As soon as the arrangements have been completed these rates will be made public, and nothing will be left undone to make the occasion a desirable time to visit the Exhibition. It is a source of just pride to Pennsylvania that the great event, so happily commemorated by the International Exposition, occurred in Philadelphia and on Pennsylvania soil. But the historic period which followed it so closely specially commends itself to our grateful recollection and observance. The day which has been set apart will be the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of our first State constitution. Pennsylvania, at the commencement of the Revolution, was a mere province. man wants to borrow $100, he gives the lender his note for that amount payable one year after date and perhaps only receives $50 or $90, the rest is kept back for interest. Oh, "it is hard to be poor." If time and space would permit I would like to show some of the cruelty practiced on the poor in our Southern States, but as this letter is much longer now than I had intended it, I will have to close, howing that the few ideas I have advanced. close, hoping that the few ideas I have advanced on this subject may lead others to investigate it, and see if we, as a people, are not verily guilty in thus quietly looking on this oppression of the poor without raising our voices and all our influence against it. If we do not, I certainly be ieve God will punish us in some way or other I purpose in my next to show the other side his picture.
