

The members of the Republican State Committee are requested to meet at the Lochiel Hotel, Harrisburg, on Wednesday, the 21st day of June, at 2 o'clock p. m. Important business will be transacted at this meeting, and a full attendance is desired.

HENRY M. HOYT, Chairman.

A. WILSON NORRIS, Secretary.

HOW THE CASE STANDS.

The suit of J. Hall Musser, against Durborrow, of the Journal, has got into court. Mr. Musser, who is postmaster at Huntingdon, claims he owns seven-twelfths of the material of that paper. We have a query. Why do the editors of the Globe and Journal keep up a contest that injures the party, injures themselves in the estimation of good people, and will cost Durborrow all he is worth before he gets through, win or lose in this case? Our private opinion is that they are made cats-paws to pull other people's chests out of the fire. We would see them in Harrisburg or some other place commencing with an H. $50,000 at least have been spent in that contest, and we believe the nine-tenths of it has been lost by the editors in labor and money. Quit—Johnston Tribune.

We cannot help admitting the force of much of the above, because it was not patent to everybody, yet we hope that no such calamity will befall us as is predicted. Verily, both of us have been fools! We are not in court from choice, but from compulsion. We are there because one whom we trusted desires to play the sounder with us. Our case, shorn of all verbiage, is simply this: We stipulated with J. Hall Musser, who was our attorney, to bid in our interest in the materials in the JOURNAL office and to hold the same as a pledge for the payment of a claim bordering on $1800. The money had been furnished by Hon. John Scott. Musser was not to pay a single farthing of money, but simply to become our sponsor to Mr. Scott.

We, the editor of this paper, were to pay this money at the rate of $600 per year, in the nature of rent, until the whole amount was paid, which would have taken just three years, consequently we drew up a lease for that length of time. This was the original agreement. Subsequently some $1200 additional had to be provided for, and about two months later another article of agreement was entered into pledging the interest in the materials already mentioned for the payment of this latter sum under the same conditions. We proceeded to comply with the letter and spirit of the contracts we had entered into. It is admitted, we believe, that we paid about $1600, inside of the three years. This, with other monies assumed and collected by the plaintiff, we believe, almost if not entirely, paid the $1800 we had stipulated to pay at that time.

In the meantime the question of a change of postmaster was brot. We requested the appointment to enable us to get out of debt and as a recognition of our services. We were left under the impression that the appointment would be made directly for the benefit of the JOURNAL. The change was made. Mr. Scott appointed our sponsor, Mr. Musser, on his own motion, we believe. There are only two ways of explaining the appointment. Mr. Scott assured us that he was appointed "for our (our) benefit," and we accepted his explanation. Accordingly a week or two after Musser entered upon the duties of his office he called us aside and, in effect, said: In consideration of this appointment we could have all the time we wanted to pay the remainder of the money we had stipulated to pay, remarking that we ought to get through ready under the circumstances. Oh, ye gods and little fishes—especially the latter. Was this all? Ye, verily, even less, as the sequel will prove.

About a year ago, or a little less, we noticed quite a change had come over the spirit of Musser's dreams. He failed to call on us for money, he began to disparage our enterprise, to speak lightly of our efforts, he confidentially told parties that he was going to make a change, misrepresented our circumstances, tried to precipitate a crisis in our affairs, and, in short, did everything in his power to injure us. We have laid the evidence away, from time to time, for future use. This was all done that he might have a foundation for a Bill in Equity against us. He had come to the conclusion that if he wanted to retain his position as postmaster he must get control of the JOURNAL. But up to the 23rd of December last we had no idea what course he intended to pursue. We then learned, for the first time, by a notice served upon us, that he intended to ignore the contract binding us to pay at the rate of $600 per year until all was paid, and the further contract that in consideration of the postoffice appointment we were to have all the time (of course reasonable time) to pay the remainder of the money owing by us. He precluded us from further payment of money before his Bill by demanding a delivery of the property on the 23rd of December and subsequently on the 26th of March last. These are the unvarnished facts.

We have succinctly stated this matter for the information of those who have manifested much interest in the outrage attempted to be perpetrated upon us because we think it is due to them to fairly understand the case. We assure them, to the best of our knowledge and judgment, that in no event can the final disposition of the case have any effect upon the publication of THE HUNTINGDON JOURNAL. The business of publishing this paper belongs to J. R. Durborrow & Co. Musser claims merely an interest in certain materials, not in the business, and if the Courts say that he is entitled to this interest then, as far as we are concerned, he can have it, and those friends of ours for many years, the type-founders, will fill up the void inside of twenty-four hours. So, friends, rest easy. We are not likely to be much hurt. We passed the financial crisis some months ago, and we are now swimming along smoothly. Our business is improving and soon we will be in politics up to our eyes.

