REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

To ALL the Republicans of Huntingdon County.

Impelled by a sincere desire to promote the principles of the Republican Party, and to insure union, harmony and good will among its members, as well as a success at the polls in which we can all rejoice, we the undersigned, hereby unite in issuing the following call for Delegate Elections and a County Convention. In taking this step we are actuated by what an extended consultation with our friends from all parts of the county, leads us to believe is the united and spontaneous desire of all who truly love our party, regardless of the factions into which our party has unfortunately been divided for some years past. It is earnestly hoped that all the Republicans will participate in the primary meetings, and that they may send good men as delegates, who are distinguished for their love of the party and a desire for its harmony and success, and that these selections be made without regard to past differences or divisions in the party.

Therefore, the Republican voters of the several Townships, Boroughs, Wards and Districts are requested to meet at their respective places of holding elections on SATURDAY, August 19th, 1876, in the Boroughs between the hours of 5 and 8, and in the townships between the hours of 3 and 8 o'clock, p. m., of said day, and elect Delegates to represent them as follows:

JOS. G. ISENBERG,
ALEX. PORT,
Chairmain of the respective Republican County Committees.

IT IS TOO BAD.

For the last six months we have scarcely been able to get money enough to keep soul and body together. It has been a constant scrape, day after day, to raise sufficient to pay the pressing demands of our business. We would not take a salary of five thousand dollars a year and undergo the vexations and annoyances which we have undergone in the last twelve months. The panic literally ruined our business, and the hundreds, yea, almost thousands, who are indebted to us, for some reason, have failed to pay, and we have had to scramble, hour after hour, half the time sick at heart, until our head is prematurely gray, with scarcely any sympathy from partizans or anybody else, to raise enough to make ends meet. We would pay a premium to see the man who has made a fiercer struggle for an existence. Under these circumstances we have crossed the Rubicon. We have destroyed the bridges behind us. All we now ask is the money that is due us and we will bid defiance.—Shall we have it? Will those who owe us make an effort to pay up, or will they see us ckeing out an existence coveted by neither angels nor devils? We make this appeal for MONEY because we need it as badly as we have above represented. Will our patrons respond? You have been blessed with good crops, abundance of earthly goods, the smiles of Providence; while we have had to sup the dregs, and reap the whirlwind, and to encounter gaunt want. Come, share your fat with us and get us out the hands of those who want their pound of flesh and want it badly. Will you help us? Do not hesitate—we want money at once We believe you only want to know that we need our money and you will respond immediately. Bring it in or send it by the first neighbor, any way, in faith, so we get it. tf.

THE testimony of Bluford Wilson has been the sensation, at Washington, for the last week.

HON. WM. M. EVARTS is likely to be the next Republican candidate for Governor of New York.

THE Hayes fever is popular here, and the patients do not think of going to the White Mountains to circumvent it.

THE war has commenced in earnest in the east. Turkey finds the Servians, Montenegrins, Herzegovinans, etc., all combined against her.

THE "Molly Maguires" have been convicted and senteneed to be hung. Their case will go to the Supreme Court for final adjudication.

THE labor movement will prove a more important element in the approaching Presidential election than in any canvass since the establishment of the government.

ABOUT the time the Democrats have things planned to swoop up the country their southern allies swoop down on the negro population and spoil things. It is really too; bad no wonder Lamar crabs.

THE Proprietors of the Philadelphia City Item offer a prize of $100 each for the best poem, essay and conundrum on the Centennial. The only conditions are, that the contributions shall become the sole property of the Proprietors of The Item, and to be published or not, as they think desirable.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY UNITED.

We feel certain that there can be no more welcome news to the Republicans of this county than the announcement that our political friends in Huntingdon have harmonized their differences on a fair and satisfactory basis, and mean to present a united front against the enemy in the approaching contest. This result has been foreshadowed for some time, and when the determination was made to forget past differences, there was no trouble in arranging the details for merging the hostile factions on terms alike honorable to both. The chairmen of the two committees have united in calling a convention of all the Republicans of the county to meet in convention on the 22d of August, to nominate a county ticket. A proper basis of representation has been agreed upon, by which the primary elections will be regulated.

Franklin is connected with Huntingdon in the election of a Senator and member of Congress, and with a united party in the latter, the success of our candidates in both districts should not ordinarily be doubtful. It cannot be doubted that the long and very bitter quarrel between the Republican factions in that county, has been to weaken our party, and we scarcely expect her to give her old time majorities, but if wise counsels prevail in making nominations, and the party is thus thoroughly cemented, the lost ground may soon be recovered. We congratulate our friends there on the improved prospect before them. Huntingdon by her long continued wrangling, had lost her influence in the councils of the party to a large extent, and she was fast becoming a reproach and a by-word, but we never doubted either the patriotism or the good sense of the great majority of both factions, and the result has vindicated our estimate of their character.—Chambersburg Repository.

