competent persons the preparation of such addresses would not be an unduly burdensome task; but in the aggregate they would constitute an invaluable historical repository such as no nation has ever had the opportunity to collect.

Designations of the historians ought to be made without delay, in order that they may have time to accomplish their work. It is to be hoped that the press will give general circulation to the project, and that each journal will see to its consummation in its own locality, and that the slight expense involved be assumed by the county or town authorities.

A RETRACTION .- Mr. Editor :- In your ssue of April 8th, 1874, there is published, over my signature, what purports to be a plain state-ment of the Porter Township case. When writng out what I believed to be the material facts n the case I thought I was doing it impartial ly, but my attention having been lately called to some particular points in the case, I find that under the influence of the very strong the testimony of Messrs. In May of the same year I wrote a letter to Mr. Gilbert Horning concerning the Directors of the Poor for passing what I believed to be a fraudulent bill, presented by Mr. Laird for supplies furnished the family of Authony Maze. Mrs. Maze kept an account of what they received and in comparing it with Mr. Laird's bill I found a very great difference in the amount. It appears from the statements made by the Directors themselves that the Maze family received aid from Mr. Laird for a considerable time before the order for relief was granted and that they had received other items for which Mr. Laird had not a credit in

THE DOMESTIC MONTHLY .- The Jan nary number of this excellent and well-known nagazine comes to us well filled as usual, with nteresting information concerning the Fashons. It opens with a "Review of Fashion," presenting a complete resume of all the novelies now in favor in every department of the toilet. Following this appear interesting essays on the various individual topics of Fashions, providing al! the information necessary for the practical guidance and instruction o every lady concerning dress at this season. The number contains numerous illustrations of stylish costumes, articles of lingerie, fancy and needle-work, and a very handsome colored plate, representing a number of fashionable toilettes. The literary contents are, as usual, of a high class, and very interesting. The novelette, "A Mother-in-law," begun in this number, promises to be exceedingly entertaining. There also appear several very good short stories, a number of fine poems, which together with the usual Miscellency, Small Talk, Art and Literary notes, etc., help to make up a very attractive number. Ladies in want of a first-class, refined, and useful fashion and literary magazine should not fail to subscribe to this admirable monthly. Said Inkhorn to Tape, in a whisper : "Of what did the menial die?"

"I've heard," said the other, a nazedly,
"The fool choked to death on a lie." Enraged, I was moving toward thim, To lay the two flat on the sod, Whin me eve caught the form of Tim Dolan,
Procading to work, wid his hod.

I slipped inself into a corner,
I knew that some fun would ensue;
For Tim was a nimble-tongued fellow,
And soon to the rescue he flew. "What's that you were saying, young fellow, About the demise of the bard; And was it a lie shure, that choked him? Begob thin he must have died hard.

"Twere folly, I know, in the poet, Untrained, such a feat to essay; for oh had he been but a lawyer It would not have been his last lay. "For they, being used to such diet, Grow fat as a filly on grass; But poets are full of wild fancies, And suffer the penance, alas.

EXPENSIVE TOBACCO WORKS .- Th Giant Tobacco Works" of Louisville, Ky., are the most extensive of the kind in the West ern country. The business of this house has been steadily increasing for years and the pro prietors found that larger quarters were necessary in order to meet the greatly increased de mands for their superior goods. The PITTS-BURGH GAZETTE of a recent date says: GIANT TOBACCO WORKS.

"We observe that the above named works ocated at Louisville, Ky., and of which the Messrs. Musselman & Co., are proprietors, have removed to an establishment much mor commodious and of much greater capacity. Their works are now located on Ninth and Jefferson streets and, extending to Greene sary, Buffalo, N. Y. Agents wanted to sell this value street, have a frontage eighty feet, and a depth of two hundred and ten feet, with a capacity of three million pounds per annum. They are the manufacturers of chewing tobacco, but make a specialty of "Giant" and "Ironside" navy brands, which have a reputation among users of the weed second to no other. Messrs. Musselman & Co., belong to that class of manufacturers who prefer a good name to the accumulation of wealth by a mushroom popularity, and therefore their tobaccos are prepared to the end that they may increase in popularily and be productive of satisfactory results wherever used. Dealers are invited to a trial of their brands, as possessing the virtues of excellence and cheapness." Read their advertisement in this paper.