We fully appreciate the suggestions of our friend of the Tribune, and we assure him that we have determined to act upon them. In the future we propose to have no warfare with the editor of the Globe. In the long struggle through which we have passed we, the editors and publishers, alone furnished the stamps, the tact and the brains, and we alone are out of pocket. It is high time that we quit this gladiatorial exhibition for the benefit and amusement of others, which has only resulted in bruises and wounds, wear and tear, and financial embarrassments to ourselves—Here, Professor Guss, is our hand, and when next we play fool please let us know.

The Globe, of this week, copies the paragraph copied above from the Johnstown Tribune and then adds: Taking a timely suggestion from the advice of friend Swan, we are concluded to "quit." We can do something at the personal controversy, but contrary to the opinions of some, it is after all not congenial to our better feelings. There have been hard thoughts, bitter resentments, and rough things said and nearly all of this has grown out of service done for others, while we have been left to suffer. We feel that we have both been fools for the benefit of others long enough. Henceforth we hope to hold no personal controversy with the editor of the Journal. We shall try to show him a better spirit than he showed to us, and hope and believe he will join us in cultivating the arts of peace. It is time to inaugurate a better state of affairs in this country. Let our friends join us in allaying the animosities of the past. It is true peace is sweet, but it is not christian, and we leave it with God to whom it belongs.

THE CINCINNATI CONVENTION.

On Wednesday of next week the Republican National Convention will assemble in Cincinnati, to choose candidates for President and Vice President of the United States. There will be 752 delegates in attendance and the vote necessary to a choice will be 377.

Below we give a carefully prepared table of the status of the respective candidates: Blaine..... 257 (Ways)..... 48 Morton..... 110 (Ways)..... 110 Brewster..... 109 (Ways)..... 109 Conkling..... 77 (Unknown)..... 27 Harttraff..... 58 (Ways)..... 76 Yates..... 58 (Ways)..... 58 Delegates to be chosen..... 46 Total..... 752 377 are necessary for a choice.

The New York Tribune gives Blaine 303, Bristow 126, Morton 130, Conkling 87, Harttraff 53, Hayes 46, Jewell 10, Washburn 1, but adds that "in some cases the friends of the candidates doubtless overestimate their strength. This will probably be found to be the case with Messrs. Bristow and Conkling, while the reverse is likely to prove true in regard to Mr. Blaine."

The Baltimore American gives the following table: Blaine 304, Morton 112, Conkling 61, Bristow 68, Harttraff 58, Hayes 44, unknown 53. It will be observed that Blaine is much the stronger candidate, just strong enough to be the victim of combinations. It is hard for any one to pre-empt the result, but it is quite evident that the man who receives the nomination will be unquestionably Republican and come before the people with clean hands. Gov. Harttraff's prospects have been much improved within the last week and we feel confident that the convention could make no better selection. His patriotism, his acute discernment, his sound discrimination, the result of a well cultured intellect, his moderation, linked with a judicious firmness, make him one of the ablest executive officers of this era. Give us Harttraff and there will be no question in regard to the result.

When a few weeks ago, says the Philadelphia Press, the Senate under the pressure of a false public sentiment passed the bill reducing the President's salary—a bill which he promptly vetoed—we predicted that its sober, second thought would be against a parsimonious piece of legislation which should only have originated in the Democratic House. On Saturday it repented its error, and amended the legislative, judicial and executive appropriation bill by restoring the figures to $50,000, the House having previously reduced them to $25,000. As the House will not probably dare a defeat of the bill by again amending it, it will pass in its present shape. The Senate also adopted the bill for the acquisition of the Black Hills and the removal therefrom of the Indians.

On Saturday last Gov. Harttraff made information against Marshal S. Smith, clerk in the State Department and John A. Waggoner, clerk in the Auditor General's office for arranging with John H. Millpaugh, city Treasurer of Saratoga, to defraud the State out of $5,000. They were both arrested and gave bail in $2,500 each for a hearing.

The sensation of last week, in railroad circles, was the Jarrett and Palmer transcontinental train which left Jersey City, opposite New York, at 1 o'clock on Thursday morning last and run through to San Francisco in twenty-six minutes less than eighty-four hours. The greatest railroad feat in the history of the world.

HARTRAFF stock has been advancing very rapidly for the last few days. Good. Should Harttraff receive the nomination Pennsylvania will surpass the majority she gave Grant four years ago. Mark the prediction.

Mr. CHARLES WHARTON has Washington's carriage, built by Clarke, of Philadelphia, on Exhibition at Forty First street above Girard Avenue. It will be quite an object of interest.