INFORMATION FOR VOTERS.

Many voters are annually deprived of the right of suffrage by a neglect to comply with the requirements of law relative to assessments and the payment of taxes.—All persons to secure the right to vote in Pennsylvania, must be assessed two months before election and have paid a State or county tax (either will do) within two years. In ease the tax is paid this year, it must be a month preceeding the election.

Foreign born citizens wishing to vote next November must take out their naturalization papers a month before election. They must also be assessed two months previous to the day of voting.

The election will be held on "the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November," being this year the 7th day of the month.

Monday, September 4, is the last day for being assessed.

Tuesday, October 4, is the last day for securing naturalization papers.

Tuesday, October 5, is the last day on which taxes can be paid in legal time to vote.

The above dates should be carefully remembered and acted on by all voters.

WE acknowledge the receipt of a copy of a pamphlet entitled "A Few Short Plain Talks on Temperance, Freedom and Politics, with some observations on Hard Times, Humbug and the Good Time Coming," by Rev. B. F. Riddle, of the M. E. Church of this place. Rev. S. A. Creveling, of McVeytown, is offering it to the public at 25 cents per copy. Mr. Riddle is a vigorous and pungent writer, and he strikes some terrific blows. Get a copy and read it.

IF the reader intends visiting Philadelphia we would suggest that he make a special effort to look in upon "The Workingman's Model Coffee House," Nos. 27 and 29, Fourth street. Here he can get an excellent meal, of plain and substantial food, for from 15 to 30 cents. The House is intended for every man who works, whether with his hands or with his head, and many of the best men in the city lunch at it. It is a marvel in its way. Don't fail to go and see it.

THE Senate voted, on Monday last, by a vote of 37 to 25, in favor of finding against Hon. W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, but as 37 votes are not two-thirds the articles were not sustained and he goes scott free.

Centennial Correspondence.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31, 1876.

"Here you are! All around the grounds for five cents! Bring you right back where you start from! Get your tickets!" Suppose we do, for it is best, first to get some idea of the geography of the grounds, and the location of the buildings. "How many, sir?" "Two." They are for you and gentle reader. "Hospitable?" Oh, yes; one becomes indued with the essence of it in Philadelphia, after a long stay. Induction from an atmosphere heavily laden with it, I suppose. Notice that odd little narrow guage locomotive, which looks hardly big enough to be run by a full grown man. The cars are singular looking institutions too;—should judge about thirty feet long and six wide,—open on all sides, with seats arranged in pairs along the width of the car, facing each other, with entrance to each directly from the platform. First you must know, as we sit, facing the engine, we will travel the length of the Main Building parallel with it, then switch off to the right, and swing around a circle, till we return to where we switched, then come back on the other track of this same road, to our starting place. The distance is about three miles, with double track and no fear of accidents if ordinary caution is observed. "All aboard!" what a mixed and merry crowd! In front of us? That is a distinguished Japanese gentleman of high rank. See quaker lady sitting between him and that Turk. He is very fierce looking, but wait till you get to his Bazaar and see the ferocious aspect entirely subdued by a subserviently importunate demeanor, when you price any of the wares and he tries to induce you to buy for five dollars what may be got at in any of the Chestnut street fancy stores for a dollar!

Talk about the cuteness, the sharpness of the Yankee! You ought to watch a regular nutmeg and ham architect from Connecticut, stop before one of the many heathen bazaars here, look and listen for awhile, and then slowly depart with a melancholy meditative countenance that would make a sphinx sigh for him. There goes the bell and were off! The building on our left is the Main Building of course. Large! You must walk through twenty-four miles of it to see its contents. It covers over twenty acres and is eighteen hundred and eighty by four hundred and sixty four feet.

