GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gratulations of the State and Nation. We have assembled to dedicate ourselves anew to the performance of the duties of the responsible trusts confided to our care.

At the end of the last fiscal year there remained in the Sinking Fund the sum of one hundred and thirty-four thousand two hundred and fifty-nine dollars and cents.

The condition of the finances of the State, as exhibited in the subjoined statement, demonstrates clearly the ability of our people to pay all their indebtedness as it accrues, and is an interesting commentary upon the stability and efficiency of our tax system.

children? There will be little hope for our institutions, when we cease to be grateful to those who bled or died in their behalf. No more responsible charge, and one which does more honor to her head and heart, has been assumed by the Commonwealth than these schools for the support and instruction of our soldiers' orphans; and it is of the gravest importance that this trust should be administered not only in good faith to the State, but with a special view to the comfort and careful education of these unfortunate children.

The years have elapsed since the close of the war, and many of the children of our deceased soldiers have reached years of maturity. Every year the number for whom the State must provide becomes less, and it is apparent that there is no necessity for the continuance of so many schools of this kind, and that under the present system, with the number of pupils decreasing each year, and the receipts for their maintenance and instruction correspondingly diminishing, the proprietors of these schools cannot conduct them without loss or necessarily reducing the food, clothing or tuition of the children. These proprietors are paid a stipulated sum for the care, tuition, clothing and food of each child. The sum paid is upon a basis that gives to each school, we will suppose, two hundred children. It is manifest, when this number is reduced to one hundred, and all arrangements have been made for the care of an instruction of two hundred, either the proprietors or the children must suffer; and to rescue both from any misfortune, I recommend that the Superintendent of Public Instruction be authorized to direct the sale of the best schools to the most advantageous points, to which shall be transferred all the children for whom provision is now made, and that this process continue until the last orphan child is educated. Under this system, there will be no temptation to maintain these schools perhaps to the detriment of the children, and the State will be relieved of a burden which is properly and fully bestowed.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT. There is no political problem that, at the present time, occasions so much just alarm, and is obtaining more serious and anxious thought than the government of cities, whose administration in many sections of the country, is fraught with perils not only to the material prosperity of our people but to the welfare and permanence of the republic. It is not therefore to be wondered that the public mind is so much agitated by the charges and counter charges of public affairs, as well as those who are concerned for the good and honor of the country, to carefully and diligently inquire into the causes of these mischiefs that attend upon the rule of our cities, and see if they spring from or are the actual development of any inherent defect in the existing systems of government. careless limit can and should be fixed. The principal source of abuse is not to be found in the manner of raising, but in the manner of expending the money. It is the power to do that which is done and not those who do it, wherein we must find the evil. Displace those who do the present local Legislatures, and others will take their positions who will soon be given to like practices.

We must not forget that there is a grave danger in the concentration of power in the hands of a few individuals, and that the public interest is best served by a distribution of power among many hands. It is the duty of the Legislature to provide for the most efficient administration of the public affairs of the State.