It is cheering, in these days of financial dis ress, to pop into Henry & Co.'s and see pro prietors and clerks as busy as nailors, weigh ing out coffee and sugar, cutting off cloths and cashmeres, rolling up packages of clothing, fitting on boots and shoes, and their large store room filled with customers waiting on their chance to be served. The Maintenance of Health.

The maintenance of health is often more ifficult than its recovery. Vitiated conditions of the atmosphere, unhealthy occupa tions, extremes of heat or cold, and constan exposure to rough weather, are all so many provocations of disease. There is but one ure way of effectually gnarding the system when thus subjected to influences prejudicial to health, and that is to establish, by judicious tonic and alterative medication, vigor of the body and regularity of its functions. The properties of an invigorant and corrective ar happily combined in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, at the same time that it in fuses unwonted vitality into the system, over comes all tendency of the stomach, live bowels and urinary organs to deviate from regularity in the discharge of functions upon which the welfare of the entire physicial organization is dependent. Health cannot be more effectually maintained than by using the Bitters. Jan. 7-1m.

How many wretched homes in our land? How man heart-broken invalids? Life with many signifies a mer onerous existence. All are subject to disease, but when health is removed the hope is nearly gone out. Sickness is usually incurred through exposure or carelessness Especially is this true with those diseases peculiar to w man. Through her own imprudence and folly she is made to drag out a miserable existence—a source of an-noyance and anxiety to her friends, and anything but a comfort and pleasure to herself. Exposure to the cold at times when she should be most prudent, and overtar-ing her body with laborious employment, are both fruit-ful causes of many of the maindies from which she suffer-gradually the bloom leaves her cheeks, her lips grow ashy white, her vivacity departs, she continually exper iences a feeling of weariness and general languor, and al-together presents a ghostly appearance. What does she need? Should she take some atfinulating drug, which will for the time make her "feel better," or does her entire system demand reparation? She requires something which only will restore to health the diseased organs, but will tone and invigorate the system. Dr. Pierce's Favor ite Prescription will do this. It imparts strengh to the diseased parts, brings back the glow to health, and restore comfort where previously there was only suffering. mon Sense Medical Adviser," in which over fifty page are devoted to the consideration of these diseases peculia to Woman. It will be sent post-paid, to any address for $1.50. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's dispen

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

HUNTINGDON, December 17, 1875. EDITOR JOURNAL-Dear Sir :- In my travels I have had the pleasure, several times, of passing through the beautiful valley of Trough Creek, from one end to the other, and have finally come to the conclusion that it is the garden spot of Hun tingdou county, "State of Shaver's Creek" no we have heard it said that the Good Man had more trouble with the farmers there than any place else in the world, to regulate the weather, and to make the crops and prices to suit, but we have grumblers everywhere.— It is an excellent quality of red shale land, underlaid with gray limestone.

I am glad to see the Directors are becoming enlightened, at least, on the subject of educa tion in Union Township. From Mill Creek to Calvin all the schools are taught by ladies, four in number, and we venture the assertion there will be very few, if any, better schools taught in the county than these four. I hope the time is not far distant, when nine-tenths A BRILLIANT WEDDING.—The wed-ding at the Franklin House, on Tuesday eve-ladies. I would suggest, as the time is coming for electing township officers, that Cass and Union townships, especially, in order to keep up the present condition of their roads, be sure to re elect their present Supervisors; if I knew them I certainly would go to some pains to at the very low price of 85 cents per serv. These inners or lands are heavily timbered with Sugar, Poplar, Gaeumber, Wild Cherry, Hickory, Ash, Locust, White Linn and Oak.

A projected railfroad, of which fifteen miles are graded, must run through these lands. They are, when cleared, among the very best lands for Grass, Oats, Potatoes, Core, Ryo, Wheat, &c., and not surpassed for Wood growing and general grazing purposes. Coal has been discovered on one of these tracts and Iron Oreon mosther.