That to the right we are just leaving, shows the entire working of the Empire Line Co.,—how freight is handled, loaded and carried, in quick transportation. That miniature freight train we will examine after awhile. The building off some distance to the right is the Vienna Bakery, where you can get up a splendid appetite for a dollar and a half, when you're ready for dinner; but there's no denying their coffee is superb. Those three singular looking buildings just ahead of it, have been erected by the French, for an especial exhibition of industrial arts. The first is devoted to bridges and the numerous applian ces of civil engineering; the second, to stained glass, etc.; the third, to bronzes, principally. This is the Photographic Gallery, where you can spend half a day very pleasantly. Yes, that's Memorial Hall, occupying one and a half acres; is three hundred and sixty-five feet by two hundred and ten. It is to remain here permanently, in use as a museum of art, and will indeed be an ornament to the park—exactly what we paid for, when we voted a million and a half dollars to build it. Solid granite, with exception of some of the interior arches, and the dome which is of iron and glass. It was'nt half big enough, so they built the annex just behind it there, which has more hanging space and better pictures in it than the Hall itself. The long, low building is the Carriage and Range department, one of the most interesting of the Exposition. The display includes specimens of everything, that runs on wheels or runners, from a four-in-hand to a baby's perambulator; cooking and heating apparatus through as extensive varieties. Train stops here? Yes, this is the department of Public Comfort, where you can leave your luggage, telegraph to any part of the world, get shaved, your boots blackened, a lunch, and a ticket for any place of evening amusement. If that isn't a department of Comfort I'd like to see one that is.

Off again, a little more crowded, but many people jump on to ride for only a short distance, and the number of passengers is by no means constant. This is the Press Building, where fellow scribes and scribblers are wont to congregate. Certainly! would be glad to take you in at any time Oh! no. They are not a very bad set. They don't mean half they say most of the time We come to the Judges' Hall, which has one large audience room, several committee rooms, and the offices of the President of the Commission and his staff. That building with the skylight roof and the blind windows, is where the photographers of the Exhibition manipulate sunbeams after they are captured.

It is Horticultural Hall about a quarter of a mile beyond, at the end of the avenue. There never has been or will be in America, I suppose, such a garden as that in front of it. Each plot, you know, is a national one and the resultant of so many rivalries, belittles description—wait till you visit Horticultural Hall and look at it from the western balcony: you will have a keener appreciation of the wickedness and folly of your most ancient ancestor and ancestress.

Here is another station and the Woman's Pavilion you've heard so much about; the best advertised institution of the centennial; here also the nearest point to the Southern Restaurant where you can have your food fried if you wish, or fried if you prefer it broiled; also Les Trois Fries, a Paris and I've heard a great many people just leaving there, after a meal the angles of which were by no means right angles, audibly wish they had never left Paris. Beyond here a step is the Kansas and Colorado building, in which is a most extraordinary display of the productions of these new States. That fantastic piece of architecture was intended for a soda water fountain, but owing to the proximity of two large restaurants, and the more appetizing properties of water, carbonic acid, and sugar, it sold out to our Algerian friend and is now known as the Algerian Bazaar. There is the New England Kitchen, which dispenses pork and beans, pumpkin pie, and dough-nuts, served by Yankee girls, appearing to be from seventeen to eighteen,———hundred.

Now were going once more. It is the New Jersey State building. Yes, it does look decidedly foreign, with its huge gables and numerous tiles. The potteries in and about Trenton have been working since the last centennial to produce the the latter. It is already sold, and goes to Atlantic city after the close of the exhibition as a private cottage.

"Agricultural Hall, American Restaurant, Elevated Rail Road to Horticultural Hall, and Lauber's Restaurant!" No, we'll ride a little further now, and when we go to lunch stop here for Lauber's, the best and cheapest of the first-class restaurants. You pay three cents for a trip across the ravine if you prefer not to walk, and stop at Lauber's door; immediately in front of you is Horticultural Hall. To the left is Agricultural Hall, covering ten acres, eight hundred and twenty by five hundred and forty feet in boundary. This is only one of the eight entrances. Now we are trying for one of the steepest grades and sharpest curves of the road. At the summit is Brewer's Hall, the Butter and Cheese factory, and the Wagon house. The latter contains the collection of Agricultural wagons and is an annex to Agricultural Hall as the Carriage building is to the Main Building. Brewer's Hall shelters hops in every stage of transformation while journeying from the bag to the bottle, from the barrow to the beer glass. The Butter and Cheese factory is closed to-day as it generally is; waiting, I suppose, for an accumulation of strength.

To the extreme right there? Those novel wind-mills would have probably driven old Don Q. back to sanity.

One day I came around here, not long ago, and, although there was'nt air enough to float a fly, two of those patent mills were grinding away as if there was a hurricane! Yes, wonderful inventions. We're about half way around. Tired? So am I. Let's take a rest here. WREN.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that the women of our times have degenerated in health and physique until they are literally a race of invalids—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years, and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflamation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will do no harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid the severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

The following is an extract from a description of Vineland, published in the New York Tribune, by the well known Agriculturist, Solon Robinson:

All of the farmers were of the "well-to-do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and surface gently undulating, intersected with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface, after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive tracts, in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of indurated calcareous marl, showing many distinct forms of ancient shells, of the tertiary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the farmer desires to cultivate.