The Boom Bill has become a law without the Governor's signature. The Genus of Liberty, Fayette County, has the following: "We have seen a piece of iron made from the metal of Lemonte Furnace, when it used the proportion of one third coal ore, one third mountain ore and one-third mill cinder, making the best kind home made iron, and a bar of it may be bent (cold) into almost any shape." The furnace is now furnishing, by contract, a metal composed of one-fifth coal ore, two-fifths mountain ore, one fifth lake ore, and one-fifth mill cinder, and averages about forty tons a day.

The present vessels built for the American Steamship Company—the Pennsylvania, the Ohio, the Indiana and the Illinois—are each 360 feet long and 43 feet beam, but these now being built by the company by Cramp & Sons will be 450 feet long and 45 feet beam.

Vetoes by the Governor.

The following are the titles of acts vetoed by the governor: Relating to the transfer of the lands of cities, boroughs, school districts and counties. Repealing the act February 17, A. D. 1870, prohibiting borrowing $5,000,000 of the same rates, by the cities, boroughs and certain other incorporated associations. To prohibit and prevent the having or using of fire and lights on board of vessels wharfing at any maritime wharf on or near which petroleum is stored or kept for export.

Repealing an act, passed April eighth, Anno Domini, 1853, transferring Somerset county from the western to the middle district for the supreme court of Pennsylvania. Supplement to an act, entitled an act to provide for the manner of increasing the capital stock and indebtedness of corporations, approved April 18, A. D. 1874.

To repeal an act, entitled a supplement to the several acts incorporating the city of Pittsburgh, and its boroughs, etc., approved the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1872, as to the boroughs of Mount Washington and Union.

To regulate the crossing of steam railroads by passenger railway cars at grade. For the better protection of fish in the bay or harbor of Erie and its approaches. To empower water companies and gas companies to merge their corporate rights and franchise into other incorporated companies.

Converting the marine hospital at Erie into a hospital for insane criminals, and asking an appropriation to carry out the provisions of the same. Appropriating the sum of $25,000 to the Jewish hospital association in Philadelphia, for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a dispensary building.

Making an appropriation for state normal schools for the year beginning first Monday in June 1876. Making an appropriation for normal schools for the current school year. To authorize and empower Morris W. Hoston, his executors and administrators, to sell and dispose of a certain lot situated in Springfield township, Delaware county Pa.

To reimburse John Guffy, esq., high sheriff of Westmoreland county, for expenses incurred by him in suppressing riots and protecting property in said county. Supplementary to an act, entitled an act supplementary to an act relating to hawkers and peddlers and regulating activities of the county of Schuylkill, extending the provisions of said act to the county of Fayette.

Further supplement to an act incorporating the city of Meadville, passed the 15th day of February, A. D. 1866, authorizing the city council to change the course of the stream called Mill Run.

A $200,000 Hotel.

WHAT DR. PIERCE IS DOING—AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE. We learn that Dr. R. V. Pierce, proprietor of the "World's Dispensary," in this city, has perfected the purchase of a large lot of land, on which he proposes to erect a large hotel for the accommodation of his numerous patients, coming hither from all points of the compass. The land purchased by the enterprising doctor is 234 feet front on Prospect avenue, running also to Fargo avenue, 332 feet; also, an adjoining lot extending from the above to Connecticut street. It is in the midst of our extensive system of public parks, fronts the old and beautiful Prospect Park, is but a short distance from the "Circle" in one direction, and the "Lake Front" in the other. The site selected is a fine one, being both beautiful and healthful; is one of the highest portions of our city, easily accessible yet sufficiently retired to secure quiet, and commands a pleasant view of the lake and river, as well as of the surrounding city and country. We understand that it is the intention of Dr. Pierce to erect a hotel at the cost of at least two hundred thousand dollars, where those who come to enjoy the benefit of his treatment may find all desired accommodations under one roof, instead of being scattered over the city, as at present. We are further given to understand that our architect will be invited to submit plans for the proposed structure without delay.—Buffalo Express

On Time.

THE GREAT RUN ACROSS THE CONTINENT SUCCESSFULLY ACCOMPLISHED. SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—The train arrived at the end of the trip, and is within the limits of San Francisco, at 9:25 o'clock a. m., twenty-six minutes less than eighty-four hours. Arrival at the wharf on this side at 9:40 a. m. and at 9:52 the passengers alighted in the court palace hotel in good health and spirits.

Engine 49 brought the train through from Ogden, with the assistance of an additional engine in crossing the Sierras. The time from Ogden to San Francisco was 23 hours and 52 minutes. The actual average running time from Ogden to Oakland wharf was 414 miles per hour. Considerable trouble was experienced on the Central Pacific from the wearing out of the brake shoes on the Pennsylvania cars, and in the mountains the Central Pacific company put on two of their own coaches to brake the train. This was no accident, but a kind throughout the trip.

