

FOR PRESIDENT: RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT: WILLIAM A. WHEELER, OF NEW YORK.

ELECTORAL TICKET.

1. JOHN WELSH; 2. HENRY DUNSTON; 3. JAMES J. HOFFMAN; 4. CHAS. J. JONES; 5. EDWIN A. PITNEY; 6. JEREMIAH SMITH; 7. W. BREKIDAL; 8. JACOB ENGLE; 9. JOHN H. WATSON; 10. ARD PARKER; 11. LEWIS FISHER; 12. M. S. SILMAN; 13. WILLIAM CALDER.

ATTENTION, VOTERS.

The following information is of decided interest to all persons entitled to exercise the right of franchise, and should be read carefully.

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

The act of January 23, 1874, regarding elections in this Commonwealth, which was passed in pursuance of the requirements of the National Convention...

peach train arrives every morning, in Jersey City, and a very lively time follows its coming. The train consists of thirty-five cars, each car holds five hundred baskets, or 17,500 baskets, or to get it down to peachers, three million and a half all of which are consumed in that State.

The letters of Tilden and Hendricks fall like a wet blanket on the Democracy of the city. The fact is, Tilden's long delay, his evident attempt to compromise with Hendricks, his selling out to the inflationists...

The Boston Advertiser says of the prospects in Maine: "Although the congressional elections do not take place until November, the influence of the nominations will be felt next month at the State election."

The Boston Advertiser says of the prospects in Maine: "Although the congressional elections do not take place until November, the influence of the nominations will be felt next month at the State election."

Hon. G. H. SPANG, of Bedford, with his family, on his way from Roaring Spring, the seat of his splendid villa, to his home in the former place, stopped with us on Saturday last. He informs us that he proposes to make an active canvass for the Legislature in his county. He is in no sense a politician, but a straight forward, honest, square man—one of those men who never play the demagogue—so that anything he may say to his people will come with great weight.

The Oconto (Wis.) Reporter, in announcing that it has abandoned the Democratic party, and will support Hayes and Wheeler, says: "We had our column this week with the campaign banner of the Republican party and its nominees we propose to give our cordial open support and devote the best efforts of our paper. We believe that in so doing we shall work in harmony with a majority of the sober, industrious, honest, intelligent, leading citizens of this county. What we preach we propose to practice."

FROM various sources we learn there is considerable dissatisfaction existing in regard to a portion of the ticket nominated by the late Republican County Convention. We propose to hold off and see what the upshot of it will be.

Mrs. YUTZKY has been renominated for Senator in the Bedford district. Mr. Yutzky acquitted himself very creditably during his short term of service and should be re-elected by all means—and he will be.

Hon. E. D. MORGAN has been nominated for Governor of the Empire State. This is a strong nomination and ought to result in a Republican victory.

Mr. Blaine is booked for sixty speeches in the course of the campaign.

Now that he has been renominated, General Garfield goes to Maine, where the canvass is getting lively.

Schurz is no longer even a decent man in Democratic opinion. Yet how they loved in the short while ago.

What with John Kelly and John Morrison the New York Democrats begin to believe there are too many jacks for the fiddle.

Under the lead of Joseph Coult, a prominent New York lawyer, the New Jersey Democrats have inaugurated a vigorous campaign.

Here's another sign, this time from the Alabama Journal: "R. B. Hayes—Right Before Heaven, W. A. Wheeler—Wise and Watchful."

One straight, plain issue before the country is that the Democrats will either entirely destroy the Government or destroy themselves.

The Luzerne Democrats with wrangling have nominated F. A. Bernish for Senator. A split in the party is likely to result.

New Jersey elects no State officers this year, but she will choose members of Congress, six Senators, a full House of Assembly, county officers, and the new Legislature, and United States Senator to succeed Mr. Frelinghuysen.

Ev Governor William Allen says Tilden's letter "goes a step or two further than he (Allen) anticipated. It enunciates policies and financial precepts that the Democrats of Ohio were abused and derided for stating on the stump last fall." This is very true. The then organ of Mr. Tilden had called Allen and his followers "papermanias." Now Tilden and Allen are in the same boat. But it is not Allen who has changed.

Tilden's loyalty, we fancy, was like that of the hero in Lincoln's story of the California judge, who produced a Virginia witness to prove that he had never been hostile to the Union. The witness swore that the judge was as loyal as he was himself, but on being questioned could not recall an instance in which he had exhibited any loyalty. At last he was asked, "Well, when Fort Sumter was fired what did he say?" "I don't know what the judge did say," "I know he felt just as I did." "And pray, sir, how did you feel?" "Well, the fact is I always have felt that the firing on Fort Sumter was premature."

Our New York Letter. New York, August 28, 1876. Peaches—Political—Health—Cost of High Living—Vanderbilt—Business.

The peach trade has now fairly set in, and New York is reveling in this most delicious of fruits. The trade is an immense one, requiring a vast amount of capital and the labor of thousands of men. The peach train arrives every morning, in Jersey City, and a very lively time follows its coming.

The peach train arrives every morning, in Jersey City, and a very lively time follows its coming. The train consists of thirty-five cars, each car holds five hundred baskets, or 17,500 baskets, or to get it down to peachers, three million and a half all of which are consumed in that State.

mission. By the latter he was given a banquet on Tuesday, and thoroughly vindicated by them, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments. As for his criticisms, they have been just and without undue severity; the fault lies with the people, and they have themselves been made to feel ashamed of themselves. The Commission is composed of Messrs. John D. Loukema, a non-lawyer of A. J. Street, a native of Prussia long resident in the city, Gustavus Ream, Esq., the leading lawyer of this section of the State, and Mr. Charles H. Meyer, the General Counsel at this post.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

mission. By the latter he was given a banquet on Tuesday, and thoroughly vindicated by them, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

mission. By the latter he was given a banquet on Tuesday, and thoroughly vindicated by them, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

mission. By the latter he was given a banquet on Tuesday, and thoroughly vindicated by them, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

mission. By the latter he was given a banquet on Tuesday, and thoroughly vindicated by them, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.

The weather in the morning was not propitious, but as the day advanced it became more settled, and the most popular of citizens in his country. They have been very proud of him and have not occasion to publish his merits, nor allowed him to get an opportunity of showing his brilliant attainments.