Republican State Convention.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION, HARRISBURG, FEBRUARY 1, 1876. In pursuance of a resolution of the Republican State Committee, adopted at a meeting held in Harrisburg this day, a Republican State Convention, to be composed of delegates from each Senatorial and Representative district, to the number to which such district is entitled in the Legislature...

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE. A SOLDIER'S VIEWS.

TODD TOMPKINS, Feb. 18, 1876. EDITOR JOURNAL.—Dear Sir—I see that Prof. Guss expresses himself, in the last Globe, on the local robbery case, at Canville, by young Flaanagan, and, as usual, indirectly, to put the guilt of this crime on others. I would just say that Dr. Guss is one of the most honest, upright men in the town in which he lives, and it would not be the place of this paper to say that Dr. Guss is one of the most honest, upright men in the town in which he lives, and it would not be the place of this paper to say that Dr. Guss is one of the most honest, upright men in the town in which he lives...

We are advised from Harrisburg that it is not necessary to pay any attention to the Professor's little bill for damages. They know the man. The movement, in favor of Gov. Hartranft for President, is gaining ground daily. But few men, if any, could run a heavier horse than he could. The State of Pennsylvania would respond with a heavier majority than she did for Grant the last time.

THE SOUTHERN HEART FIRED.

Robert Tombs made a characteristic speech before the Democratic members of the Georgia Legislature a week or two ago, in favor of a State constitutional convention. He denounced the present Constitution as made by "poor ignorant savages led by rogues," saying: "In 1865, when, as a punishment for our sins, our great cause fell, they came down upon us—you saw the soldiers when they overran us down here—the Prussian, the Low Dutchman, the Irishman and, worse than all the Yankee thief." He continued as follows:

"We got a good many honest fellows into the first Legislature, but I will tell you how we got them there. I will tell you the truth. The newspapers won't tell it to you. We got them there by carrying the black vote by intimidation and bribery, and I helped to do it! I would have scorned the people if they had not done it! And I will buy them as long as they put beads to go to the ballot box! No man should be given the elective franchise who has not the intelligence to use it properly. The rogues should not have it, for government is made to punish him; the fool should not have it, for government is made to take care of him! Now these miserable wretches—the Yankees—have injected five millions of savages into the stomach of our body politic, and the man who says he accepts negro suffrage, I say, accused be! I will accept everything; I will accept Grant and empire before I will accept such a Democrat."

Our Harrisburg Letter.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18, 1876. Revision of Tax Laws.—The House has passed the House and Final Appropriation—More Work and Less Talk—Three Bills Passed Finally.

The bill to revise and codify the tax under consideration in the Ways and Means Committee of the House will make important changes. It abolishes the corporate tax on the income of all corporations, and substitutes a flat tax of twenty-five cents. There shall be no State tax levied, but each county shall pay its proportionate share, the tax to be paid to the State Treasurer. It also provides for the election of township treasurers. Tracts of land lying in two counties or districts, and which are situated on which the farm or mansion house stands. The bill of the House, so recently vetoed last winter, has been improved. It raises the cost of about $4,000, and will be put in, open at the top, through which will be brought in the larger reports of the Bureau of Statistics, Insurance and Railroad Reports will not occur. The movement for Harrisburg for the Presidency, headed by M. S. Quay, Secretary of the Convention, has this feature in it: It is necessary for Pennsylvania, to make herself felt, to go to the National Convention with a solid delegation, and under no one can the different elements composing the Republican party be so well united as under Mr. Quay. He is Pennsylvania's choice for the office of President.

The bill was recalled from the House. Its provisions don't suit the members in the anthracite region, who think the bill is a corporation scheme to capture them and lock them up. The bill comes from gentlemen in the agricultural section of the State, and such thoughts never entered the minds of its framers. SENATE PROCEEDINGS. One of the most important bills of the session, providing for the creation of four new counties in the several counties of the State, was a majority of the voters of the county in which it is proposed to erect such building. The bill was passed by the Senate, and in its details is a perfect piece of legislation. The repeal of the law prohibiting horse racing has also passed the Senate, and has passed the House in its original form, so as not to greatly increase the weight, passed yesterday, as did also the act limiting proceedings for forgery to five years after the offense was committed. The many bills introduced having reference to legislative interference with the right of any employer and employee have met with much opposition being disguised as class legislation and so far the friends of these bills have not let them go a single yard. Among the bills introduced were the following: Allowing fees to county appointed by the law to defend persons accused in a felony providing that the fee shall not exceed $15. Mr. Braggins introduced a bill providing for the publishing of a bill reducing the amount from catching marked trout on the Susquehanna river and will support from $4 to $25 cents per bag. One hundred and fifty-four bills have been reported from committees in the Senate, and a large number of them have passed this body finally and Victorious Alfonso. MADRID, Feb. 20.—It is officially reported that at the capture of Port Montejuna, near Estella, on Friday, the Carlist leader, Gen. Calderon, was taken prisoner. The enemy's loss was heavy. The Alphonists lost 200 men. As soon as the Carlist war is ended, 400 soldiers will be dispatched to Cuba. A battle is expected at Tolosa tomorrow. HENDAYE, Feb. 19.—Large bodies of Carlists are concentrated in the neighborhood of Lesaca to oppose Gen. Martinez Campos, who entered Vera this (Saturday) morning. The reports that the Alphonists have occupied Behar and Pensilata are confirmed. The French authorities have interned 400 Carlists near Bayonne. The members of the Carlist Junta of Castile who crossed the border have also been interned. King Alfonso is expected to go to Tolosa and San Estaban.

HENDAYE, Feb. 20.—The Alphonists captured Beldarlas and Las Taola and all the heights around Vera. The first furnace west of the Susquehanna river was built in 1785 and was called Bedford after the name of the county that then embraced Huntingdon. It was owned by Edward Ridgely, Thomas Cromwell and George Ashman, who employed many thousands of acres of land in the vicinity.

When fed to Horses it gives perfect contentment, great spirit, and is highly recommended for broken and sick-winded horses.