Shortly after arrival breakfast was served to which many prominent citizens, army and navy officers, representatives of the press and theatrical profession, railroad officials and the mayor of the city were invited. A salate of thirteen was fired from the roof of the hotel and the arrival of the train at the wharf. The remainder of the day was devoted to needed rest. The excursionists were serenaded in the evening.

Suicide of Abdul Aziz Officially Announced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4, 1876.—The minister of foreign affairs has addressed the following telegram to the Turkish minister at Washington: CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4, 1876.—A sad event has just painfully affected our august sovereign of this government. Abdul Aziz Khan, the late Sultan, who for some time past, unfortunately has given evident signs of mental derangement, locked himself up in his apartments of the palace of Tcheragan, and committed suicide by opening the veins of his arms with a pair of scissors which he had concealed on his person. The imperial government has caused all legal inquiries to be made, also a detailed medical report which will be forwarded to you very soon. All the ministers, the high officials, both civil and military, will be present at the funeral of his majesty, which will take place with the accustomed pomp and honors due the deceased, whose body will be laid in the mausoleum of Sultan Mahmood.

A man named Henry Clay Saxton was seen and murdered in the streets of Trenton, N. J., on Friday night. George Flettiger has been arrested as principal and Frederic Pest as an accessory to the crime and both have been committed to jail to await their trial.

Found His Money.

The Huntingdon Patriot, of the 26th ult., says: Yesterday morning a person of gentlemanly appearance called at the Kintimney Park hotel and inquired where the main entrance to Camp Curtin was. The proprietor, Sheriff Davis, was a little uncertain in regard to the location of the entrance, but after a search of the map was found, and the desired location imparted to the gentleman. The stranger took from his pocket a compass and after locating himself proceeded about due northwest, and just above the residence of Major Anthony proceeded to investigate the ground of the locality. After digging about a good deal, the stranger unearthed a scarp box, which, on being opened, was found to contain six hundred dollars in greenbacks. The stranger had but few words to say and took away his treasure without saying many words. He proceeded to Sheriff Davis and invited a number of folks that were looking at the construction of the park to take a glass of beer with him. He informed the curious that during the war he had taken a bounty, and while in Camp Curtin, in the year 1864, he concluded to bury his treasure rather than have it stolen. The ground was marked out by the gentleman at that time with a compass, and it was only yesterday he returned after many years and found his treasure. There may be many more of these treasures around Camp Curtin grounds, but we don't think it would pay in seeking after wealth to go around that neighborhood.

The Easton Mystery Solved.

EASTON, Pa., June 4.—Moses Schug, another member of the family recently poisoned, had died, making the third death. The coroner's inquest elicited the fact that arsenic was the poison used, and that there was enough poison in the coffee drank by the unfortunate family to have killed one hundred people. The money was stolen from the house, while a large amount of government bonds and other securities were also taken. The man who shot Jacob Young was murdered and robbed near the same place only a few weeks ago creates a still greater feeling of uneasiness among the people living in that neighborhood. A large crowd was gathered yesterday in the vicinity of the Laros household.

Last evening the coroner's jury returned a verdict that Martin S. Laros and Moses Schug died from arsenic administered by Allen C. Laros. The person so accused is a school teacher and a son of Martin and Mary Ann Laros both of whom are among the victims. Since his arrest he has confessed that he administered the poison to his father and mother and Mr. Schug, and that his sole object was to get possession of their money.

The remains of a man, woman and girl, the latter about three years old, were found in a secluded part of the woods near Belleville, Ill., Friday afternoon. The woman and child were shot through the head, and the man through the heart. From the position of the bodies it is supposed the man shot his wife and child and killed himself. Having lived near Jacob Young was murdered and robbed near the same place only a few weeks ago creates a still greater feeling of uneasiness among the people living in that neighborhood. A large crowd was gathered yesterday in the vicinity of the Laros household.

Henry Huling, of North Carolina, who was sent to the penitentiary last year for robbing the bank, has been pardoned by President Grant.

Liver and Blood Diseases. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Author of the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." A healthy liver secretes each day two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood, and is conveyed to every part of the system. We must be the condition of the blood when it is torpid and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through the bowels, but if the bowels are clogged, the poison is forced back into the blood, and the result is a general poisoning of the system. The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the noxious blood, and the result is a general poisoning of the system. We must be the condition of the blood when it is torpid and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through the bowels, but if the bowels are clogged, the poison is forced back into the blood, and the result is a general poisoning of the system.
